NON-VIOLENT DAY AT DRAFT CENTER

Pickets Quietly March 2,500 Strong; Police Wedge Hauls Away 22 Sit-Ins

OAKLAND (UPI) — A police squad wedged through a line of 2,500 anti-draft pickets today to arrest a group staging a sit-in at the entrance to the Oakland Induction Center. The demonstrators offered no resistance.

The arrests came as most demonstrators paraded peacefully along sidewalks in a three block area around the center where police used billy clubs and tear gas cans yesterday to disperse a chanting mob of 3,500.

LEADER ARRESTED

Among those arrested for holding the 10-minute sit-in was David Harris, 21, former Stanford University student body president who is western secretary of the War Resistors League. The league is one of the sponsors of the nationwide "Stop The Draft Week" to be climaxed with a Pentagon protest Saturday.

Earlier, officers made two arrests on warrants stemming from yesterday's melee when 22 others were taken into custody. On Monday, 125 were arrested for sit-ins at the center.

For many of the demonstrators, the day began with worship service in a parking lot across the street from the center. Clergymen were present from the Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran and Presbyterian faiths.

Police lined both sides of the streets surrounding the center as the picketing began at dawn. Demonstration monitors continually urged the pickets "to keep moving," "keep a peaceful assembly," and "don't congregate in groups."

ANTI-POLICE SIGNS

Pickets carried several signs alluding to yesterday's violence. They said, "Hitler Is Alive in Oakland" and "God Forgive the Fascist Cops"

Harris and 19 others bolted from the picket lines to make their sit-in shortly before civilian workers were due to arrive at the center. Harris waved three draft cards collected from his companions and vowed to turn them over to U. S. Atty. Cecil Poole.

The clergymen then conducted a brief communion service for the sit-ins amid shouts of "hell no, we won't go."

Fifty officers were dispatched from the police command post across the street. They trotted briskly through the picket lines and hauled the sit-ins to a paddy wagon.

Harris was the last to enter the van. He raised one hand with his fingers in a V for victory sign and the crowd responded with a cheer.

ILLEGAL RALLY

The decision in favor of peaceful picketing came on a vote during an illegal rally last night on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. The rally was held in defiance of university officials and a Superior Court order.

Some called for another assault on the induction center, but the majority agreed with a speaker who said such action would be a "tactical error" because "they have not hired new cops—the same cops are going to be there."

Those policemen—400 helmeted Oakland police, Alameda County sheriff's deputies and California highway patrolmen—were charged with brutality by demonstrators and by newsmen covering the melee and by demonstrators.

A federal judge today upheld a ban on anti-draft meetings on the University of California campus at Berkeley.

U. S. District Court Judge George B. Harris rejected arguments of the Associated Students of the University of California

Don't Attack Newsmen, Court Orders

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland city officials were confronted today with a temporary restraining order issued by U.S. District Court against police attacks on newsmen.

Several newsmen said they had been beaten by club-wielding officers and squirted in the eyes with chemical Mace, a kind of tear gas, during yesterday's brief scuffle between officers and anti-draft demonstrators.

The court order was obtained late last night in San Francisco from Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli by the publisher of the San Francisco Chronicle and the operator of KRON-TV and three of their employees who were injured.

The action was based on a section of federal law forbidding anybody from depriving persons of civil rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Zirpoli's order forbids Oakland police officers from interfering with newsmen in the performance of their duties so long as they do not interfere with the officers in their law enforcement duties.

Named as defendants were Mayor John Reading, City Manager Jerome Keithley, Police Chief Charles R. Gain and Deputy Police Chief Ray Brown.

Two other organizations filed formal complaints with Oakland officials about police treatment of newsmen.

Don Brice, news director of television station KPIX and president of the News Directors Association said he had the names of eight radio and TV men injured during the melee.

He charged Oakland police and the California Highway Patrol of unprovoked attacks.

Alexander Bodi, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee for the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism fraternity, sent a telegram to Gain "deploring such violence and interference with newsmen's rights to cover the news."

VENUS FOUR'S JOURNEY
After 200 million miles—on target

Signals Say It's Very Hot

MOSCOW (UPI) — An unmanned Soviet space package planted the hammer and sickle national emblem on Venus today and radioed back that the planet was shrouded in gas and too hot for human life.

The Tass news agency said the planet probe made a soft parachute landing on the planet almost 50 million miles away and sent back coded word that it was layered in carbon dioxide and had temperatures as high as 536 degrees Fahrenheit. There was no magnetic field or radiation belt around it.

The instruments did not relay photographs, officials said.

CARRIED PENNANT

Tass said the instrument package deposited a metal pennant with the coat of arms of the Soviet Union—presumably a metal that could withstand the heat. Russia's first moon probe carried a similar pennant, as did Venus 3, which crash-landed on the planet March 1, 1966.

The capsule named Venus 4 detached itself on command from earth from its carrier rocket and plopped down softly on the hot surface at 7:34 a.m., 9:34 p.m. PDT, the Tass news agency reported. Western nations also reported the landing.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said the capsule relayed to earth 96 minutes of coded radio information about the fog-shrouded planet.

15-MILE CHECK

Tass said the instruments measured features of the Venus atmosphere "for an hour and a half over a stretch of 25 kilemeters (15 miles)."

Whether this meant 15 miles around the landing site or a measurement of 15 miles straight through the atmosphere of the planet was not made clear. It was presumed to be the latter.

Atmospheric pressure ranged from the same as earth's to 15 times as much, Tass said.

The Russians scored a smashing space success as an American planet probe, Mariner 5, neared Venus on a course that would take it several thousand miles past the surface of the planet tomorrow.

EARLIER LANDING

Before Venus-4 only one other spaceship ever touched down on any planet besides earth. This was Russia's Venus-3, which crash-landed and planted a medallion bearing the Soviet coat of arms on Venus's surface March 1, 1966.

Signals for the Soviet Venus-4 instrument package were being received by Russian monitors and, on ivitation, by Jodrell Bank's huge dish-shaped antenna in England.

Jodrell Bank Director Sir Bernard Lovell said data from the capsule was "of inconceivable value."

U.S. Satellite Up To Watchdog Sun

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The fourth in a series of orbiting solar observatories rocketed into space today to study the sun and how it affects conditions on earth and other planets.

It also could help perfect a radiation warning system for astronauts and supersonic planes.

The satellite, OSO4, rode aloft in the nose of a three-stage Delta rocket at 11:58 a.m. EDT, aiming for an orbit 350 miles above the earth, where its sensors can peer at the blazing hot sun from above the distorting blanket of the earth's atmosphere.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported early phases of the flight appeared very good after the Delta burst away from its launching pad.

An hour after the launching, NASA reported OSO 4 was in an orbit that was only a couple miles off the desired path.

California Per Capita Taxes Second Highest

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Californians pay more taxes per capita than people in 48 of the 50 United States.

The only state with higher per capita taxes than California is New York, which nicked its populace in 1966 at the rate of $410 apiece. California's per capita taxes totaled $395.

Lowest per capita tax was in South Caroline—$181 per head, followed by Alabama at $182 and Mississippi at $184.

New York and California were pretty far ahead of the pack. Third in line was Hawaii, with taxes of $365 per capita.

These figures, arrived at by adding state and local tax totals and dividing by the population, are included in the latest monthly report of the Tax Foundation, a New York outfit that keeps an eye on government spending.

They do not, of course, reflect new taxes, since 1966. These may well put California at the top of the heap.

Reports Tax Foundation of this year's state tax actions:

"New major taxes were adopted in four states, while legislatures in 20 states approved increases in the rates of existing major levies. By far the largest increase occurred in California, where lawmakers approved Governor Reagan's tax package adding a total of $944 million to that state's tax burdens to balance a current $5 billion budget, the largest state budget in the nation."

Part of the sales tax increase goes to the schools and part of the cigarette tax increase goes to the cities. However, these were not reflected in lower property tax bills, as Marin taxpay-

Orr's Wife Contradicts Drunk Claim

By ROSS DAVIS

The wife of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, accused of disturbing the peace at a teenaged dance hall, testified in Marin Municipal Court today he was sober when an argument developed with the hall's operator.

Mrs. Orr also declared she heard very little foul language in the exchange of words.

Orr is standing jury trial on a citizen's complaint by Richard D. Conn that he disturbed the peace by offensive conduct and by using vulgar and profane language. Conn, 27, is operator of Irwin Street Warehouse dance hall in San Rafael.

Orr is standing jury trial on a misdemeanor complaint of disturbing the peace of Richard D. Conn, 27, operator of San Rafael's Irwin Street Warehouse as a club, by offensive conduct and by using vulgar and profane language.

Asked by Orr's attorney, Roger P. Garety, to relate the "harshest or strongest" words she heard Orr say during the encounter at the dance hall door, she said Orr told her, "This horse's ass won't let me in."

Mrs. Orr, dressed neatly in blue suit and white gloves, said they had gone to the hall to pick up their daughter, Janice, 16, about 11:30 p.m. Sept. 16. She said Conn apparently refused to

Mission Anniversary Celebration Begins With Unveiling Of Plaque

Solemn — and festive — commemorative events tonight will begin the five-day sesquicentennial of Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

The mission — founded as a hospital for ailing Indians, later abandoned, but restored in 1949 — is California's second newest, the 20th of 21 Missions established in the 18th and 19th centuries.

The anniversary celebration, ending Sunday, has been planned for nine months and will feature a "living Rosary" of 3,000 school children, a huge luncheon, Mass, regatta, parade and barbecue.

At 8 p.m. today, planting of the mission cross will be reenacted in the garden next to the mission, and the Native Sons of the Golden West will unveil a commemorative plaque. A program of Spanish singing and dancing will follow.

The mission was dedicated Dec. 14, 1817, as a haven for ailing Indians from the foggy, damp climate in San Francisco at Mission Dolores. It was named after Raphael the Arcangel, the angel of good health.

Secularized by the Mexican government in 1834, the mission was stripped and abandoned. It was reconstructed following records found in church files.

Tomorrow, students from 12 Marin parochial schools will recite the Rosary at Albert Field at 1:30 p.m. Rev. Martin McKeon, a Franciscan Friar, will deliver the sermon, with benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament by Msgr. John McGarr, dean of the county's clergy.

Friday's program will include a noon luncheon sponsored by San Rafael service clubs at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. Speaker will be Dr. Marshall Dill, a history professor at Dominican College.

At 6:30 p.m. Friday, a Mass will be offered by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken at St. Raphael's, with most of the other 20 pastors of California missions acting as co-celebrants, Rev. Thomas I. Kennedy, pastor of St. Raphael's, said.

Speaker at the Mass will be Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles.

Free boat rides will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday along the San Rafael Canal, followed at 1 p.m. by an anniversary regatta between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and the canal. Regatta awards will be presented at 6 p.m.

Sunday's concluding events will begin with a parade of more than 100 units at 11:30 a.m. along Fourth Street. The parade

Board Fires Rehab Center Trio After Sharp Protest

"We are, in effect, phasing out the program," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who voted for the reduction.

The board, with only Chairman Thomas T. Storer dissenting, acted on the recommendation of Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher, who asked that six unfilled staff positions be abolished and three staff members discharged.

Busher said the juvenile population at the center is down to 12 children, and there will be no new referrals to it.

She said the reduction will be "detrimental to the staff and the children, if not to all Marin County employees." She characterized the action as "frightening" and declared it would "serve only to create chaos."

She added, "You are recreating the problems that sent the children to the Family Rehabilitation Center in the first place. You must not take away people they have learned to trust at a time when they need them the most."

Nuclear Test Shot Below Nevada Range

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful underground nuclear test was set off by the Atomic Energy Commission today at its Nevada test site.

The announcement said it was of intermediate yield, meaning it had a blast force equivalent to from 200,000 to 1 million tons of TNT.

New Fire In Southern California; More Suspects Sought For Arson

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A fresh blaze was ignited today in tinder-dry Southern California that already has had some 50,000 acres of brush blackened.

Three teen-agers were held on arson charges and authorities pressed a search for additional suspects.

The newest conflagration was in Las Llajas canyon more than two miles from the scene of a two-day 25,000-acre fire that started Sunday.

Forty fire-control units were activated as the blaze etched a 200-acre mark on the slopes that are covered with tall, straw-like dry grass.

The only other blaze still out of control had blackened 7,000 acres in Ventura County and about 1,000 acres of valuable watershed in the Los Padres National Forest.

Ventura County juvenile authorities questioned three students of Simi Valley High School—two 16-year-old girls and a boy—who admitted touching off a four-acre fire near the school Monday afternoon.

"They said they didn't know why they set the fire," a sheriff's deputy said. "But it seemed as if they were carried away by all the fires."

Police in Los Angeles and Ventura Counties were hunting for three, long-haired young men seen in different parts of the Simi Valley where fires later erupted.

Flames from the Los Padres fire could be seen against the night sky 25 miles away in Thousand Oaks, on the edge of the disasterous Chatsworth fire in the Simi Valley.

Nine-hundred men were on the lines today in the vicinity of Santa Paula Ridge where the flames had licked about one mile into the national forest.

EARLIER LANDING

Before Venus-4 only one other spaceship ever touched down on any planet besides earth. This was Russia's Venus-3, which crash-landed and planted a medallion bearing the Soviet coat of arms on Venus's surface March 1, 1966.

Signals for the Soviet Venus-4 instrument package were being received by Russian monitors and, on ivitation, by Jodrell Bank's huge dish-shaped antenna in England.

Jodrell Bank Director Sir Bernard Lovell said data from the capsule was "of inconceivable value."

U.S. Satellite Up To Watchdog Sun

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The fourth in a series of orbiting solar observatories rocketed into space today to study the sun and how it affects conditions on earth and other planets.

It also could help perfect a radiation warning system for astronauts and supersonic planes.

The satellite, OSO4, rode aloft in the nose of a three-stage Delta rocket at 11:58 a.m. EDT, aiming for an orbit 350 miles above the earth, where its sensors can peer at the blazing hot sun from above the distorting blanket of the earth's atmosphere.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported early phases of the flight appeared very good after the Delta burst away from its launching pad.

An hour after the launching, NASA reported OSO 4 was in an orbit that was only a couple miles off the desired path.

California Per Capita Taxes Second Highest

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Californians pay more taxes per capita than people in 48 of the 50 United States.

The only state with higher per capita taxes than California is New York, which nicked its populace in 1966 at the rate of $410 apiece. California's per capita taxes totaled $395.

Lowest per capita tax was in South Caroline—$181 per head, followed by Alabama at $182 and Mississippi at $184.

New York and California were pretty far ahead of the pack. Third in line was Hawaii, with taxes of $365 per capita.

These figures, arrived at by adding state and local tax totals and dividing by the population, are included in the latest monthly report of the Tax Foundation, a New York outfit that keeps an eye on government spending.

They do not, of course, reflect new taxes, since 1966. These may well put California at the top of the heap.

Reports Tax Foundation of this year's state tax actions:

"New major taxes were adopted in four states, while legislatures in 20 states approved increases in the rates of existing major levies. By far the largest increase occurred in California, where lawmakers approved Governor Reagan's tax package adding a total of $944 million to that state's tax burdens to balance a current $5 billion budget, the largest state budget in the nation."

Part of the sales tax increase goes to the schools and part of the cigarette tax increase goes to the cities. However, these were not reflected in lower property tax bills, as Marin taxpay-

Orr's Wife Contradicts Drunk Claim

By ROSS DAVIS

The wife of Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, accused of disturbing the peace at a teenaged dance hall, testified in Marin Municipal Court today he was sober when an argument developed with the hall's operator.

Mrs. Orr also declared she heard very little foul language in the exchange of words.

Orr is standing jury trial on a citizen's complaint by Richard D. Conn that he disturbed the peace by offensive conduct and by using vulgar and profane language. Conn, 27, is operator of Irwin Street Warehouse dance hall in San Rafael.

Orr is standing jury trial on a misdemeanor complaint of disturbing the peace of Richard D. Conn, 27, operator of San Rafael's Irwin Street Warehouse as a club, by offensive conduct and by using vulgar and profane language.

Asked by Orr's attorney, Roger P. Garety, to relate the "harshest or strongest" words she heard Orr say during the encounter at the dance hall door, she said Orr told her, "This horse's ass won't let me in."

Mrs. Orr, dressed neatly in blue suit and white gloves, said they had gone to the hall to pick up their daughter, Janice, 16, about 11:30 p.m. Sept. 16. She said Conn apparently refused to

'Mindszenty Problem' Hits A New Snag

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Talks between the Roman Catholic Church and the Hungarian Communist government on freeing Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty from 11 years asylum in the U.S. Legation here have broken down "at least temporarily," authoritative sources said today.

The sources said a solution to the "Mindszenty Problem" had been close but that it did not quite work out.

There has been no official announcement from any source on the talks aimed at ending the ordeal of the 76-year-old prelate who took refuge in the U.S. Legation building after 1 days of freedom during the 1956 Hungarian Revolution.

But first word of the snag in negotiations came when it was learned Austria's Franziskus Cardinal Koenig planned to leave Budapest today for Munich and then go on to Rome. Koenig has been acting as the Vatican's representative during most of the negotiations.

Informed sources said Koenig and Hungarian officials had tried to arrange a deal that would allow the proud old primate to make a dignified departure for Rome without embarrassing the Communist regime, which had branded him a criminal.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Eisenhower In Hospital Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has a "benign noncancerous enlargement of the prostate gland," but that surgery is not indicated at this time.

Eisenhower

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said that Eisenhower had symptoms indicating a partial obstruction within his urinary tract system.

But they said his spirits are good and that he is "up and around and out of bed."

The doctors said that it has not yet been determined how long Eisenhower will remain in the hospital.

Steinbeck Son In Marijuana Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Novelist John Steinbeck's soldier son, John Steinbeck IV, has been arrested for maintaining an apartment where police say they found a large quantity of marijuana and other narcotics paraphernalia.

Steinbeck

Twenty pounds of "pot" was found in a suitcase belonging to Steinbeck, police said.

Young Steinbeck, a specialist fourth class, recently returned from service in Vietnam. He said he has been preparing an article for "The Washingtonian" magazine on narcotics.

Last Emporer Of China Dies

TOKYO (AP)—Henry Pu Yi, 61, last emperor of China and Japan's puppet emperor of Manchukuo, died yesterday in Peking of complication resulting from cancer, a Japanese newspaper reported today.

Pu Yi

Born in Peking in 1906, Pu Yi became emperor under the title of Hsuan Tung when he was two years old. He succeeded his uncle, Emperor Kuang Hsu.

The Ching dynasty ended when Pu Yi abdicated in 1912 at the age of 6, after the Chinese republican revolution succeeded.

Oil Field Visit

VIENNA (UPI) — Indian Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi visited Romanian oil fields and later attended a performance of "Swan Lake" at the Bucharest Opera House yesterday during an official tour of the Communist nation, the Romanian News Agency reported.

The theory that all living things are composed of cells was advanced by Matthias Schleiden and Tehodor Schwann in 1839.

Lynch Hospitalized

PALO ALTO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch was reported in satisfactory condition but hospital-bound for a week or 10 days last night after undergoing a bladder operation at the Palo Alto-Stanford Medical Center.

Troupe Berated

CHIFUBU, Zambia (UPI)—A shower of boos, hisses, vegetables and stones delayed a performance by a troupe of Communist Chinese singers and dancers yesterday.

The audience was aroused by a declaration of one of the players that "I am a heroic oil worker in the fight against world imperialism and fascism."

Guevara Honored

Typhoon Kills 35

MANILA (AP) — Thirty-five persons have been reported killed in Typhoon Carla, which raked the northern tip of the Philippines with 90 mile per hour winds yesterday before moving into the South China Sea.

Ill Health Denied

PARIS (UPI)—The Elysee Palace has vehemently denied a British news broadcast which said President Charles de Gaulle was suffering from hardening of the arteries and that his health was "causing concern."

Beatles At Service

LONDON (UPI)—The Beatles attended a memorial service at the New London Synagogue last night for the late Brian Epstein, who discovered the singing group and managed them in their rise to stardom.

SNCC Speaker Due

Vincent O'Connor, a Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee organizer and conscientious objector, will speak at the Newman Club at the College of Marin today at 8 p.m.

Barry's Out, Gives Support To Mrs. Black

WOODSIDE (UPI) — Robert R. Bob Barry early today pulled out of the race for the House seat held by the late J. Arthur Younger and urged his backers to support Mrs. Shirley Temple Black.

Barry, who served three terms in the House as a congressman from the Westchester area of New York, said he did it in the interest of party unity.

He deplored the type of "fragmentation which shows strong signs of developing" among Peninsula Republicans.

He said that when the ex-child star, Mrs. Black, first entered the race, he found it difficult to consider her a serious candidate.

"However, after sharing a platform on numerous occasions and hearing her expound on issues of the day, I realize she has a grasp of the fundamental virtues that are most sacred to the heart of America."

Chester A. Arthur, 21st President of the United States, was born in Fairfield, Vt., in 1830.

Rockefeller On Independence: 'I Don't Want To Be President'

ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has made his strongest statement yet to kill off moves by party moderates to push him for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"I do not want to be president," Rockefeller told reporters on the sun deck of this National Governors Conference cruise liner en route to the Virgin Islands.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, who has never wavered in his support of Rockefeller as the best candidate the GOP could nominate, said the New Yorker's disclaimer sounded "pretty definite."

"I'm convinced he won't run unless he is drafted," Agnew said. "If he were drafted, it would take a pretty emphatic individual to turn it down. But did anybody ever hear of a genuine draft?"

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, who discussed the statement with Agnew, said his brother's stand is "no different" now than it was before.

"I am not a candidate," Rockefeller told newsmen yesterday. "I do not intend to be a candidate. I do not want to be president."

"Do you really mean it?" a reporter asked.

"You hear me loud and clear," Rockefeller replied.

Rockefeller, still plugging for Michigan Gov. George Romney, said he did not believe the New Hampshire primary next March would be decisive.

Romney himself preserved the political fiction that he has not yet decided whether to run. But he said he will make this decision "very soon." If he runs, he said, he expects to campaign extensively in New Hampshire.

Former Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, campaign manager for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, said in an interview that while Nixon will step up political activity in the next two months, he expects no formal announcement of candidacy until mid-January.

Earth's Shadow Turns Off Moon Over Marin

Marin skywatchers had a center-stripe seat to watch a total lunar eclipse early today. The affair lasted so long few but the most dedicated observers stayed awake for it all.

Shortly after 1:25 a.m. the earth's hard-edged shadow bit a notch out of the top of the disc.

Nearly two hours later, all that could be seen was a coppery disc, by daybreak, Luna's shine was unsallied again.

An ordinary press camera mounted on a tripod was able to capture the sequence almost exactly as seen by the naked eye, with a series of eight-second exposures on Tri-X film with a F/5.6 lens setting. The camera had to be repositioned, as the moon travelled across the sky.

Camera fans with telephoto lenses got more detailed shots but generally were unable to get more than one shot on a single negative.

VENUS

The surface of Venus, shrouded by a layer of gases that holds in heat as in a greenhouse, is believed to be as hot as 800 degrees Fahreneit — enough to melt lead.

Jodrell Bank was unable to break the code by which the Russian package sent information back to earth.

Tass said the details received from the instrument package showed the atmosphere on earth's nearest planet was almost entirely carbon dioxide.

Temperatures ranged from 40 to 280 Centigrade (114 to 536 degrees Fahrenheit) at different levels of the atmosphere.

There were no traces of nitrogen and hydrogen. Other vapors accounted for about 1.5 per cent of the atmosphere, Tass said.

Tass said the capsule, spun off a carrier rocket by radio command, descended through the murk shrouding Venus and landed softly by means of "aerodynamic braking of the apparatus in the atmosphere." It did not describe the system, presumably small retrorockets.

Tass then referred to an "automatic parachute system." It said a parachute system "took over and it (the package) continued gradual descent on the atmosphere of Venus."

Hours after Jodrell's 250-foot wide radio ear relayed the bagpipe skirl of the Venus-4 signals, the Russians kept official silence on the landing.

The Russians asked Lovell's giant radio ear to listen in at the end of the 129-day journey of Venus-4. And for a time what he heard almost seemed to disappoint Lovell.

At his telescope site in Britain, Lovell told newsmen the rocket apparently had destroyed itself in a hard landing. But then dramatic new signals indicated the Russians had made a soft landing of instruments on the planet.

"I have a surprising announcement to make. We are now receiving signals from a package which appears to be on the surface of the planet."

ORR

let Orr enter the building, and the argument took place.

According to Mrs. Orr, she and her husband first attended a wine tasting-dinner-dance — a fund-raising event for a "Pop Warner Football League" team at Star Hall, San Anselmo. She said Orr had a highball after dinner, and later she saw him have a martini, but that he was sober when they left to get Janice.

Conn testified yesterday that Orr appeared very drunk, and the argument resulted over his request that Orr identify himself before entering.

Also testifying yesterday were San Rafael police officers Matt Conlin, William Hool, Roy Conyers, and Sgt. Philip Green.

Sergeant Green, Hool and Conlin said Orr appeared drunk when they saw him at the hall. Conyers testified he believed Orr had been drinking. Conlin and Hool said Orr wanted to fight out in the hall's parking lot.

Sgt. Green also testified, however, that on one occasion about 10 weeks ago he was working off-duty hours for the hall when an obscene slide film was flashed on a wall by movie projector. He said all other slides had been of psychedelic colors and scenery, but when the obscene slide appeared, he ordered it taken from the machine.

He said Conn also appeared shocked that the film was among those shown.

Sgt. Donald Nelson of San Anselmo police department, testified yesterday he also was at Star Hall and that Orr appeared sober when the Orrs left to get their daughter.

Garety said Orr will testify today, along with Adelaide P. Wilson, Fairfax councilwoman who was at Star Hall, and two sheriff's deputies. Trial is before Judge Peter Allen Smith and began Monday.

At 1 p.m. a deep pit barbecue will be held at St. Peter Chanel Seminary at Grand and Belle avenues. The feast will be prepared by Nicasio Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West.

A weekend Chrysantheum Fiesta Show will be held at Crocker-Citizens National Bank at 4th and B streets. The Mission Chrysanthemum San Rafael — a newly developed variety, will be on display. Hours are 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Also during the celebration, items from the mission period will be on display at the mission museum. These include vestments worn by Franciscans, fragments of dishes found during excavations, a painting of an Indian from the early 1800's, and a hand-carved cruicifix.

Infantry Unit Crippled By Viet Cong Ambush

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas using classic ambush tactics which almost won the war two years ago destroyed the combat effectiveness of a U.S. 1st Infantry Division battalion yesterday in a battle northwest of Saigon that killed the battalion's leaders."

Among the 58 Americans killed were the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Terry Allen Jr., son of the general who commanded the same division in World War II, and Maj. Donald Holleder, a former West Point football All-America who was killed when he rushed forward to take over from Allen. Another 61 men were wounded.

The Americans killed 103 Communists—many of them North Vietnamese regulars who had infiltrated through Laos and Cambodia into the Iron Triangle, a one-time guerrilla stronghold north and northwest of Saigon.

Heavy air losses were reported over North Vietnam in strikes 10 miles from the border of Communist China yesterday—four planes and four pilots. They brought total losses over the North to 705 planes as they hit the Lang Son railroad bridge 10 miles from China, the Kien An MIG airfield five miles southwest of Haiphong and the Lang Giai railyards 70 miles northeast of Hanoi.

In Saigon, Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, commander of the III Corps Area which includes Saigon, disclosed that American troops had broken up a Communist plan to seize the capital city.

He said a defector tipped off the Army to the planned attacks by the 5th and 9th Viet Cong Divisions and that the plot was broken up and vast weapon caches discovered.

B-52s struck to the northwest of Saigon, aiming at Communists pulling back from the battlefield where they inflicted the heaviest loss on any American unit, the 1st Division's 1st Brigade, in many weeks.

The battalion involved in the savage fighting not only lost its top commanders but two company commanders, two other key staff officers, the battalion sergeant major and their radio operators. It was declared out of operation and pulled back for reorganization.

The Communist force was estimated at about 2,500 men. The Americans threw five companies, or about 1,500 men, into the fight before it was over. Gen. William C. Westmoreland noted that the Communists "stood and fought to a greater degree than he has in recent weeks" but did not speculate whether this was a shift in Red tactics.

One Acquittal Is Asked In Rights Trial

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI)—Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar, in a surprise move, asked an all-white jury today to acquit one of the 18 men accused of conspiring to slay three civil rights workers.

Doar, summing up the government's case before the trial goes to the jury, said "the evidence is not sufficient to convict" Travis Barnette.

He did not elaborate. Barnette's brother, Horace, is also a defendant.

The government claims the secretive White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan plotted the killings. Only about seven of the 18 defendants are alleged to have taken part in the slayings.

Doar charged that Sam Bowers, imperial wizard of the White Knights, and preacher-klansman Edgar Killen conceived "this diabolical conspiracy," and then, pointing to Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, said, "He carried it out."

Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and $5,000 fine for each of the defendants, who include the head of the white knights of the Ku Klux Klan and four law enforcement officers.

The Justice Department brought John Doar, head of its civil rights division and one of the most disliked "feds" in Mississippi, to this town of 50,000 as chief prosecutor.

The defense rested its case after 117 lodge brothers, Southern Baptist preachers and friends said the 18 defendants were men of good character, not given to violence.

The FBI said the slayings of Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney was a plot hatched by the White Knights. The prosecution said Samuel E. Bowers Jr., the pale, gum-chewing alleged imperial wizard, personally approved the "eliminations."

The conspiracy indictment said the klan joined hands with four Mississippi policemen—Neshoba County Sheriff La-Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey; his chief deputy, Cecil Price; E. H. (Hop) Barnett, a former sheriff and Richard Harris, a policeman in Philadelphia, Miss.

criticism. "You are really throwing it at us," he said. "This is that thing of people saying if you do not put in a school crossing guard you will be responsible for the death of our children."

But Behr noted, "There is no use of our trying to cause sophisticated persons to believe that FRC will be returned to its present form. If we reduce the staff to this extent, it means that we are in effect phasing out the present program."

The FRC staffers who will be released, as of Nov. 1 by the reduction are Charles Villareal, group counselor; Mrs. Norma LeGant, residential worker, and Joseph D. Nimidoff, residential worker. Busher recommended that they be let go as of yesterday, but the Supervisors set the date of the terminations for next month.

Elimination of the nine positions deprives the county of $31,603 in state support for the center, but it relieves the county of putting up $38,627.

Storer, only one of the five Supervisors to vote against the staff cut, said he thought the board should discuss abolishing the six unfilled jobs and the termination of the three staffers as separate matters.

(ASUC) that their rights of free speech were being violated.

Judge Lercara on Oct. 16 issued a restraining order against the use of University of California property for holding meetings advocating violation of the Universal Service Act. The order was asked by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

Meanwhile 103 of the 125 persons arrested during Monday's sit-in, including folk singer Joan Baez, her mother and her sister, were sentenced to 10 days in jail for disturbing the peace. Other cases were continued.

Only 22 persons were taken into custody yesterday, but the arrests came during the most violent incident of the nationwide Stop the Draft Week.

DR. HARRY M. KAMP
Dies of heart attack

OBITUARIES

Dr. Harry M. Kamp Dies At 62

Private family funeral is scheduled tomorrow for Dr. Harry Martin Kamp of Kentfield, vice chairman of the California Adult Authority and a San Francisco optometrist for nearly 40 years.

Dr. Kamp, 62, died of an apparent heart attack after dining at a Susanville, Lassen County, restaurant Monday night, reported Lassen County Coroner Ben J. Yeakey.

He first collapsed at the restaurant whare he was dining with Manley J. Bowler, another member of the Adult Authority and Frank O'Brien, a parole officer for the agency.

SECOND ATTACK

Dr. Kamp appeared to recover but was later found dead in a car outside the Susanville motel where he was staying, said Yeakey.

He retired from his optometric practice in San Francisco on his appointment to the Adult Authority by Gov. Edmund G. Brown in 1962. He was reappointed to the $20,500-a-year post for a further four-year term in April 1965.

Dr. Kamp was formerly chairman of the board of trustees of the California Institution for Women at Corona for two years.

He was born at Preston School of Industry in Ione where his father was assistant superintendent.

For 20 years, he served as part-time faculty member in the University of California optometry department.

A close friend of former Governor Brown since childhood, he was appointed by the governor to the Adult Authority to succeed former San Quentin Prison Warden Clinton Duffy, who retired.

HELD HONORS

He was past president of the California State Association of Optometrists, past president of the Optometry Alumni Association of University of California and a fellow of the American Academy of Optometrists.

He was one of the founders and first president of the New Order of Cincinnatus, a group organized in 1937 to clean up polities in San Francisco. He was also a member of the Olympic Association.

The family home is at 131 Laurel Grove in Kentfield. Dr. Kamp is survived by his wife, Eva Kamp; a sister, Alice Feiling of Kentfield; a brother, Fred Kampoesner of Palo Alto; and three sons, Kentfield Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp, Spec/4 William Kamp with the Army in Alaska, and Dr. Martin Kamp, a Kentfield psychiatrist.

REV. JOHN CURTIN

Requiem Mass for Rev. John J. Curtin of San Francisco, brother of Mrs. John Daly of San Anselmo, will be at 10 a.m., Friday at Saint Francis of Assisi Church in San Francisco. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the church, where he had been pastor for 10 years. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Father Curtin, 60, died Monday of a heart condition. A native of San Francisco, he was ordained a Catholic priest in 1933.

Father Curtin read the Mass when Mr. and Mrs. Daly celebrated 50 years of marriage in May, 1966.

ARTHUR BORN

Funeral for Arthur B. Born, 47, of 143 Merrydale Road, San Rafael, who died Monday at home will be at 10 a.m., Friday at the San Francisco Funeral Service in San Francisco.

He was project manager for Security Builders, Daly City. Born belonged to Carpenters Union Local 483 and San Rafael Brotherhood of the Protected Order of Elks, No. 1108.

SADA HINE

Mrs. Sada Ray Hine, 77, of Larkspur, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital where she was recuperating from bruises suffered in a fall two weeks ago in her home at 110-B Locust Avenue.

She lived in California for 42 years, the past four in Marin. Her husband, John E. Hine, died four years ago.

Mrs. Hine is survived by two sons, John E. Hine Jr. of Mill Valley, and Patrick Hine of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Fairfield of Washington; and a brother Carlos Schweers of Oregon.

THERESA FOUCRAULT

Funeral was held today in Petaluma for Mrs. Theresa Oliva Foucrault, 82, who spent most of her adult life in Tomales. She died in a Petaluma hospital Monday following a long illness.

Mrs. Foucrault was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Tomales.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

FRANK MORRIS

Funeral for Frank R. Morris, 68, of Boyes Hot Springs, father of Alma Binsmore of Larkspur, was held in Petaluma today. Morris died Sunday in a Sonoma County hospital after a brief illness.

Morris, a retired railroad employee, lived in Boyes Springs four years. He is also survived by his wife, Daisy, of Boyes Hot Springs, and another daughter, Glenna Morris of Sunnyvale.

Burial was in the Valley Cemetery, Petaluma.

Earth's Shadow Turns Off Moon Over Marin

Marin skywatchers had a center-stripe seat to watch a total lunar eclipse early today. The affair lasted so long few but the most dedicated observers stayed awake for it all.

Shortly after 1:25 a.m. the earth's hard-edged shadow bit a notch out of the top of the disc.

Nearly two hours later, all that could be seen was a coppery disc, by daybreak, Luna's shine was unsallied again.

An ordinary press camera mounted on a tripod was able to capture the sequence almost exactly as seen by the naked eye, with a series of eight-second exposures on Tri-X film with a F/5.6 lens setting. The camera had to be repositioned, as the moon travelled across the sky.

Camera fans with telephoto lenses got more detailed shots but generally were unable to get more than one shot on a single negative.

VENUS

The surface of Venus, shrouded by a layer of gases that holds in heat as in a greenhouse, is believed to be as hot as 800 degrees Fahreneit — enough to melt lead.

Jodrell Bank was unable to break the code by which the Russian package sent information back to earth.

Tass said the details received from the instrument package showed the atmosphere on earth's nearest planet was almost entirely carbon dioxide.

Temperatures ranged from 40 to 280 Centigrade (114 to 536 degrees Fahrenheit) at different levels of the atmosphere.

There were no traces of nitrogen and hydrogen. Other vapors accounted for about 1.5 per cent of the atmosphere, Tass said.

Tass said the capsule, spun off a carrier rocket by radio command, descended through the murk shrouding Venus and landed softly by means of "aerodynamic braking of the apparatus in the atmosphere." It did not describe the system, presumably small retrorockets.

Tass then referred to an "automatic parachute system." It said a parachute system "took over and it (the package) continued gradual descent on the atmosphere of Venus."

Hours after Jodrell's 250-foot wide radio ear relayed the bagpipe skirl of the Venus-4 signals, the Russians kept official silence on the landing.

The Russians asked Lovell's giant radio ear to listen in at the end of the 129-day journey of Venus-4. And for a time what he heard almost seemed to disappoint Lovell.

At his telescope site in Britain, Lovell told newsmen the rocket apparently had destroyed itself in a hard landing. But then dramatic new signals indicated the Russians had made a soft landing of instruments on the planet.

"I have a surprising announcement to make. We are now receiving signals from a package which appears to be on the surface of the planet."

ORR

let Orr enter the building, and the argument took place.

According to Mrs. Orr, she and her husband first attended a wine tasting-dinner-dance — a fund-raising event for a "Pop Warner Football League" team at Star Hall, San Anselmo. She said Orr had a highball after dinner, and later she saw him have a martini, but that he was sober when they left to get Janice.

Conn testified yesterday that Orr appeared very drunk, and the argument resulted over his request that Orr identify himself before entering.

Also testifying yesterday were San Rafael police officers Matt Conlin, William Hool, Roy Conyers, and Sgt. Philip Green.

Sergeant Green, Hool and Conlin said Orr appeared drunk when they saw him at the hall. Conyers testified he believed Orr had been drinking. Conlin and Hool said Orr wanted to fight out in the hall's parking lot.

Sgt. Green also testified, however, that on one occasion about 10 weeks ago he was working off-duty hours for the hall when an obscene slide film was flashed on a wall by movie projector. He said all other slides had been of psychedelic colors and scenery, but when the obscene slide appeared, he ordered it taken from the machine.

He said Conn also appeared shocked that the film was among those shown.

Sgt. Donald Nelson of San Anselmo police department, testified yesterday he also was at Star Hall and that Orr appeared sober when the Orrs left to get their daughter.

Garety said Orr will testify today, along with Adelaide P. Wilson, Fairfax councilwoman who was at Star Hall, and two sheriff's deputies. Trial is before Judge Peter Allen Smith and began Monday.

At 1 p.m. a deep pit barbecue will be held at St. Peter Chanel Seminary at Grand and Belle avenues. The feast will be prepared by Nicasio Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West.

A weekend Chrysantheum Fiesta Show will be held at Crocker-Citizens National Bank at 4th and B streets. The Mission Chrysanthemum San Rafael — a newly developed variety, will be on display. Hours are 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Also during the celebration, items from the mission period will be on display at the mission museum. These include vestments worn by Franciscans, fragments of dishes found during excavations, a painting of an Indian from the early 1800's, and a hand-carved cruicifix.

Infantry Unit Crippled By Viet Cong Ambush

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas using classic ambush tactics which almost won the war two years ago destroyed the combat effectiveness of a U.S. 1st Infantry Division battalion yesterday in a battle northwest of Saigon that killed the battalion's leaders."

Among the 58 Americans killed were the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Terry Allen Jr., son of the general who commanded the same division in World War II, and Maj. Donald Holleder, a former West Point football All-America who was killed when he rushed forward to take over from Allen. Another 61 men were wounded.

The Americans killed 103 Communists—many of them North Vietnamese regulars who had infiltrated through Laos and Cambodia into the Iron Triangle, a one-time guerrilla stronghold north and northwest of Saigon.

Heavy air losses were reported over North Vietnam in strikes 10 miles from the border of Communist China yesterday—four planes and four pilots. They brought total losses over the North to 705 planes as they hit the Lang Son railroad bridge 10 miles from China, the Kien An MIG airfield five miles southwest of Haiphong and the Lang Giai railyards 70 miles northeast of Hanoi.

In Saigon, Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, commander of the III Corps Area which includes Saigon, disclosed that American troops had broken up a Communist plan to seize the capital city.

He said a defector tipped off the Army to the planned attacks by the 5th and 9th Viet Cong Divisions and that the plot was broken up and vast weapon caches discovered.

B-52s struck to the northwest of Saigon, aiming at Communists pulling back from the battlefield where they inflicted the heaviest loss on any American unit, the 1st Division's 1st Brigade, in many weeks.

The battalion involved in the savage fighting not only lost its top commanders but two company commanders, two other key staff officers, the battalion sergeant major and their radio operators. It was declared out of operation and pulled back for reorganization.

The Communist force was estimated at about 2,500 men. The Americans threw five companies, or about 1,500 men, into the fight before it was over. Gen. William C. Westmoreland noted that the Communists "stood and fought to a greater degree than he has in recent weeks" but did not speculate whether this was a shift in Red tactics.

One Acquittal Is Asked In Rights Trial

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI)—Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar, in a surprise move, asked an all-white jury today to acquit one of the 18 men accused of conspiring to slay three civil rights workers.

Doar, summing up the government's case before the trial goes to the jury, said "the evidence is not sufficient to convict" Travis Barnette.

He did not elaborate. Barnette's brother, Horace, is also a defendant.

The government claims the secretive White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan plotted the killings. Only about seven of the 18 defendants are alleged to have taken part in the slayings.

Doar charged that Sam Bowers, imperial wizard of the White Knights, and preacher-klansman Edgar Killen conceived "this diabolical conspiracy," and then, pointing to Neshoba County Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price, said, "He carried it out."

Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and $5,000 fine for each of the defendants, who include the head of the white knights of the Ku Klux Klan and four law enforcement officers.

The Justice Department brought John Doar, head of its civil rights division and one of the most disliked "feds" in Mississippi, to this town of 50,000 as chief prosecutor.

The defense rested its case after 117 lodge brothers, Southern Baptist preachers and friends said the 18 defendants were men of good character, not given to violence.

The FBI said the slayings of Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney was a plot hatched by the White Knights. The prosecution said Samuel E. Bowers Jr., the pale, gum-chewing alleged imperial wizard, personally approved the "eliminations."

The conspiracy indictment said the klan joined hands with four Mississippi policemen—Neshoba County Sheriff La-Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey; his chief deputy, Cecil Price; E. H. (Hop) Barnett, a former sheriff and Richard Harris, a policeman in Philadelphia, Miss.

(ASUC) that their rights of free speech were being violated.

Judge Lercara on Oct. 16 issued a restraining order against the use of University of California property for holding meetings advocating violation of the Universal Service Act. The order was asked by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

Meanwhile 103 of the 125 persons arrested during Monday's sit-in, including folk singer Joan Baez, her mother and her sister, were sentenced to 10 days in jail for disturbing the peace. Other cases were continued.

Only 22 persons were taken into custody yesterday, but the arrests came during the most violent incident of the nationwide Stop the Draft Week.

criticism. "You are really throwing it at us," he said. "This is that thing of people saying if you do not put in a school crossing guard you will be responsible for the death of our children."

But Behr noted, "There is no use of our trying to cause sophisticated persons to believe that FRC will be returned to its present form. If we reduce the staff to this extent, it means that we are in effect phasing out the present program."

The FRC staffers who will be released, as of Nov. 1 by the reduction are Charles Villareal, group counselor; Mrs. Norma LeGant, residential worker, and Joseph D. Nimidoff, residential worker. Busher recommended that they be let go as of yesterday, but the Supervisors set the date of the terminations for next month.

Elimination of the nine positions deprives the county of $31,603 in state support for the center, but it relieves the county of putting up $38,627.

Storer, only one of the five Supervisors to vote against the staff cut, said he thought the board should discuss abolishing the six unfilled jobs and the termination of the three staffers as separate matters.

DR. HARRY M. KAMP
Dies of heart attack

OBITUARIES

Dr. Harry M. Kamp Dies At 62

Private family funeral is scheduled tomorrow for Dr. Harry Martin Kamp of Kentfield, vice chairman of the California Adult Authority and a San Francisco optometrist for nearly 40 years.

Dr. Kamp, 62, died of an apparent heart attack after dining at a Susanville, Lassen County, restaurant Monday night, reported Lassen County Coroner Ben J. Yeakey.

He first collapsed at the restaurant whare he was dining with Manley J. Bowler, another member of the Adult Authority and Frank O'Brien, a parole officer for the agency.

SECOND ATTACK

Dr. Kamp appeared to recover but was later found dead in a car outside the Susanville motel where he was staying, said Yeakey.

He retired from his optometric practice in San Francisco on his appointment to the Adult Authority by Gov. Edmund G. Brown in 1962. He was reappointed to the $20,500-a-year post for a further four-year term in April 1965.

Dr. Kamp was formerly chairman of the board of trustees of the California Institution for Women at Corona for two years.

He was born at Preston School of Industry in Ione where his father was assistant superintendent.

For 20 years, he served as part-time faculty member in the University of California optometry department.

A close friend of former Governor Brown since childhood, he was appointed by the governor to the Adult Authority to succeed former San Quentin Prison Warden Clinton Duffy, who retired.

HELD HONORS

He was past president of the California State Association of Optometrists, past president of the Optometry Alumni Association of University of California and a fellow of the American Academy of Optometrists.

He was one of the founders and first president of the New Order of Cincinnatus, a group organized in 1937 to clean up polities in San Francisco. He was also a member of the Olympic Association.

The family home is at 131 Laurel Grove in Kentfield. Dr. Kamp is survived by his wife, Eva Kamp; a sister, Alice Feiling of Kentfield; a brother, Fred Kampoesner of Palo Alto; and three sons, Kentfield Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp, Spec/4 William Kamp with the Army in Alaska, and Dr. Martin Kamp, a Kentfield psychiatrist.

REV. JOHN CURTIN

SADA HINE

Mrs. Sada Ray Hine, 77, of Larkspur, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital where she was recuperating from bruises suffered in a fall two weeks ago in her home at 110-B Locust Avenue.

She lived in California for 42 years, the past four in Marin. Her husband, John E. Hine, died four years ago.

Mrs. Hine is survived by two sons, John E. Hine Jr. of Mill Valley, and Patrick Hine of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Fairfield of Washington; and a brother Carlos Schweers of Oregon.

THERESA FOUCRAULT

Funeral was held today in Petaluma for Mrs. Theresa Oliva Foucrault, 82, who spent most of her adult life in Tomales. She died in a Petaluma hospital Monday following a long illness.

Mrs. Foucrault was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Tomales.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

FRANK MORRIS

Funeral for Frank R. Morris, 68, of Boyes Hot Springs, father of Alma Binsmore of Larkspur, was held in Petaluma today. Morris died Sunday in a Sonoma County hospital after a brief illness.

Morris, a retired railroad employee, lived in Boyes Springs four years. He is also survived by his wife, Daisy, of Boyes Hot Springs, and another daughter, Glenna Morris of Sunnyvale.

Burial was in the Valley Cemetery, Petaluma.

Novato Council Votes To Put Whole Park Package On Ballot

The Novato City Council, which has balked at putting the whole park package on the proposed bond election for Jan. 23, last night approved the recommendations of the commission and ordered all $2,250,000 in park projects for the election.

The vote was 4-0 with Councilman Douglas M. Merrill absent.

The council, without any questions asked, followed this action by ordering $5,750,000 in street improvement bonds for the same election.

This will make a total of $8,000,000 to come before the voters. There will be Proposition A for the streets and Proposition B for the parks.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission had recommended 11 parks to cost $2,124,000. Design fees would be $126,000, making the total $2,250,000 for the park issue.

The council had felt that this was too high and at one time ordered this split into two propositions. It rescinded this action and asked the commission for several propositions to be placed on the ballot.

At its meeting two weeks ago, the parks and recreation commission stood by its decision and asked again for the full package for the 11 parks It. voted that any cutting to be made should be made by the councli.

Councilman William Jack Adams expressed the general council feeling last night when he said that it was "difficult to overrule the combined judgement of the parks and recreation commission."

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget pointed out that according to the plan submitted to the city by Bartle Wells Associates, its financial consultant, the tax for bond retirement could remain constant at 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva countered stating that the council could start with a smaller tax rate if it did not want to sell the bonds at the rate advocated by its consultant.

"The tax for the bonds on the average house at 40 cents would be $24 per year, which would not be too hard to sell to the public," Silva said.

The council turned down a request by Edward Adams, parks and recreation director, for an additional $1,300 for drawings of the four parks proposed for the school sites.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack, who has been authorized to name a citizens steering committee, asked for volunteers to notify city hall.

The parks and estimated costs as approved by the council and commission were: Pioneer Memorial, $285,000; Novato Creek, $144,000; Lynwood School, $89,000; Olive School, $85,000; McClay Park, $581,000; swimming pool, $340,000; Lions Park, $237,000; Pleasant Valley, $71,000; Marion School, $91,000; San Marin, $166,000 and Arroyo Avichi, $35,000.

County Employees Will Nominate

New officers and directors for 1968 will be nominated tonight at a meeting of the Marin County Employees Association.

President Paul Brusseau announced that the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic Center cafeteria.

Featured speaker tonight will be Frank Beckman, who will give memory demonstrations.

Places Open For Storer Cruise, Dinner

Reservations may still be made for tomorrow night's moonlight dinner cruise honoring Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who seeks re-election for another four years.

Alana Zuppan, arrangements chairman, said reservations will be taken during the day tomorrow at Storer's law office in San Rafael.

Cocktails will be served on the Harbor Prince in Tiburon from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. The cruise will start at 7:45 p.m. and return to Tiburon at 9:45 p.m. San Francisco passengers will be picked up at 8:15 at Pier 43½, Fisherman's Wharf and returned to San Francisco at 10:15 p.m.

Driver Jailed

Shirley T. Meyer, 46, of 216 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, was given five days in county jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested her June 6 on Wolfe Grade.

Changing Federal Budget Format Would Take Years

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Although only nine of California's 38 congressional districts are radically out of balance from the population ideal established by the Supreme Court, all would be affected by reapportionment, according to Assemblyman Robert Crown.

Crown, D-Alameda, said yesterday "the domino theory" prevailed in reapportionment. The districts are "like a row of dominoes; touch one and they all fall," he said.

The Assemblyman, a member of the Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee, said it would be impossible to realign the boundaries of one district without altering the boundaries of all the others.

The committee, which ends a three-day hearing here today, is studying reapportionment plans for Los Angeles County's 15 districts.

Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Whittier, chairman of the committee, said his group was trying for a reapportionment plan that would be acceptable to Democrats, Republicans and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"Unless we do something that satisfies the incumbents of both parties, we won't have a bill," Fenton said. He added that it was doubtful the final plan would involve any drastic changes in voter registration which would affect party strength in any of the districts.

Stowaway Has Change Of Heart

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Saucy Aussie Sandra Hilder, who once tried to stow away under an admiral's bed so she could sail to America and see her boyfriend, was married yesterday to another man.

The groom was Richard Armijo, a former Mr. America. He planned to fly to New York today and his 22-year-old bride was to follow in a few days.

Last April Sandra tried unsuccessfully to hide on the U.S. cruiser Long Beach so she could visit Bernard "Bud" Brewer, 23, a seaman, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Brisbane Approves Garbage Dumping

BRISBANE (AP) — Voters have given permission for San Francisco to continue dumping its garbage on the Brisbane shoreline for another five years.

Novato Council Votes To Put Whole Park Package On Ballot

The Novato City Council, which has balked at putting the whole park package on the proposed bond election for Jan. 23, last night approved the recommendations of the commission and ordered all $2,250,000 in park projects for the election.

The vote was 4-0 with Councilman Douglas M. Merrill absent.

The council, without any questions asked, followed this action by ordering $5,750,000 in street improvement bonds for the same election.

This will make a total of $8,000,000 to come before the voters. There will be Proposition A for the streets and Proposition B for the parks.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission had recommended 11 parks to cost $2,124,000. Design fees would be $126,000, making the total $2,250,000 for the park issue.

The council had felt that this was too high and at one time ordered this split into two propositions. It rescinded this action and asked the commission for several propositions to be placed on the ballot.

At its meeting two weeks ago, the parks and recreation commission stood by its decision and asked again for the full package for the 11 parks It. voted that any cutting to be made should be made by the councli.

Councilman William Jack Adams expressed the general council feeling last night when he said that it was "difficult to overrule the combined judgement of the parks and recreation commission."

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget pointed out that according to the plan submitted to the city by Bartle Wells Associates, its financial consultant, the tax for bond retirement could remain constant at 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva countered stating that the council could start with a smaller tax rate if it did not want to sell the bonds at the rate advocated by its consultant.

"The tax for the bonds on the average house at 40 cents would be $24 per year, which would not be too hard to sell to the public," Silva said.

The council turned down a request by Edward Adams, parks and recreation director, for an additional $1,300 for drawings of the four parks proposed for the school sites.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack, who has been authorized to name a citizens steering committee, asked for volunteers to notify city hall.

The parks and estimated costs as approved by the council and commission were: Pioneer Memorial, $285,000; Novato Creek, $144,000; Lynwood School, $89,000; Olive School, $85,000; McClay Park, $581,000; swimming pool, $340,000; Lions Park, $237,000; Pleasant Valley, $71,000; Marion School, $91,000; San Marin, $166,000 and Arroyo Avichi, $35,000.

County Employees Will Nominate

New officers and directors for 1968 will be nominated tonight at a meeting of the Marin County Employees Association.

President Paul Brusseau announced that the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic Center cafeteria.

Featured speaker tonight will be Frank Beckman, who will give memory demonstrations.

Places Open For Storer Cruise, Dinner

Reservations may still be made for tomorrow night's moonlight dinner cruise honoring Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who seeks re-election for another four years.

Alana Zuppan, arrangements chairman, said reservations will be taken during the day tomorrow at Storer's law office in San Rafael.

Cocktails will be served on the Harbor Prince in Tiburon from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m. The cruise will start at 7:45 p.m. and return to Tiburon at 9:45 p.m. San Francisco passengers will be picked up at 8:15 at Pier 43½, Fisherman's Wharf and returned to San Francisco at 10:15 p.m.

Driver Jailed

Shirley T. Meyer, 46, of 216 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, was given five days in county jail yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested her June 6 on Wolfe Grade.

Changing Federal Budget Format Would Take Years

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Although only nine of California's 38 congressional districts are radically out of balance from the population ideal established by the Supreme Court, all would be affected by reapportionment, according to Assemblyman Robert Crown.

Crown, D-Alameda, said yesterday "the domino theory" prevailed in reapportionment. The districts are "like a row of dominoes; touch one and they all fall," he said.

The Assemblyman, a member of the Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee, said it would be impossible to realign the boundaries of one district without altering the boundaries of all the others.

The committee, which ends a three-day hearing here today, is studying reapportionment plans for Los Angeles County's 15 districts.

Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, D-Whittier, chairman of the committee, said his group was trying for a reapportionment plan that would be acceptable to Democrats, Republicans and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"Unless we do something that satisfies the incumbents of both parties, we won't have a bill," Fenton said. He added that it was doubtful the final plan would involve any drastic changes in voter registration which would affect party strength in any of the districts.

Stowaway Has Change Of Heart

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Saucy Aussie Sandra Hilder, who once tried to stow away under an admiral's bed so she could sail to America and see her boyfriend, was married yesterday to another man.

The groom was Richard Armijo, a former Mr. America. He planned to fly to New York today and his 22-year-old bride was to follow in a few days.

Last April Sandra tried unsuccessfully to hide on the U.S. cruiser Long Beach so she could visit Bernard "Bud" Brewer, 23, a seaman, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Brisbane Approves Garbage Dumping

BRISBANE (AP) — Voters have given permission for San Francisco to continue dumping its garbage on the Brisbane shoreline for another five years.

In a special election yesterday, citizens accepted an offer by the Sanitary Fill Co. to pay an annual fee of at least $100,000.

Kuchel To Face New Competition

Reinholz, 65, is the second Republican in Southern California to announce his candidacy in the 1968 primary. The first to cast his hat into the race was S. Philip Cammack of Santa Monica, an engineer for the Hughes Tool Co.

Reinholz said his main campaign plan would be "elimination of paper money." He said he favors a "credit card economy."

Year's Jail Term For Home Burglary

Judge Joseph G. Wilson also placed him on three years probation. Muir, of 131 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, burgled the home of Earl L. Mortensen, 910 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, Nov. 8, taking musical instruments including two guitars.

District Attorney Urges Coroner's Jury Abolition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A spokesman for the district attorney's office has urged the Assembly Judiciary Committee to abolish the coroners jury system.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton said yesterday the elimination of the coroners jury would remove the judicial aura from inquests which tends to mislead the public.

Compton, speaking for Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger, told the committee members that terms such as "excusable" and "justifiable" homicide should also be eliminated.

Compton added that because of the present jury system and legal terminology the public assumes the jury's verdict is binding on the prosecutor.

The final decision about whether to prosecute rests with the district attorney's office.

The committee, which concluded two days of hearings on inquest procedures yesterday, will study a bill introduced by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, which would give the deceased family the right to have an attorney and the right to cross-examine the witnesses in cases of police homicide.

Sieroty said this would be especially important in cases involving minority persons who often look upon the inquest as an attempt to whitewash police brutality.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is chairman of the committee. Bagley said Monday that major changes in the inquest system probably will be considered next year by the legislature.

Gonorrhea Cases Reported In County

Sixteen cases of gonorrhea were reported in Marin County last week, according to County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht. The cases were reported in Sausalito, Marin City, Mill Valley, Larkspur, San Rafael and in unincorporated areas of the county.

Streptococcus infections were second on the list, with 13 cases, Dr. Albrecht said. There were also 10 cases of mumps and two of infectious hepatitis.

Kuchel To Face New Competition

Reinholz, 65, is the second Republican in Southern California to announce his candidacy in the 1968 primary. The first to cast his hat into the race was S. Philip Cammack of Santa Monica, an engineer for the Hughes Tool Co.

Reinholz said his main campaign plan would be "elimination of paper money." He said he favors a "credit card economy."

Year's Jail Term For Home Burglary

Judge Joseph G. Wilson also placed him on three years probation. Muir, of 131 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, burgled the home of Earl L. Mortensen, 910 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, Nov. 8, taking musical instruments including two guitars.

District Attorney Urges Coroner's Jury Abolition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A spokesman for the district attorney's office has urged the Assembly Judiciary Committee to abolish the coroners jury system.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Lynn D. Compton said yesterday the elimination of the coroners jury would remove the judicial aura from inquests which tends to mislead the public.

Compton, speaking for Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger, told the committee members that terms such as "excusable" and "justifiable" homicide should also be eliminated.

Compton added that because of the present jury system and legal terminology the public assumes the jury's verdict is binding on the prosecutor.

The committee, which concluded two days of hearings on inquest procedures yesterday, will study a bill introduced by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, which would give the deceased family the right to have an attorney and the right to cross-examine the witnesses in cases of police homicide.

Sieroty said this would be especially important in cases involving minority persons who often look upon the inquest as an attempt to whitewash police brutality.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is chairman of the committee. Bagley said Monday that major changes in the inquest system probably will be considered next year by the legislature.

Gonorrhea Cases Reported In County

Sixteen cases of gonorrhea were reported in Marin County last week, according to County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht. The cases were reported in Sausalito, Marin City, Mill Valley, Larkspur, San Rafael and in unincorporated areas of the county.

Streptococcus infections were second on the list, with 13 cases, Dr. Albrecht said. There were also 10 cases of mumps and two of infectious hepatitis.

ZSA ZSA SHEDDING FIFTH

Zsa Zsa Gabor and Los Angeles lawyer Manuel Ruiz Jr. share a private joke at El Paso, Tex., International Airport. When the two arrived yesterday, the actress refused to ride in a taxi numbered 13. She is seeking a Juarez divorce from her fifth husband, Texas millionaire Joshua S. Cosden, whom she married a year ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Marin Property Tax Bills Not Shrinking

Several cities in Marin this year also added a motel-hotel room tax to tap this recently discovered source of revenue.

The county's assessed valuation increased from $482,029,410 last year to $534,516,696 this year—an increase of over $52 million, or approximately 10.75 per cent.

This, plus the new revenue sources, did not result in any general reduction in tax rates by the county's numerous tax-collecting entities, however.

The county's own tax rate went up a half cent—from $2.295 per $100 assessed valuation last year to $2.30 this year.

Of the 11 cities in Marin County, two reduced tax rates from last year, two increased them, the other seven left them the same. The reductions were five cents each in Corte Madera and Novato. Increases were a half cent in Mill Valley and 22 cents in Ross.

Thirteen school districts in Marin County raised their tax rates, while 11 lowered them. The increases were in Bolinas-Stinson, Fairfax, Kentfield, Lagunitas, Nicasio, Point Reyes, Reed, Ross, San Anselmo, Sausalito, Union, Novato Unified and Marin Junior College Districts. The decreases were in Dixie, Laguna, Larkspur, Lincoln, Mill Valley, San Rafael Elementary and High, Tomales Bay, West Marin, Tamalpais High and Tomales High School Districts.

Four flood control districts' tax rates were raised: Novato, San Rafael Meadows, Santa Venetia, and Ross Valley. Three were lowered: Richardson Bay, Bel Aire, and Stinson Beach.

Bolinas Harbor District's tax rate went up 12 cents. Bay Area Air Pollution Control District chopped one mill off its rate.

None of the county's seven community services districts reduced its tax rate. Gallinas Village and Monte Maria raised theirs (Monte Maria had no tax rate last year); others were left unchanged, all but Bel Marin Keys being already at the $1 statutory limit.

Of the eight fire districts, four raised and four lowered rates. Increasing their rates were Alto-Richardson Bay, Kentfield, Stinson Beach, and Tiburon. There were reductions in Bolinas, Novato, Sleepy Hollow, and Tamalpais.

The county increased tax rates in 11 of its lighting districts, lowering them in five and leaving the rate unchanged in Greenbrae.

One sewer district tax (Murray Park) was eliminated, and tax was reduced in a second (San Quentin), but went up in a third (Kay Park).

Tax rate of one county service area (Loma Verde) was increased. Those of three others (Paradise Cay, Stinson Beach, and Northbridge) were reduced, while that of Santa Venetia was unchanged.

Four sanitary districts (Corte Madera, Tiburon, Alto, and Homestead) reduced tax rates, while Novato Sanitary District increased its rate. Those in seven others were unchanged.

Both public utility districts in the county—Bolinas Community and Inverness — reduced rates, Bolinas Community cutting $2.035 from the former combined rates of the districts from which it was formed.

Nowhere except in Bolinas Community Public Utilities District was the rate reduced sufficient to mean an actual decrease in taxes. The tax bite for the property owner went up uniformly because of increased valuation.

For instance, although Corte Madera Sanitary District cut its tax rate by 16.5 cents, its receipts from taxes will be $164,300, compared to $105,365 last year, according to the county auditor's figures.

Attorney Appointed Judge

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced the appointment of Robert W. Merrill, 42, San Francisco, as a judge of the San Francisco Municipal Court.

Merrill succeeds state Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, who resigned after he won election to the seat left vacant by the death of Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco.

The new judge, a Republican, is a partner in the law firm of Cross and Brandt.

DR. GEORGE WALD
Toast out of beakers

Nobel Prize Goes To Trio For Eye Study

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Two Americans and a Swede were jointly awarded the Nobel Prize for physiology or medicine today for their investigations into the mechanics that make the human eye see.

They are Haldan Keffer Hartline of New York, George Wald of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., and Ragnar Granit of Sweden.

The three scientists were cited by the awarding Royal Caroline Institute medical faculty for "their discoveries concerning the primary chemical and physiological visual processes in the eye."

TO SHARE $62,000

The prize sum this year amounts to $62,000 to be shared equally among the trio.

Hartline, 63, who studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, currently works at the Rockefeller University of New York City. He was head of the Johns Hopkins department of biophysics 1949-53 before joining the Rockefeller Institute of New York.

Wald, 60, who is one of the world's greatest authorities on the biochemistry of perception, has been professor of biology at Harvard since 1948. Earlier he studied at Columbia University in New York and, like Hartline, in Germany befor the war. He received the Lasker Prize in 1953 and the Rumford Medal in 1959 for his biochemical researches.

Wald is married to the former Ruth Hubbard who has been his collaborator at various experiments in the field of visual perception physiology.

FINNISH BORN

Prof. Granit, born in Helsinki, Finland, in 1900, started his academic career as a psychologist at the University of Helsinki. He took a special interest in the mechanisms of perception early in his career.

Granit started a medical career after being graduated in 1927. As assistant professor of physiology, he obtained a research fellowship at Pennsylvania University where he worked at the same institution as Hartline in 1929-31.

In 1937 Granit was appointed professor of physiology at the University of Helsinki. He joined the Caroline Institute here in 1940 as research professor in neurophysiology.

"I'm a little breathless," said Wald of the news that he was sharing a Nobel Prize.

Change In Some Districts Predicted To Affect All

WASHINGTON (AP) A major facelifting in the way the government submits its annual budget would take years to implement.

A 16-man commission unveiled last night its blueprint for a unified summary budget to replace the three present competing concepts—the administrative, the consolidated cash and the national income accounts budgets.

It said its plan would end public confusion over budget figures, make the budget more understandable and end practices which led to charges of budget gimmickry.

The plan calls for comprehensive reporting of government income and outgo, including that of trust funds such as Social Security and highways. It would be figured on an accrual basis—when payments are due rather than when they are made.

Had the concept been used last January, spending and deficit figures would be higher than under any of the three existing systems.

The report emphasized the economic impact of the federal budget and said too much attention has been focused on the surplus or deficit figure. This has led to confusion, the proliferation of budget concepts and charges of gimmickry, the commission added.

Some features of the plan could be incorporated into the budget President Johnson is scheduled to present to Congress in January for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1968.

Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze was a commission member and concurred in the over-all report.

But he and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler dissented on one point—the treatment of participation certificates which Republicans have labeled budget gimmicks.

Schultze and Fowler said they consider the certificates a legitimate offset. The certificates are much like stocks or bonds and are backed by pools of government-owned mortgages and loans.

Ross Pupil Reading Scores Are Reported

Numbers of pupils at Ross School scoring above average in last year's reading tests varied from very high for first graders to not so high for third graders, Supt. Robert D. Gowan reported to the Ross School District Board Monday night.

Ninety-four per cent of Ross first graders scored above state average and 75 per cent of the second graders. Gowan said that since the state has not yet set a standard for third grade, publishers's standards are used, and 48 per cent of Ross third graders were above average.

A report on curriculum for kindergarten and kindergarten-first grade was given by teachers of these classes to board members and the audience.

The board also appointed Mrs. Sally Rakow, of Ross, to attend Tamalpais High School District Board meetings.

Eagle Is Leaving Ice For Stuffing

Marin County's one and only bald eagle — which once set feathers flying in some federal government offices — will set out this week on a round trip to a San Francisco taxidermist.

"It will go in a thawed-out carcass and come out, in two month's time, a fine-looking bird with some body in it.

Clara Evans, director of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael, said yesterday it had been decided to go ahead and get the eagle stuffed although the museum is $60 shy of the $100 the job will cost.

"If anyone likes to contribute a few dollars towards the bill, they will be gratefully received," she said.

When the bird is returned, it will be put on display at the museum. Because eagles are the national emblem, there are very few stuffed specimens around, said Mrs. Evans.

Originally, the county had asked for one of the two eagles killed by Point Reyes Station rancher Leroy Martinelli when he caught them killing his sheep in January, 1965.

But after many months of letter writing, inter-office memos and telephone conversations, a hitherto unknown eagle arrived at the museum in late August from the Department of the Interior. It has been on ice ever since.

Assessment Appeals May Run To August

Marin's assessment appeals board, which is hearing taxpayers protests each Friday, will be able to stretch its hearings until next August if necessary. Administrator Alan Bruce reported to the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The appeals board, headed by Chairman Julius H. Selinger, had set up a night meeting for this Friday to speed up the hearing pace in an effort to wind up before the next year's assessment date in March.

Administrator Bruce announced that Assessor Bert W. Broemmel had been able to arrange the work program of his department so that hearings can continue until August of 1968 without disrupting next year's assessments.

This means that no further night hearing will be necessary, except for the one scheduled for this Friday night. Thereafter, hearings will be only during the day, each Friday beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Civic Center.

Three members of the appeals board and one alternate are each paid $100 per day, with an annual ceiling of $3,200 for each member.

Strawberry Recreation Post Filled; Board Splits

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday appointed Carl L. Schaefer to the Strawberry Recreation District to suceed Clarence G. Bush, who resigned.

Schaefer was opposed for the post by several citizens from Strawberry, who urged the supervisors to name David Neuman, who was second runnerup in the last election. Other candidates mentioned were Mrs. Phyllis Carpenter and Mrs. Margaret O'Brien.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr acknowledged that the recreation district board has been split, but he said the interest taken by the community shows it to be a "viable and lively district."

Behr moved for the appointment of Schaefer, who was backed by a petition signed by 255 residents. All supervisors except William Gnoss voted with Behr. Gnoss explained he favors Neuman because "I always lean toward a man who has taken the interest to run for office."

Boys' Arrest Solves 10 Burglaries

Arrest of three Redwood High School students has cleared up 10 house burglaries in Kent Woodlands, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Juvenile Inspector Charles L. Prandi said the youths, two aged 16 and the other 17, have been cited to the juvenile probation office for handling. One of the three already is on probation for burglary, he added.

Prandi said the three were apprehended in their car Monday afternoon after residents on Tree Top Way in Kent Woodlands reported the youths were ringing doorbells of residences. If someone answered, the informants said, the three gave apparently false replies to why they were there.

Prandi said loot consisted of cash, radios, a small quantity of jewelry, and wristwatches. Some of this was recovered, he said, and more is expected to be returned from friends given the loot by the trio.

Hippie Staircase Charge Is Out

No complaint will be filed by the City of Sausalito against nine hippies arrested for blocking a public stairway, City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Jordan said the arrest and brief incarceration in county jail of the group has "been equal to any penalty" the city wanted for violation of its ordinance against blocking such avenues.

He added, however, that Sausalito will continue to enforce the ordinance. Sausalito arrested the nine Sunday after several days of warning youths the ordinance would be enforced, officers said.

Add 2 cups cubed potatoes and 3/4 cup water. Cook for 10 minutes. Mix in one regular size can (6 1/2 oz. or 7 oz.) of Bumble Bee Tuna, 2 cups milk, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, a dash of pepper and 1/8 tsp. celery salt.

Blend 1 tablespoon flour and 1 tablespoon water. Add to tuna mixture. Simmer about 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Education Laws Review Slated

The administrative services committee of the Marin County Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Marin County superintendent of schools office, it was announced today by G. Robert McConnell, administrative consultant.

Reports are expected from the director of business services, Byron W. Mauzy, on current legislation affecting special education and on a monthly review of the county schools office budget.

Also on the agenda will be planning discussion for a salary study for next year, according to McConnell.

Tomales Board Orders Studies

A long range study of the curriculum will be made by the Tomales Bay Joint Union School District board to see how it can be improved, according to board action Monday night, said Principal David Raffo.

Raffo is to make periodic reports on different phases of the school to the board, he said. These include such things as a program for the gifted, primary reading program, and duty free lunch periods for the teachers.

These reports are to be made from time to time during the school year, Raffo said.

The board set 8 p.m., Nov. 20 for bid openings on the sale of the Bloomfield School property, according to Raffo.

He reported that the educationally handicapped program of one hour of special instruction per day for three students had started this week.

Non-resident license sales indicate sportsmen from 42 states hunted deer in Utah in 1966.

Historical Maps

Historical maps printed by the committee for the 150th anniversary celebration of Mission San Rafael Arcangel are now available at offices of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Marin Visitors Bureau, all at 824 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Tiburon Use Permit Action Off To Nov. 6

—A use permit for Peter Valentine for a complex of three buildings in the Trestle Glen "Blackie's Pasture" area was referred Monday night to the Tiburon Planning Commission meeting on Nov. 6, by the board of adjustments, according to Development Administrator Phil V. Scott.

Scott said the board adjourned its meeting to the same date to take action on the matter.

Action on a proposed amendment to exchange a 13-car garage with an office building on the master plan of the Belvedere Land Co. for a development on Beach Road between Main Street and Juanita Lane, was postponed until a public hearing on Nov. 6. Other minor changes are also proposed, Scott said.

In other actions, Anthony Marelich was denied permission to construct a six-unit apartment at Mariner Way and Harbor Oak Drive. A front yard variance for Santos Cueller at 4 St. Gabriel Court was also denied.

Moon Camera's Image Is Faint

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here said picture-taking efforts would continue.

"We ordered the spacecraft to resume taking pictures Sunday night after awakening it from its two-week-long sleep on the moon, but we received only a faint image," the spokesman said. "The image wasn't bright enough for good photography. The cold night may have damaged the camera."

TACT Meeting

The John Birch Society's TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil) committee will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Room 206, Court House, San Rafael. Plans will be made for a Nov. 9 meeting at which Sgt. Tom Hoilingsworth of Special Forces (Green Beret) will speak at Redwood High School Little Theater at 7:30 p.m.

Marin Youths Urged For County Boards

Hippies from responsible Marin families should be encouraged to participate in public agencies like the Marin Human Rights Commission, Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared yesterday at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

He made the comment during a discussion of an appointment to fill a vacancy on the nine-member human rights commission.

W. L. Moon of San Rafael submitted his resignation because his business prevents him from devoting enough time to the commission.

Administrator Alan Bruce reported that the "general feeling" of the present members of the commission is that a Negro should be named to succeed Moon. At present, there are six Caucasians and two Negroes on the commission.

"I personally prefer leaving it open for any qualified person," said Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer.

"There is another group I'd like to see represented on various commissions," said Kettenhofen. "You all kow what I mean."

"You mean the grand jury?" asked Storer.

"If you will, you can use the word 'hippies'," replied Kettenhofen. He said he had in mind a group at the College of Marin.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said he objects to "any drifter" being named to public agencies without any background on his reliability, length of residence in Marin, and whether his family pays taxes.

Kettenhofen explained he is referring to responsible young people from taxpaying families.

At Chairman Storer's suggestion, the supervisors decided to postpone any appointment to the human rights commission for two weeks to look for prospective candidates.

Committee Votes GI Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-stage pay increase for military personnel to add an ultimate $2.7 billion a year to their pay was approved yesterday by the House Armed Services Committee.

The vote was 40 to 0.

The bill would provide a 4.5 per cent increase for members of the armed forces retroactive to Oct. 1, and other increases in the next two years.

The 4.5 per cent increase—actually a 5.6 per cent boost in basic pay—would cost an estimated $600 million.

Marin Draft Board Takes 11 For Quota

Eleven young men from Marin County were inducted into the armed services to fill the October quota of the county draft board, Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of the board, reported today.

They were drafted from among the 45 Marin men who reported to the Oakland Induction Center.

None of the inductees is married, Mrs. Kinzer said.

One of the draftees is from out of the county, having registered in Marin, and the remaining were on the rolls here.

The inductees are:

Bruce D. Cunningham and Barrie D. Stewardson, Novato;

Don C. Salisbury, Joseph E. Murphy and George A. C. Dillon, San Anselmo; Thomas E. Paraspolo, Corte Madera, and Warren F. Nickel Jr., Arcata.

Thirty-four men from Marin County have been ordered to report to the induction center in November, Mrs. Kinzer said.

Income Report

A reminder that employers must report and pay withheld income and social security taxes for the quarter ending Sept. 30 by Oct. 31, was issued yesterday by Joseph M. Cullen, district director of Internal Revenue for Northern California.

Tiburon Use Permit Action Off To Nov. 6

—A use permit for Peter Valentine for a complex of three buildings in the Trestle Glen "Blackie's Pasture" area was referred Monday night to the Tiburon Planning Commission meeting on Nov. 6, by the board of adjustments, according to Development Administrator Phil V. Scott.

Scott said the board adjourned its meeting to the same date to take action on the matter.

Action on a proposed amendment to exchange a 13-car garage with an office building on the master plan of the Belvedere Land Co. for a development on Beach Road between Main Street and Juanita Lane, was postponed until a public hearing on Nov. 6. Other minor changes are also proposed, Scott said.

In other actions, Anthony Marelich was denied permission to construct a six-unit apartment at Mariner Way and Harbor Oak Drive. A front yard variance for Santos Cueller at 4 St. Gabriel Court was also denied.

Moon Camera's Image Is Faint

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here said picture-taking efforts would continue.

"We ordered the spacecraft to resume taking pictures Sunday night after awakening it from its two-week-long sleep on the moon, but we received only a faint image," the spokesman said. "The image wasn't bright enough for good photography. The cold night may have damaged the camera."

TACT Meeting

The John Birch Society's TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil) committee will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Room 206, Court House, San Rafael. Plans will be made for a Nov. 9 meeting at which Sgt. Tom Hollingsworth of Special Forces (Green Beret) will speak at Redwood High School Little Theater at 7:30 p.m.

HIPPIE APPOINTEES?

Marin Youths Urged For County Boards

Hippies from responsible Marin families should be encouraged to participate in public agencies like the Marin Human Rights Commission, Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen declared yesterday at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

He made the comment during a discussion of an appointment to fill a vacancy on the nine-member human rights commission.

W. L. Moon of San Rafael submitted his resignation because his business prevents him from devoting enough time to the commission.

Administrator Alan Bruce reported that the "general feeling" of the present members of the commission is that a Negro should be named to succeed Moon. At present, there are six Caucasians and two Negroes on the commission.

"I personally prefer leaving it open for any qualified person," said Supervisor Chairman Thomas T. Storer.

"There is another group I'd like to see represented on various commissions," said Kettenhofen. "You all kow what I mean."

"You mean the grand jury?" asked Storer.

"If you will, you can use the word 'hippies'," replied Kettenhofen. He said he had in mind a group at the College of Marin.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said he objects to "any drifter" being named to public agencies without any background on his reliability, length of residence in Marin, and whether his family pays taxes.

Kettenhofen explained he is referring to responsible young people from taxpaying families.

At Chairman Storer's suggestion, the supervisors decided to postpone any appointment to the human rights commission for two weeks to look for prospective candidates.

Committee Votes GI Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-stage pay increase for military personnel to add an ultimate $2.7 billion a year to their pay was approved yesterday by the House Armed Services Committee.

The vote was 40 to 0.

The bill would provide a 4.5 per cent increase for members of the armed forces retroactive to Oct. 1, and other increases in the next two years.

The 4.5 per cent increase—actually a 5.6 per cent boost in basic pay—would cost an estimated $600 million.

Marin Draft Board Takes 11 For Quota

Eleven young men from Marin County were inducted into the armed services to fill the October quota of the county draft board, Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of the board, reported today.

They were drafted from among the 45 Marin men who reported to the Oakland Induction Center.

None of the inductees is married, Mrs. Kinzer said.

One of the draftees is from out of the county, having registered in Marin, and the remaining were on the rolls here.

The inductees are:

Glenn E. Adams Jr., Larry G. Chapman and William E. Denson, San Rafael; Eugene T. Wilson, Hamilton Air Force Base; Bruce D. Cunningham and Barrie D. Stewardson, Novato; Don C. Salisbury, Joseph E. Murphy and George A. C. Dillon, San Anselmo; Thomas E. Paraspolo, Corte Madera, and Warren F. Nickel Jr., Arcata.

Thirty-four men from Marin County have been ordered to report to the induction center in November, Mrs. Kinzer said.

Income Report

A reminder that employers must report and pay withheld income and social security taxes for the quarter ending Sept. 30 by Oct. 31, was issued yesterday by Joseph M. Cullen, district director of Internal Revenue for Northern California.

Nobel Prize Goes To Trio For Eye Study

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Two Americans and a Swede were jointly awarded the Nobel Prize for physiology or medicine today for their investigations into the mechanics that make the human eye see.

The three scientists were cited by the awarding Royal Caroline Institute medical faculty for "their discoveries concerning the primary chemical and physiological visual processes in the eye."

TO SHARE $62,000

The prize sum this year amounts to $62,000 to be shared equally among the trio.

Hartline, 63, who studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, currently works at the Rockefeller University of New York City. He was head of the Johns Hopkins department of biophysics 1949-53 before joining the Rockefeller Institute of New York.

Wald, 60, who is one of the world's greatest authorities on the biochemistry of perception, has been professor of biology at Harvard since 1948. Earlier he studied at Columbia University in New York and, like Hartline, in Germany befor the war. He received the Lasker Prize in 1953 and the Rumford Medal in 1959 for his biochemical researches.

Wald is married to the former Ruth Hubbard who has been his collaborator at various experiments in the field of visual perception physiology.

FINNISH BORN

Prof. Granit, born in Helsinki, Finland, in 1900, started his academic career as a psychologist at the University of Helsinki. He took a special interest in the mechanisms of perception early in his career.

Granit started a medical career after being graduated in 1927. As assistant professor of physiology, he obtained a research fellowship at Pennsylvania University where he worked at the same institution as Hartline in 1929-31.

In 1937 Granit was appointed professor of physiology at the University of Helsinki. He joined the Caroline Institute here in 1940 as research professor in neurophysiology.

"I'm a little breathless," said Wald of the news that he was sharing a Nobel Prize.

Change In Some Districts Predicted To Affect All

WASHINGTON (AP) A major facelifting in the way the government submits its annual budget would take years to implement.

A 16-man commission unveiled last night its blueprint for a unified summary budget to replace the three present competing concepts—the administrative, the consolidated cash and the national income accounts budgets.

It said its plan would end public confusion over budget figures, make the budget more understandable and end practices which led to charges of budget gimmickry.

The plan calls for comprehensive reporting of government income and outgo, including that of trust funds such as Social Security and highways. It would be figured on an accrual basis—when payments are due rather than when they are made.

Had the concept been used last January, spending and deficit figures would be higher than under any of the three existing systems.

The report emphasized the economic impact of the federal budget and said too much attention has been focused on the surplus or deficit figure. This has led to confusion, the proliferation of budget concepts and charges of gimmickry, the commission added.

Some features of the plan could be incorporated into the budget President Johnson is scheduled to present to Congress in January for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1968.

Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze was a commission member and concurred in the over-all report.

But he and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler dissented on one point—the treatment of participation certificates which Republicans have labeled budget gimmicks.

Schultze and Fowler said they consider the certificates a legitimate offset. The certificates are much like stocks or bonds and are backed by pools of government-owned mortgages and loans.

Ross Pupil Reading Scores Are Reported

Numbers of pupils at Ross School scoring above average in last year's reading tests varied from very high for first graders to not so high for third graders, Supt. Robert D. Gowan reported to the Ross School District Board Monday night.

Ninety-four per cent of Ross first graders scored above state average and 75 per cent of the second graders. Gowan said that since the state has not yet set a standard for third grade, publishers's standards are used, and 48 per cent of Ross third graders were above average.

A report on curriculum for kindergarten and kindergarten-first grade was given by teachers of these classes to board members and the audience.

The board also appointed Mrs. Sally Rakow, of Ross, to attend Tamalpais High School District Board meetings.

Second Degree Charge In Lassen Gun Death

I-J Special Report

SUSANVILLE — A second degree murder charge was filed yesterday against a 27-year-old San Rafael woman in the shooting death of her husband during a deer hunting trip.

Mrs. Jenny McDowell of 410 Prospect Drive was arraigned before Judge Scott Kirby of the Westwood-Honey Lake Judicial Court, and preliminary hearing was set for 10:30 a.m. Oct. 26.

Mrs. McDowell was held without bail and assigned an attorney, Mr. Paul Tennant of Susanville.

Lassen County Dist. Atty. Harold L. Abbott quoted Mrs. McDowell as saying she shot her husband, Robert, 35, a building contractor, with an M-1 rifle when he became abusive while drinking. Mrs. McDowell said she had intended to shoot her husband in the leg, Abbott said.

The shooting occurred Saturday in a tent in an isolated hunting spot 65 miles north of here.

Panel Set On Marijuana

Matthew O'Connor, the state's chief narcotic agent in San Francisco, two psychiatrists and an internist will discuss the psychological and medical effects of marijuana on the KTIM Sounding Board program from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The program will be repeated by tape-recording at 9 p.m. tomorrow over KTIM-FM.

Penthouse Fire Atop Nob Hill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Billows of dark smoke rose high in the sky over Nob Hill Tuesday when a $5,000 fire broke out in an unoccupied seventh-floor penthouse of the Fairmont Hotel.

No one was injured in the two-alarm blaze, quickly extinguished by firemen.

Assistant Fire Chief Keith Calden reported that a spark from an incinerator ignited the tar on the penthouse roof.

A hotel spokesman said the penthouse was used for storing equipment.

Chamber Names Slate Chairman

John Finn III, treasurer of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, was named yesterday to head the chamber's nominating committee this year.

The committee will select 10 nominees for the Nov. 20 election of five chamber directors to serve for 1968-9. Finn is to choose the other members of the committee.

Jesuit College Moving To Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — Alma College, West Coast training center for Jesuit priests is being moved from Los Gatos to Berkeley as soon as an area for a new plant can be located.

Yesterday's announcement said the purpose is to place the college near the Graduate Theological Union and the University of California.

Douglas De La Fontaine Named To Sanitary Board

Directors of Richardson Bay Sanitary District last night appointed Douglas de La Fontaine, of 2 Eagle Rock Drive, Mill Valley, to replace director Samuel A. Fletcher who resigned last month, according to Secretary Alfred O. Pratesi.

Fletcher's term runs until Dec. 31.

The board sent a resolution to the board of Supervisors recommending the appointment of de la Fontaine and Mrs. Berverly K. Wheeler for four-year terms each, starting Jan. 1, as no other candidacy papers were filed. Mrs. Wheeler's present term also expires Dec. 31.

An agreement was signed to furnish Tiburon Fire District's Trestle Glen station with sanitary service, providing the fire district install and maintain the private sewer until the area is annexed by the sanitary district.

Plans for further landscaping of the Trestle Glen treatment plant were reviewed and engineer J. Warran Nute was directed to get cost estimates.

Pratesi reported that $22,780 in bonds was received yesterday for the special assessment district to construct sewer systems for 12 Sky Road homes in Bayview Heights.

Negro Teaching Change Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negro teachers are seeking changes in the ways Negro students are educated in San Francisco.

They want integrated classrooms and more Negro colleagues.

The teachers, members of the Committee on Church Community Concern, met yesterday and pictured the city as one completely unresponsive to the needs of children of the ghetto.

Alas

As big and lovable as it was, there were still some things some people didn't love about our old wagon.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it rode. "Like a truck," someone said.

So we re-built the Volkswagen Station Wagon from the bottom up and now it rides just like a car.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it looked either. "No class," someone else said. So we gave it more class.

"It's not the most comfortable thing on earth," was another complaint.

So we made it more comfortable. The inside is nicer. There's more room than ever before for up to 9 people. Just about everything's padded and cushioned. The armrests are thicker. The seats, more plush.

So we made the front doors wider and easier to get through.

"The side doors get in the way when I'm loading," someone said.

So we put in a huge 3½' by 4' sliding side door. Slide the door open. Slide the piano in. Slide the door closed. (It locks automatically in both positions.)

"It doesn't have enough heater and vent outlets."

So now we have 6.

"It has too many little windows."

So we built giant ones.

"The windshield wipers are too small."

So we built giant wipers (to go along with the giant windows).

"It's kind of homely," someone finally said. "Can you make it beautiful?"

Nope.

Second Degree Charge In Lassen Gun Death

I-J Special Report

SUSANVILLE — A second degree murder charge was filed yesterday against a 27-year-old San Rafael woman in the shooting death of her husband during a deer hunting trip.

Mrs. Jenny McDowell of 410 Prospect Drive was arraigned before Judge Scott Kirby of the Westwood-Honey Lake Judicial Court, and preliminary hearing was set for 10:30 a.m. Oct. 26.

Mrs. McDowell was held without bail and assigned an attorney, Mr. Paul Tennant of Susanville.

Lassen County Dist. Atty. Harold L. Abbott quoted Mrs. McDowell as saying she shot her husband, Robert, 35, a building contractor, with an M-1 rifle when he became abusive while drinking. Mrs. McDowell said she had intended to shoot her husband in the leg, Abbott said.

The shooting occurred Saturday in a tent in an isolated hunting spot 65 miles north of here.

Panel Set On Marijuana

Matthew O'Connor, the state's chief narcotic agent in San Francisco, two psychiatrists and an internist will discuss the psychological and medical effects of marijuana on the KTIM Sounding Board program from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The program will be repeated by tape-recording at 9 p.m. tomorrow over KTIM-FM.

Penthouse Fire Atop Nob Hill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Billows of dark smoke rose high in the sky over Nob Hill Tuesday when a $5,000 fire broke out in an unoccupied seventh-floor penthouse of the Fairmont Hotel.

No one was injured in the two-alarm blaze, quickly extinguished by firemen.

Assistant Fire Chief Keith Calden reported that a spark from an incinerator ignited the tar on the penthouse roof.

A hotel spokesman said the penthouse was used for storing equipment.

Chamber Names Slate Chairman

John Finn III, treasurer of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, was named yesterday to head the chamber's nominating committee this year.

The committee will select 10 nominees for the Nov. 20 election of five chamber directors to serve for 1968-9. Finn is to choose the other members of the committee.

Jesuit College Moving To Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — Alma College, West Coast training center for Jesuit priests is being moved from Los Gatos to Berkeley as soon as an area for a new plant can be located.

Yesterday's announcement said the purpose is to place the college near the Graduate Theological Union and the University of California.

Douglas De La Fontaine Named To Sanitary Board

Directors of Richardson Bay Sanitary District last night appointed Douglas de La Fontaine, of 2 Eagle Rock Drive, Mill Valley, to replace director Samuel A. Fletcher who resigned last month, according to Secretary Alfred O. Pratesi.

Fletcher's term runs until Dec. 31.

The board sent a resolution to the board of Supervisors recommending the appointment of de la Fontaine and Mrs. Berverly K. Wheeler for four-year terms each, starting Jan. 1, as no other candidacy papers were filed. Mrs. Wheeler's present term also expires Dec. 31.

An agreement was signed to furnish Tiburon Fire District's Trestle Glen station with sanitary service, providing the fire district install and maintain the private sewer until the area is annexed by the sanitary district.

Plans for further landscaping of the Trestle Glen treatment plant were reviewed and engineer J. Warran Nute was directed to get cost estimates.

Pratesi reported that $22,780 in bonds was received yesterday for the special assessment district to construct sewer systems for 12 Sky Road homes in Bayview Heights.

Negro Teaching Change Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negro teachers are seeking changes in the ways Negro students are educated in San Francisco.

They want integrated classrooms and more Negro colleagues.

The teachers, members of the Committee on Church Community Concern, met yesterday and pictured the city as one completely unresponsive to the needs of children of the ghetto.

Alas

As big and lovable as it was, there were still some things some people didn't love about our old wagon.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it rode. "Like a truck," someone said.

So we re-built the Volkswagen Station Wagon from the bottom up and now it rides just like a car.

Some people weren't too crazy about the way it looked either. "No class," someone else said. So we gave it more class.

"It's not the most comfortable thing on earth," was another complaint.

So we made it more comfortable. The inside is nicer. There's more room than ever before for up to 9 people. Just about everything's padded and cushioned. The armrests are thicker. The seats, more plush.

So we made the front doors wider and easier to get through.

"The side doors get in the way when I'm loading," someone said.

So we put in a huge 3½' by 4' sliding side door. Slide the door open. Slide the piano in. Slide the door closed. (It locks automatically in both positions.)

"It doesn't have enough heater and vent outlets."

So now we have 6.

"It has too many little windows."

So we built giant ones.

"The windshield wipers are too small."

So we built giant wipers (to go along with the giant windows).

"It's kind of homely," someone finally said. "Can you make it beautiful?"

Nope.

Cleaning Fluid Helps Trap Space Phantoms

CHICAGO (SS) — Scientists are using 100,000 gallons of cleaning fluid, buried almost a mile underground, to search for the phantom particle known as the neutrino.

The search was unsuccessful in the first 48 days of exposure Dr. Raymond Davis Jr. told the recent American Chemical Society meeting. The experiment is continuing, under the aegis of Brookhaven National Laboratory. The tank of tetrachloroethylene is buried nearly 5,000 feet deep in an abandoned South Dakota gold mine.

The neutrino is an elusive elementary particle that results from many nuclear reactions including the thermonuclear fusion of hydrogen commonly believed to be the sun's source of heat.

The experiment is based on the characteristics of chlorine 37, which makes up one-fourth of naturally occuring chlorine. Very rarely a chlorine 37 atom will react with a neutrino, forming radioactive argon 37. After about a month the argon decays back again into chlorine, according to the latest theoretical figures.

Dr. Savis said between one and two billion neutrinos should pass through the tank every day as a result of solar fusion. Of these only two per day should react with chlorine 37 to form argon.

The fact that he didn't find any neutrino reactions means that the true value should be at the low end of the predicted range or even lower. Dr. Davis is refining his detecting equipment to be able to pick up as few as 50 argon atoms.

Neutrinos aren't stopped by matter the way other particles are, so those created in the sun's center can reach the earth unhindered. Since they are the only evidence we have of what goes on beneath the surface of the sun, Dr. Davis said it is worth going to great trouble to pick them up.

The tank is buried to eliminate the chance that argon 37 could be formed by other radiation than neutrinos.

Strikebreakers Said Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immigration Service inspectors look the other way rather than stop farm workers from Mexico from being used as strikebreakers, a farm union leader charges.

A Labor Department regulation prohibits Mexican day workers who enter the United States with "green card" residence permits from working on farms where strikes are in progress unless they were hired before the strikes began.

But the rule is widely ignored, Cesar Chavez, director of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers organizing committee, said yesterday in a radio interview.

Adults Said To Use Many Drugs Regularly

America today is a society of drug users, Dr. Sanford Feinglass, head of the Marin County Narcotics Bureau, told the Novato Federation of Republican Women at a luncheon meeting yesterday at Nero's Restaurant in Ignacio.

"At least 70 to 80 per cent of the adult population is dependent on the use of some drugs," he said. In this classification he placed nicotine, caffeine, alcohol, tranquilizers and sleeping pills.

He asked for a show of hands on how many in the room of about 40 women use any of these. Nearly all hands were raised.

Other members of the panel were: Clifford Lund, foreman of the Marin County Grand Jury, Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instruction for Marin County schools.

"I am interested in that small minority of kids who do not use drugs," Feinglass said.

This brought murmurs of protest from the women that they did not believe that a majority of older children used drugs.

"There are very few who do not use cigarettes, alcohol, tranquilizers or pep pills," he explained.

If we can find out why the few do not use drugs, then maybe we can find out why the others do, he said.

"If you tell a kid who has a marijuana cigarette to knock it off when you use a cocktail, you have lost him," Feinglass said.

Stinson and Lund disagreed on changing the existing narcotics laws.

"I see no need to change the present narcotics law," Stinson said to a question from the floor. He maintained that the present laws were adequate.

"I disagree; the law should be changed," Lund said.

Lund felt that the judge should determine whether or not it is a misdemeanor or a felony for a young adult to use marijuana.

"If a young person between 18 and 21 years of age is found with a marijuana cigarette, he could be convicted of a felony," Lund said.

This young man would then lose his right to vote, to serve in the armed forces and many other privileges of citizenship, he said.

Lund favored classifying the use of LSD and that family of drugs as a felony.

Lund outlined the work of the grand jury on the narcotics problem in Marin County and its advocating the establishment of a narcotics bureau. He said that the board of supervisors, sheriff, police and schools throughout the county had responded quickly to the idea.

"Novato can be particularly proud of the program; you were ahead in the study of narcotics and supported the county program," he told the women.

Stinson reported that the narcotics bureau was just getting started. Feinglass was hired about a month ago and the other four members of the bureau would start work on Oct. 30, he said.

Barricade Taken

U.S. Planning Myths Hit By Freeman

WASHINGTON (SS) — Everyone knows that Americans are already a highly urbanized people and that they are headed for near total urbanization by the end of the century. But this piece of the conventional wisdom came under heavy attack before the American Institute of Planners last week.

All week long the planners, who met here with scientists, philosophers and authors to peer 50 years into the future, talked about urban mass, city crisis, uncontrolled technology and the loss of a decent environment.

But at the conference's concluding session, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman labeled several of their basic assumptions "myths" and challenged the planners to reexamine their ideas.

"There is a widespread assumption that no one can stop the flight to the cities, that it is an inevitable, irreversible, immutable force," said Freeman. "I think that's a lot of baloney."

Small towns are not drying up, Freeman pointed out. In the 1950s, the nation's fastest population growth occurred in towns of 10,000 to 25,000 people, towns that lie outside metropolitan areas. For the past several years, the non-metropolitan population has stabilized at about 60 million and there is no indication of a further decline, said Freeman.

Another myth claims that Americans are city people who want to live in cities, despite the fact that the overwhelming majority of urban Americans don't live in cities at all, said Freeman. They live in suburbs.

He quoted a recent national poll indicating that the majority of individuals, given a preference between metropolitan and small town living, chose towns.

Secretary Freeman said there is an alternative to megalopolis. He called it the "town and country community," which is essentially a non-metropolitan complex of farms, villages and towns. Some 26 states are already using this concept in their planning programs, said Freeman.

Cleaning Fluid Helps Trap Space Phantoms

CHICAGO (SS) — Scientists are using 100,000 gallons of cleaning fluid, buried almost a mile underground, to search for the phantom particle known as the neutrino.

The search was unsuccessful in the first 48 days of exposure Dr. Raymond Davis Jr. told the recent American Chemical Society meeting. The experiment is continuing, under the aegis of Brookhaven National Laboratory. The tank of tetrachloroethylene is buried nearly 5,000 feet deep in an abandoned South Dakota gold mine.

The neutrino is an elusive elementary particle that results from many nuclear reactions including the thermonuclear fusion of hydrogen commonly believed to be the sun's source of heat.

The experiment is based on the characteristics of chlorine 37, which makes up one-fourth of naturally occuring chlorine. Very rarely a chlorine 37 atom will react with a neutrino, forming radioactive argon 37. After about a month the argon decays back again into chlorine, according to the latest theoretical figures.

Dr. Savis said between one and two billion neutrinos should pass through the tank every day as a result of solar fusion. Of these only two per day should react with chlorine 37 to form argon.

The fact that he didn't find any neutrino reactions means that the true value should be at the low end of the predicted range or even lower. Dr. Davis is refining his detecting equipment to be able to pick up as few as 50 argon atoms.

Neutrinos aren't stopped by matter the way other particles are, so those created in the sun's center can reach the earth unhindered. Since they are the only evidence we have of what goes on beneath the surface of the sun, Dr. Davis said it is worth going to great trouble to pick them up.

The tank is buried to eliminate the chance that argon 37 could be formed by other radiation than neutrinos.

Strikebreakers Said Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immigration Service inspectors look the other way rather than stop farm workers from Mexico from being used as strikebreakers, a farm union leader charges.

A Labor Department regulation prohibits Mexican day workers who enter the United States with "green card" residence permits from working on farms where strikes are in progress unless they were hired before the strikes began.

But the rule is widely ignored, Cesar Chavez, director of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers organizing committee, said yesterday in a radio interview.

Adults Said To Use Many Drugs Regularly

America today is a society of drug users, Dr. Sanford Feinglass, head of the Marin County Narcotics Bureau, told the Novato Federation of Republican Women at a luncheon meeting yesterday at Nero's Restaurant in Ignacio.

"At least 70 to 80 per cent of the adult population is dependent on the use of some drugs," he said. In this classification he placed nicotine, caffeine, alcohol, tranquilizers and sleeping pills.

He asked for a show of hands on how many in the room of about 40 women use any of these. Nearly all hands were raised.

Other members of the panel were: Clifford Lund, foreman of the Marin County Grand Jury, Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instruction for Marin County schools.

"I am interested in that small minority of kids who do not use drugs," Feinglass said.

This brought murmurs of protest from the women that they did not believe that a majority of older children used drugs.

"There are very few who do not use cigarettes, alcohol, tranquilizers or pep pills," he explained.

If we can find out why the few do not use drugs, then maybe we can find out why the others do, he said.

"If you tell a kid who has a marijuana cigarette to knock it off when you use a cocktail, you have lost him," Feinglass said.

Stinson and Lund disagreed on changing the existing narcotics laws.

"I see no need to change the present narcotics law," Stinson said to a question from the floor. He maintained that the present laws were adequate.

"I disagree; the law should be changed," Lund said.

Lund felt that the judge should determine whether or not it is a misdemeanor or a felony for a young adult to use marijuana.

"If a young person between 18 and 21 years of age is found with a marijuana cigarette, he could be convicted of a felony," Lund said.

This young man would then lose his right to vote, to serve in the armed forces and many other privileges of citizenship, he said.

Lund favored classifying the use of LSD and that family of drugs as a felony.

Lund outlined the work of the grand jury on the narcotics problem in Marin County and its advocating the establishment of a narcotics bureau. He said that the board of supervisors, sheriff, police and schools throughout the county had responded quickly to the idea.

"Novato can be particularly proud of the program; you were ahead in the study of narcotics and supported the county program," he told the women.

Stinson reported that the narcotics bureau was just getting started. Feinglass was hired about a month ago and the other four members of the bureau would start work on Oct. 30, he said.

Barricade Taken

Atom Helps Mutation Of Food Crop Plants

VIENNA (SS) — World food supplies will benefit from seven new strains of plants developed during the last two years with nuclear radiation, according to scientists here.

Dr. Herbert Vetter of the International Atomic Energy Agency reported that several are already being grown commercially, including early maturing soybean and better yielding rice in Japan; larger and earlier ripening peach in Agentina; higher protein wheat in India; and a barley in Sweden. Others are expected soon.

Plant geneticists from 14 countries met here under the sponsorship of IAEA and another United Nations' agency, the Food and Agricultural Organization.

Mutations were induced in all by nuclear radiation, Vetter explained. The Argentine peach resulted from chronic exposure of young trees to gamma rays. The Indian wheat was created by exposing seeds to ultraviolet and gamma radiation. The Swedish barley came from a crossing of a mutant produced by X-ray and a standard variety.

All these mutations were produced in two years, says Vetter. It took 32 years to produce 20 previous mutants without radiation, he said.

"Mutation means hastening hereditary changes by artificial means," he offered. "Mutants now significantly supplement older ways of improving crops."

Marijuana Old Stuff, But Knowledge Scant

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Marijuana is no new petal of the flower children. It has been used since 1,200 B.C. Yet scientists know less of this drug's potential for harm than they do of LSD, discovered less than half a century ago. They don't know whether marijuana, as smoked in the United States, poses a threat comparable to alcohol, worse than alcohol or less than alcohol.

They don't know whether chronic potheads undergo psychological changes because of marijuana, despite the impression that long-time users seem to be turned inward and lack drive. Finally they don't know whether the weed can be smoked on a now and then basis as is often the case, with any degree of safety.

There has never been much data on marijuana, and most of what is available is more than 30 years old.

Nevertheless, medical authorities are now being called upon to lay out their evidence in a Boston courtroom in a trial that challenges the current criminal laws surrounding marijuana use.

So far, the authorities sound as though they were talking about two different drugs, depending on whether they testify for the defense or the prosecution. Some claim that marijuana is a hazard, capable of producing mental disability ranging from panic to psychosis. Others say marijuana is less dangerous than whiskey: it isn't addictive, doesn't hurt the body or lead to crime or heroin use or cause mental illness.

From all available evidence—and it's fragmentary — both descriptions have some truth.

The active principles (called tetrahydrocannabinols) in a marijuana cigarette come in many concentrations, unlike other drugs for which the dosage level is fairly constant and easy to measure. And according to some new evidence, the dosage level of these marijuana chemicals means the diifference between a pleasurable experience and sock in the brain which would be something like a "bad trip" on LSD.

Marijuana plants from various parts of the world contain different amounts of the active chemicals, explains Dr. Daniel Efron, a psychopharmacologist at the National Institute of Mental Health. Moreover, the chemical concentration changes depending on whether marijuana is kept in an attic, a refrigerator or a basement.

Is there a safe use of marijuana? "In my opinion," says Dr. Efron, "at this moment we don't have enough scientific facts to answer the question."

Those facts, however, should soon be available. Recently, scientists isolated the active marijuana chemicals and now have supplies to test. Previous work has been less than scientific because the marijuana dosage level was unpredictable.

At the University of Kentucky, Dr. Harris Isbell tested a pure marijuana ingredient on some 40 people and found their reactions strongly related to the dose.

About 18 milligrams of this chemical in a 160-pound man almost always created a psychotic reaction. But a quarter to a third of that dose, created pleasure — euphoria, some perceptual distortion and change of mood, comparable to reports from many U.S. users.

With the smaller dose, said Dr. Isbell, the smoker called the cigarette a "good reefer."

"But if you keep turning the screws (increasing the dose), all of a sudden he's on a trip and watching his own burial." The smoker will swear that what hit him never came from marijuana, said Dr. Isbell.

"The local grass is probably pretty weak stuff," he said. "But if control of marijuana is lowered, it will open the way to more potent stuff," such as hashish, the powerful African variety.

In Dr. Isbell's opinion, marijuana must be controlled, but it does not necessarily call for the heavy criminal penalties imposed through narcotics laws. Possession of marijuana is now a felony under Federal law.

Many medical authorities, however, would like to see the drug removed from that category and placed under Food and Drug Administration regulation. In that event, only the illegal sale of marijuana would be a crime. Now simple possession is a crime. The stronger hallucinogens, such as LSD, are now regulated that way.

An appetizer of fried caterpillars followed by a main course of curried grasshoppers, and a dessert of chocolate covered ants may well be western man's diet 50 years from now if the population boom continues at its present rate for half a century. So says research entomologist Dr. Ronald L. Taylor, of the University of California at Irvine.

THE FESTIVE mood of Raspberry Pear Sundaes and Blushing Pear Pie will set the scene for a happy time. For sundaes, begin with the convenience of packaged golden pound cake mix. Cut in thick slices and swirl each piece with a fluffy cream cheese topping, then mount with a snowy canned pear half. For the jewel toned sauce, syrup is drained from a package of frozen raspberries and thickened. The sieved raspberries are blended in and all is drizzled with the bright sauce.

Blushing Pear Pie, Sundaes Are Sure Hits For A Party

Whether for a party or an everyday occasion, you needn't labor over dessert with the convenience of canned Bartlett pears and packaged mixes. The first sure hit is Blushing Pear Pie all aglow with a cinnamon pear glaze.

The pie filling abounds with luxuriant sour cream blended with speedy packaged vanilla pudding. The tender puffy crust, golden with butter and biscuit mix, is conveniently stirred up in the pie pan and spread to form the shell. For the glaze, bright cinnamon candies melt through smooth pear puree which is thickened with cornstarch and accented with lemon.

BLUSHING PEAR PIE

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
1 recipe Cinnamon Pear Syrup
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅓ cup sigar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 package (3¾ oz.) vanilla pudding mix
1¼ cup milk
¾ cup dairy sour cream
1 (8-inch) biscuit mix pie crust

Puree two pear halves and add enough Cinnamon Pear Syrup to measure 1 cup. Combine cornstarch and sugar. Stir into cinnamon pear mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thickened. Add lemon juice. Make pudding according to package directions, using 1¼ cups milk. Cool slightly and fold in sour cream. Pour into baked crust. Pour cinnamon pear mixture over pudding layer. Chill. Top with drained pear halves. Garnish with mint. Makes 5 servings.

CINNAMON PEAR SYRUP

1 cup syrup drained from canned pears
¼ cup red cinnamon candies
1 teaspoon vinegar

BISCUIT MIX PIE CRUST

1 cup biscuit mix
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons boiling water

Cut butter into biscuit mix in 8-inch pie pan. Add boiling water and stir with fork until dough cleans side of pan. Dough will be soft and spongy. Pat to cover pan and flute edge. Bake at 450 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

RASPBERRY SUNDAES

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
1 package golden pound cake mix
1 (8-oz.) package cream cheese
2 tablespoons milk
Raspberry Melba Sauce

Chill pears. Prepare pound cake mix according to directions on package. Beat cream cheese with milk until fluffy. Slice pound cake into ½ inch slices. Spread slices of pound cake with softened cream cheese. Top each slice with a drained pear half and drizzle with Raspberry Melba Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PEAR BRICKLE SUNDAE

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pears
1 package golden pound cake mix
Sweetened whipped cream
Butter Brickle Sauce

Chill pears. Prepare golden pound cake mix as directed on package. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut cake into squares, then split each square crosswise. Drain and slice pear halves. Arrange pear slices between and on top of split squares of cake. Top with sweetened whipped cream and Butter Brickle Sauce. Makes 9 servings.

Butter Brickle Sauce: Combine 1 package butter brickle frosting mix with 2 tablespoons light corn syrup and 3 tablespoons soft butter in top of double boiler. Stir in ⅔ cup milk gradually. Heat over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cover and store in refrigerator. Makes 2 cups sauce.

RASPBERRY MELBA SAUCE

1 (10 oz.) package frozen raspberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Thaw and drain raspberries. Slowly stir raspberry syrup into cornstarch until smooth. Heat and stir until thickened and clear. Put remaining raspberries through sieve and stir into thickened sauce. Add lemon juice. Chill.

PEAR GINGY WAFFLES

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pears
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package gingerbread mix

Drain pears and measure 1 cup syrup. Add pear syrup to cornstarch and salt and cook, stirring, until clear and thickened. Cool. Whip cream until stiff and fold in vanilla and thickened pear syrup.

Prepare gingerbread mix according to directions on package. Bake in 350-degree waffle iron until crisp and brown. Serve each section of waffle topped with canned pear half and fluffy whipped cream topping. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE PEAR CREPES

Buttered Orange Sauce:

1 can (1 lb.) Bartlett pear halves
¼ cup butter
1½ cups powdered sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Drain pear halves reserving syrup for Pear Crepes. Melt butter and stir in powdered sugar, juices and orange peel. Bring to a boil. Add drained pear halves. Keep warm while making crepes.

PEAR CREPES:

3 eggs
½ cup milk
1 cup biscuit mix
½ cup pear syrup

Beat eggs and milk together. Slowly add biscuit mix, beating until smooth. Stir in pear syrup. Refrigerate at least 1 hour. For each crepe, pour 1 tablespoon batter in 5-inch hot buttered skillet. Quickly turn skillet in circular motion to spread batter. When golden brown on bottom turn and cook on other side. Dip each crepe in buttered orange sauce and fold in quarters. Arrange pear halves and crepes in chafing dish and pour buttered orange sauce over all. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PEAR MACAROON COBBLER

1 (1 lb.) can Bartlett pears
1 (11-oz.) can Mandarin oranges
1 (3 oz.) package orange-flavored gelatin
½ cup butter
1 (13 oz.) package macaroon mix

Drain pears and Mandarin oranges. Measure 1½ cups combined syrups. Arrange pear halves and orange segments in bottom of 8-inch square baking dish. Sprinkle with gelatin and pour combined fruit syrups over all. Cut butter into macaroon mix until crumbly. Sprinkle evenly over fruit. Bake for 35-40 minutes in 350 degree oven. Chill. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream topping, if desired. Makes 9 servings.

Wine Will Flavor, Tenderize And Add Seasoning To Roast

A pot roast dinner is fine for the family, but most good cooks feel they should dress it up some if they serve it for company. Fortunately, there's an easy way to present it in style: add wine.

There is general agreement as to the type of wine that goes best with pot roast. Ask a dozen people and they'll probably all agree that a dry red wine is most satisfying.

Some pot roast recipes call for marinating the meat in wine for several hours or as long as three or four days. In that case enough wine is required to half cover the meat. It is assumed that with frequent turning, the wine will flavor and tenderize all of the meat. In the recipe below, wine is used as the flavoring during the cooking period. Cooking time is sufficiently long so that there will also be some tenderizing, but the essential reason for adding it here, is for seasoning. Half a cup of Burgundy, or another dry red wine, will suffice. Wine left from the previous night's dinner or some of the same type of wine to be served with the pot roast will be suitable for use in cooking it.

BURGUNDY POT ROAST

(Serves 4 or 5)

3 to 3½ pound boneless beef pot roast
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons shortening or oil
1 onion, sliced
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons shortening or oil
1 onion, sliced
½ cup burgundy or other red dinner wine
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons chili sauce or canned green chile salsa

Rub meat well with flour mixed with paprika, celery and garlic salts. Brown meat slowly and well on all sides in heated shortening. Add onion, wine and water; stir in all remaining seasonings. Cover tightly and simmer until meat is tender, 2 to 2½ hours. Serve with butter-dressed boiled vegetables.

After a hearty dinner, the dessert should be refreshingly light. Fruits in wine are excellent. This is a recipe to keep on hand the year around, varying the fruits depending on the season.

GOLDEN FRUIT CUP

(Serves 6)

1 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
½ cup canned apricot nectar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dash of salt
1 quart prepared fruit (below)

Combine wine, sugar and orange peel in a saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add apricot nectar, lemon juice and salt. When completely cool, pour over fruit. Cover and chill several hours before serving.

PREPARED FRUIT

Use any desired combination of fruits — fresh, canned or frozen. Peel, dice or slice as necessary. Frozen fruits should be thawed; both frozen and canned fruits should be well drained.

SUGGESTED FRUITS

Canned peach slices, pitted canned dark red, sweet cherries, canned or frozen pineapple chunks, sliced bananas, orange sections, grapefruit sections, sliced canned pears, fresh or frozen red raspberries (added just before serving). For an extra-quick fruit compote, pour the above syrup over 1 quart drained canned fruits-for-salad and chill thoroughly.

Try A New Flavor Mate When Liver Is On Menu

Onions and bacon have escorted many a serving of liver to the dinner table. Why not try this variety meat with still another companion? Make it mushrooms.

Mushrooms in stems and pieces do not contribute too much to the cost of the entree, but they do add style, especially when combined with soy sauce, coriander and parsley flakes.

An excellent source of several valuable nutrients including iron, liver should be served often. When treated to seasonings like these and careful cooking, it can be a welcome dish.

LIVER AND MUSHROOMS

1 pound beef or pork liver, sliced ½-inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cucumber Shrimp Boats A-Coming!

Shrimp Boats are a-coming! Your table will be a sea of glory when you sail in with these delicious cucumber shrimp boats —a perfect luncheon entree, appetizer, or salad for any meal.

Cucumber shrimp boats are eay to make and can be prepared ahead of time to leave you free to set the table, arrange centerpieces, and prepare items which must be served piping hot.

To make these decorative Cucumber Shrimp Boats, you will need:

1 dozen medium cucumbers
4 hard cooked eggs mayonnaise
salt, pepper
olive oil and vinegar
chopped fresh dill (optional)

Make cucumber boat by cutting a strip from one side of each cucumber and removing all the seeds and hollowing them out. Then cut a thin slice from the bottom so the cucumber boat will stand steady on the plate. Salt and pepper the inside and rub with olive oil and vinegar. Chill for two hours. Cook shrimp according to package directions. Set aside a dozen large shrimp for garnish. Make filling by coarsley dicing shrimp and eggs, seasoning to taste and mixing with mayonnaise. Fill shrimp boats with mixture, sprinkle with chopped fresh dill, and garnish with large shrimp by standing shrimp on end.

To complete nautical mood, top with miniature pennants. Chill until ready to serve. Recipe serves 12.

THE INSTEAD BREAKFAST DRINK.

If you serve the same juice every morning, breakfast is just a ritual. Once in awhile, pour Del Monte Pineapple-Grapefruit Juice Drink. Two delicious flavors instead of one.

THE FESTIVE mood of Raspberry Pear Sundaes and Blushing Pear Pie will set the scene for a happy time. For sundaes, begin with the convenience of packaged golden pound cake mix. Cut in thick slices and swirl each piece with a fluffy cream cheese topping, then mount with a snowy canned pear half. For the jewel toned sauce, syrup is drained from a package of frozen raspberries and thickened. The sieved raspberries are blended in and all is drizzled with the bright sauce.

Blushing Pear Pie, Sundaes Are Sure Hits For A Party

Whether for a party or an everyday occasion, you needn't labor over dessert with the convenience of canned Bartlett pears and packaged mixes. The first sure hit is Blushing Pear Pie all aglow with a cinnamon pear glaze.

The pie filling abounds with luxuriant sour cream blended with speedy packaged vanilla pudding. The tender puffy crust, golden with butter and biscuit mix, is conveniently stirred up in the pie pan and spread to form the shell. For the glaze, bright cinnamon candies melt through smooth pear puree which is thickened with cornstarch and accented with lemon.

BLUSHING PEAR PIE

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
1 recipe Cinnamon Pear Syrup
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅓ cup sigar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 package (3¾ oz.) vanilla pudding mix
1¼ cup milk
¾ cup dairy sour cream
1 (8-inch) biscuit mix pie crust

Puree two pear halves and add enough Cinnamon Pear Syrup to measure 1 cup. Combine cornstarch and sugar. Stir into cinnamon pear mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thickened. Add lemon juice. Make pudding according to package directions, using 1¼ cups milk. Cool slightly and fold in sour cream. Pour into baked crust. Pour cinnamon pear mixture over pudding layer. Chill. Top with drained pear halves. Garnish with mint. Makes 5 servings.

CINNAMON PEAR SYRUP

1 cup syrup drained from canned pears
¼ cup red cinnamon candies
1 teaspoon vinegar

BISCUIT MIX PIE CRUST

1 cup biscuit mix
¼ cup butter
3 tablespoons boiling water

Cut butter into biscuit mix in 8-inch pie pan. Add boiling water and stir with fork until dough cleans side of pan. Dough will be soft and spongy. Pat to cover pan and flute edge. Bake at 450 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes.

RASPBERRY SUNDAES

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
1 package golden pound cake mix
1 (8-oz.) package cream cheese
2 tablespoons milk
Raspberry Melba Sauce

Chill pears. Prepare pound cake mix according to directions on package. Beat cream cheese with milk until fluffy. Slice pound cake into ½ inch slices. Spread slices of pound cake with softened cream cheese. Top each slice with a drained pear half and drizzle with Raspberry Melba Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PEAR BRICKLE SUNDAE

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pears
1 package golden pound cake mix
Sweetened whipped cream
Butter Brickle Sauce

Chill pears. Prepare golden pound cake mix as directed on package. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut cake into squares, then split each square crosswise. Drain and slice pear halves. Arrange pear slices between and on top of split squares of cake. Top with sweetened whipped cream and Butter Brickle Sauce. Makes 9 servings.

Butter Brickle Sauce: Combine 1 package butter brickle frosting mix with 2 tablespoons light corn syrup and 3 tablespoons soft butter in top of double boiler. Stir in ⅔ cup milk gradually. Heat over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cover and store in refrigerator. Makes 2 cups sauce.

RASPBERRY MELBA SAUCE

1 (10 oz.) package frozen raspberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Thaw and drain raspberries. Slowly stir raspberry syrup into cornstarch until smooth. Heat and stir until thickened and clear. Put remaining raspberries through sieve and stir into thickened sauce. Add lemon juice. Chill.

PEAR GINGY WAFFLES

1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pears
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 package gingerbread mix

Drain pears and measure 1 cup syrup. Add pear syrup to cornstarch and salt and cook, stirring, until clear and thickened. Cool. Whip cream until stiff and fold in vanilla and thickened pear syrup.

Prepare gingerbread mix according to directions on package. Bake in 350-degree waffle iron until crisp and brown. Serve each section of waffle topped with canned pear half and fluffy whipped cream topping. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE PEAR CREPES

Buttered Orange Sauce:

1 can (1 lb.) Bartlett pear halves
¼ cup butter
1½ cups powdered sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Drain pear halves reserving syrup for Pear Crepes. Melt butter and stir in powdered sugar, juices and orange peel. Bring to a boil. Add drained pear halves. Keep warm while making crepes.

PEAR CREPES:

3 eggs
½ cup milk
1 cup biscuit mix
½ cup pear syrup

Beat eggs and milk together. Slowly add biscuit mix, beating until smooth. Stir in pear syrup. Refrigerate at least 1 hour. For each crepe, pour 1 tablespoon batter in 5-inch hot buttered skillet. Quickly turn skillet in circular motion to spread batter. When golden brown on bottom turn and cook on other side. Dip each crepe in buttered orange sauce and fold in quarters. Arrange pear halves and crepes in chafing dish and pour buttered orange sauce over all. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PEAR MACAROON COBBLER

1 (1 lb.) can Bartlett pears
1 (11-oz.) can Mandarin oranges
1 (3 oz.) package orange-flavored gelatin
½ cup butter
1 (13 oz.) package macaroon mix

Drain pears and Mandarin oranges. Measure 1½ cups combined syrups. Arrange pear halves and orange segments in bottom of 8-inch square baking dish. Sprinkle with gelatin and pour combined fruit syrups over all. Cut butter into macaroon mix until crumbly. Sprinkle evenly over fruit. Bake for 35-40 minutes in 350 degree oven. Chill. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream topping, if desired. Makes 9 servings.

Wine Will Flavor, Tenderize And Add Seasoning To Roast

A pot roast dinner is fine for the family, but most good cooks feel they should dress it up some if they serve it for company. Fortunately, there's an easy way to present it in style: add wine.

There is general agreement as to the type of wine that goes best with pot roast. Ask a dozen people and they'll probably all agree that a dry red wine is most satisfying.

Some pot roast recipes call for marinating the meat in wine for several hours or as long as three or four days. In that case enough wine is required to half cover the meat. It is assumed that with frequent turning, the wine will flavor and tenderize all of the meat. In the recipe below, wine is used as the flavoring during the cooking period. Cooking time is sufficiently long so that there will also be some tenderizing, but the essential reason for adding it here, is for seasoning. Half a cup of Burgundy, or another dry red wine, will suffice. Wine left from the previous night's dinner or some of the same type of wine to be served with the pot roast will be suitable for use in cooking it.

BURGUNDY POT ROAST

(Serves 4 or 5)

3 to 3½ pound boneless beef pot roast
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons shortening or oil
1 onion, sliced
½ teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons shortening or oil
1 onion, sliced
½ cup burgundy or other red dinner wine
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons chili sauce or canned green chile salsa

Rub meat well with flour mixed with paprika, celery and garlic salts. Brown meat slowly and well on all sides in heated shortening. Add onion, wine and water; stir in all remaining seasonings. Cover tightly and simmer until meat is tender, 2 to 2½ hours. Serve with butter-dressed boiled vegetables.

After a hearty dinner, the dessert should be refreshingly light. Fruits in wine are excellent. This is a recipe to keep on hand the year around, varying the fruits depending on the season.

GOLDEN FRUIT CUP

(Serves 6)

1 cup Sauterne or other white dinner wine
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
½ cup canned apricot nectar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dash of salt
1 quart prepared fruit (below)

Combine wine, sugar and orange peel in a saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add apricot nectar, lemon juice and salt. When completely cool, pour over fruit. Cover and chill several hours before serving.

PREPARED FRUIT

Use any desired combination of fruits — fresh, canned or frozen. Peel, dice or slice as necessary. Frozen fruits should be thawed; both frozen and canned fruits should be well drained.

SUGGESTED FRUITS

Canned peach slices, pitted canned dark red, sweet cherries, canned or frozen pineapple chunks, sliced bananas, orange sections, grapefruit sections, sliced canned pears, fresh or frozen red raspberries (added just before serving). For an extra-quick fruit compote, pour the above syrup over 1 quart drained canned fruits-for-salad and chill thoroughly.

Try A New Flavor Mate When Liver Is On Menu

Onions and bacon have escorted many a serving of liver to the dinner table. Why not try this variety meat with still another companion? Make it mushrooms.

Mushrooms in stems and pieces do not contribute too much to the cost of the entree, but they do add style, especially when combined with soy sauce, coriander and parsley flakes.

An excellent source of several valuable nutrients including iron, liver should be served often. When treated to seasonings like these and careful cooking, it can be a welcome dish.

LIVER AND MUSHROOMS

1 pound beef or pork liver, sliced ½-inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ teaspoon ground coriander
½ teaspoon parsley flakes
¼ cup water

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge liver in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Add mushrooms and liquid, soy sauce, coriander, parsley flakes and water. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. 4 servings.

Sausalito Tour Offers Cross-Section

The annual Sausalito House Tour and Champagne Party benefitting the Sausalito Cooperative Nursery School will be held on Oct. 26. Offered will be a cross-section of Sausalito living with two "hill houses," a bachelor apartment and two houseboats. One of these is the 88-year-old ferryboat of well known Sausalito artist Jean Varda.

Transportation to all houses on the tour will be available from the Sausalito Inn adjacent to Vina Del Mar Park. Shuttle service will leave at 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m., returning after the tour for a champagne party.

Tickets may be obtained by calling the Sausalito Cooperative Nursery School.

The hill house of the Jose Fidanques at 199 Bulkley is three years old, originally designed by architect John M. Davis for himself. The spacious entryway and living room are paneled in rough-sawn redwood with heart-of-redwood trim, and there is extravagant use of hand-made tile in the entryway and on kitchen floors.

The butterfly picture by interior designer Frances Stock Golden in the living room is the one concession to hiding the paneling.

The dramatically sky-lighted kitchen is the center of all parties. One upstairs bedroom has a magnificent Tole double bed with elaborate mother-of-pearl decoration.

The apartment complex of Harry Smith at 77 Bulkley, designed by Campbell Wong Associates, won an AIA and American Home award of merit in 1964. It has a warm yet restrained use of color. Furnishings include a dining room table of stainless steel and verdigris Italian granite and glass and oil-rubbed bronze lamps.

The bedroom "headboard" was the mantel from the fireplace of the shingled mansion originally occupying this site. Stained glass light in the hallway is a remodeled footlight from the Fox Theater. Silk tape on the natural linen Roman shades emphasizes the 10-foot ceilings throughout. Ample deck area is used for entertaining.

"Villa Sorrento" at 33 San Carlos belonging to Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Booth proclaims its Iberian motif by the entryway and continues it throughout the house. There are magnificent city views from almost every room.

Entrance is through a landscaped garden patio containing a Portuguese tile fountain. For the patio sculpture "The General" by John Buttenburg, a special process was used whereby the actual Italian officer's uniform was replaced with bronze.

The entryway sculpture "The Juggler" is by Bernice Krussoy, and there is a large collection of paintings featuring Frank Ashly and an unusual collection of antique military prints from the Louvre. In the garage are two Rolls Royces of 1929 and 1966 vintages.

THE WATERFRONT skyline has been altered by the houseboat of the Christopher Robertses at Gate Five Road by his ingenuity and design sense. With the help of two friends he has erected a soaring structure on an old barge which his family has occupied for only a few months.

Baronial table and chairs were made by Mr. Roberts. Nearby is a 64-foot piledriver, which he intends to enclose in transparent fiberglass as a waterfront observation tower.

Artist Varda's ferryboat at Gate Five Road is a "found object" elevated to a statement of personal style. Varda has lived in the 88-year-old former San Francisco-Oakland Ferry for 17 years. Of interest is the wine bottle fireplace with back lighting. Art throughout is by special friends and Varda.

He made the professional puppet theater for his daughter. The other half of the ferryboat is occupied by Alan Watts.

The 'Leggy Look' Dominates California Designer Styles

By DORIS KLEIN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ladies with bad legs might as well forget next year's fashionable sportswear, say California's designers.

The leggy look dominated the opening Monday of the California Fashion Creators' preview of resort and summer wear at the Century Plaza Hotel.

Pants, dresses and skirts all hovered four and five inches above the knee and one designer — Alex Coleman — shocked the fashion editors when he suggested that the blouses with slacks could be worn by themselves as mini-dresses, six inches below the waist.

IT WAS EITHER dresses divided into pants or pants that looked like dresses in every collection.

There were mini-pants, bloomers, pleated, wrapped, buttoned in the back and even long pants.

Koret of California even showed pant kilts and White Stag displayed pant dresses which could be accompanied by their own hipbone-length mini coats.

The newest mini outfit was the "scromper" designed by Charm of California. It is a bloomer one-piece playsuit worn under a variety of short skirts, some dirndl style and others pleated.

THE TEEN-AGE SET will probably find a new heroine in Patsi, a series of short, feminine mini dresses designed by Miss Pat to go with their own mod accessories—fishnet hose, dangling earrings and low shoes with chunky heels.

Besides watching their legs, the ladies will have to watch their waistlines next summer. The newest dresses have cinched-in waistlines, circled with patent leather crushed belts and sashes. Or else they are stitched and cut so they follow a girl's figure.

And they'll have to watch their bosoms, too, if they want to get into the no-bra party dresses designed by Edena Boutique.

The dresses allow the wearer only a bit of stiff, built-in fabric for insulation.

THE ONLY TIME legs will be covered will be in the still very popular floor length patio dresses. Malia of Hawaii includes a group of sumptuously patterned patio dresses and palazzo pajamas in her collection.

Several new fabrics were used. They included a permanent pressed linen by Koret of California called Dura-Linen which was one-third linen, one-third polyester, and one-third rayon.

Koret of California even showed pant kilts and White Stag displayed pant dresses which could be accompanied by their own hipbone-length mini coats.

The newest mini outfit was the "scromper" designed by Charm of California. It is a bloomer one-piece playsuit worn under a variety of short skirts, some dirndl style and others pleated.

THE TEEN-AGE SET will probably find a new heroine in Patsi, a series of short, feminine mini dresses designed by Miss Pat to go with their own mod accessories—fishnet hose, dangling earrings and low shoes with chunky heels.

Besides watching their legs, the ladies will have to watch their waistlines next summer. The newest dresses have cinched-in waistlines, circled with patent leather crushed belts and sashes. Or else they are stitched and cut so they follow a girl's figure.

And they'll have to watch their bosoms, too, if they want to get into the no-bra party dresses designed by Edena Boutique.

The dresses allow the wearer only a bit of stiff, built-in fabric for insulation.

THE ONLY TIME legs will be covered will be in the still very popular floor length patio dresses. Malia of Hawaii includes a group of sumptuously patterned patio dresses and palazzo pajamas in her collection.

Several new fabrics were used. They included a permanent pressed linen by Koret of California called Dura-Linen which was one-third linen, one-third polyester, and one-third rayon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Messy-Haired Old Gal Transforms Self To Neat, Trim Wife For Love

DEAR HELEN:

I just had to pass on to "Heartbroken," whose husband has found someone else, a bit of advice.

My dear husband also started following the skirts. Being his wife for 20 years, I knew something was wrong. So I took paper in hand and listed what was wrong with me — from a husband's point of view. I started listening to his small complaints and added these to my list.

After two weeks, I set a "new me" in action. First I tinted my hair to its pre-gray color. Then I lost five pounds, bought close-fitting, short skirts, flattering shoes, a nice gown and robe. I added wine with his favorite dishes; set the alarm so I was up 10 minutes before him, this to transform me from the messy-haired old gal to the neat, trim little wife. Ten minutes before he is due home, I spend "making me up."

It took my man two weeks to notice the changes. Then he asked if I was interested in someone else. I told him, "No, I've just fallen for you all over again." In a month, his affairs were settled, and our affair had just begun. That was five years ago, Helen, and I still work at being his "affair." We have such fun, being truly in love.

I've never mentioned the other women, but he knows I knew. To accuse him might break that special feeling.

Here are my two lists and what I did about them:

Faults I Found With Myself

1. Graying hair, and a bit overweight. I tried a tint, an attractive cut and constant set; and a good diet.

2. Sleeps in, no breakfast. Now I'm up and perking every a.m. And I look like I enjoy it!

3. Always in slacks. No more! Unless they're feminine looking.

4. Too many lists which involve my husband. I no longer treat him as a handyman and errand-runner.

5. House clean but not really tidy. I have a regular pick-up detail each afternoon now.

6. Ironing never quite done. A new rule: iron husband's things first, the rest is easy.

7. Small talk very small indeed — my main subjects: children, housework, etc. I joined a study session, got interested in social work, began to read good books and articles, stopped talking about me," substituted, "you," and learned to listen.

Husband's Occasional Complaints

1. Too much time on telephone in p.m. I told my friends to call during the day.

2. Supper slapped on and off. Nowadays meals are planned and I never leave the table until after my husband does.

3. "How do you find mail in this house?" Now it's on his dresser.

4. "Why can't we have clean sheets twice a week?'' Unreasonable? A small concession if it makes him happy. I even change the pillow cases each day and rub some of his after-shave powder into the sheets for a nice fragrance.

5. "You're never ready on time." Now I'm ahead of time. Takes planning!

6. "I'm not your father." Now I call him "Honey," never "Dad."

7. "Not shopping again!" I learned to drive and don't ask him to shop with me.

8. "Sure wish we had a boy so we could go fishing." Meet Mrs. Fisherwoman!

9. "You smoke too much." Not any more.

10. You're never ready for bed or love. Now I'm the first one in bed and have learned that men like their women eager.

Hope this helps a few "Heartbroken." — SMART AND HAPPY

DEAR S AND H:

It will, it will! And those who ignore your letter may need help the most. In fact, they may even find it pinned to their pillowcase tonight. — H.

BEFORE YOUR BABY COMES

Plenty Of Old Wives' Tales Will Pop Up—Forget Them!

Ninth in a 10-part series on care during pregnancy for a healthy child and mother, written by Virginia Apgar, M.D. for the National Foundation, March of Dimes.

DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT!

That you always get fat when you're having a baby.

If you had no "trouble" without prenatal care for your first baby, you'll be safe with later ones.

You lose a tooth for every baby.

If you drink wine, it will make good blood.

The baby will "choke to death" by the cord if you exercise.

You have to eat for two, so you can eat twice as much.

Your baby will "stick to your back" if you sleep a lot.

Lemons, oranges and grapefruit are too "acid" and bad for you.

What you look at will "mark your baby."

Cheese and milk make you constipated.

A fall or a blow will surely bring on a miscarriage.

What you eat and drink doesn't matter.

Mother, grandmother, auntie, or an older neighbor who has several children, can tell you all you need to know.

Margarine is not as "fattening" as butter.

What you listen to will "change" your baby.

A "shock" — like a death in the family — will "bring on" early labor pains and make you lose your baby.

Sour cream is not as "fattening" as sweet cream.

What you think about will "hurt" your baby.

It's your "fault" (or sin) if your baby is born with a defect.

Go to the dentist at the beginning of your pregnancy for a dental check-up. If work needs to be done on your teeth, have it done at once. Tell the dentist you are pregnant, so he will give you only local anesthesia, if you need any. Tell him you are pregnant, so he can take precautions if he X-rays your teeth. And brush your teeth after every meal.

Take a walk every day. It is the best exercise for a pregnant woman. And ask your doctor what other exercise you should take. If you swim, play tennis, golf, go horseback riding, sailing — tell your doctor. He will tell you how active you may be.

Wear low heels—around the house, around the town, in the city, in the country, when you go to the doctor or the clinic. Wear low heels when you go to the movies or even a ball. A low heel is about an inch or an inch and half high. Flats are flat — so don't wear them.

Wear comfortable clothes — at all times. Don't wear clothes that are tight or pinch at waist, or armhole or the neckline. No tight belts. No tight skirts. If you buy maternity clothes, choose crisp, young styles.

Take a warm bath or shower every day. (Not hot — not cold.) After you pass your seventh month, take a shower — not a tub bath — or wash yourself at the bathroom basin every day. Ask your doctor about how he wants you to bathe.

Go to the toilet for a bowel movement every day. If you have trouble, tell your doctor.

Eat your meals at regular times each day. Relax at the table. Chew all your food well. And make sure that what you eat is what the doctor ordered.

Lie down each day — for ten minutes, a half-hour, an hour. Lie down long enough to get some rest. If you rush through your days, always active and busy, you may be doing too much.

Wash your hair at least once a week. And brush it every day. Keep it shining.

Put on make-up every day. First, make up in the morning. Then new, clean make-up just before your husband comes home. Powder, lipstick, perfume. Remember — you're a woman at one of the liveliest times of your life — so look lovely. Curl your hair. Curl your eyelashes. Curl up your lips in a smile. Look pretty and you'll feel pretty.

Marin Churchwomen Will Attend Rally

Three members of the Women's Missionary Society of Bethel Baptist Church in Novato will participate in the fall rally of the Golden Gate Association of American Baptist Women of Northern California to be held at 10 a.m., Thursday at the host church, the First Baptist Church of San Francisco.

Miss Lucillia Gallecanoa, missionary to the Phillipines, will be featured speaker. Attending from Novato will be Mesdames Milford Carroll, Hubert Cole and William Olsen.

New Library Guild Officer Enjoys Gardening, Traveling

A member of the guild 10 years, she has served as vice president, secretary and coordinator of librarians.

She said the purpose of the guild is to stimulate interest in good reading and to make books available not only to parishioners but to anyone interested. Plans for the year include three informal meetings in members homes and four meetings in the lower hall of the school, ending with a luncheon in May.

A review of "A Man For All Seasons" and other books pertaining to his times will be the program for the first meeting.

A graduate of Castelleja School in Palo Alto, she attended Mills College two years. She and her husband, a manufacturer, have lived in Marin 27 years and have two married sons, Peter Goldstone of Sacramento who has a daughter, and Kenneth Goldstone of Tiburon, who has two sons.

Other new officers of the guild are Mrs. Earl Miller, vice president; Emily Maraccini, secretary; and Mrs. Ralph Murphy, treasurer. Mrs. John Bluth is past president, and Ethel Powers will handle publicity.

Rosarium 175 Plans Halloween Party

Rosarium Institute 175, Young Ladies Institute, will combine business with pleasure on Thursday, when members will assemble in St. Patrick's Hall, Larkspur, at 8:15 p.m. for a Halloween party and meeting.

Costumes will be required dress for what promises to be a festive occasion. Mrs. Edward Albertoni, chairman, is being assisted by Miss Irene Tomasi and Mesdames Anthony Silva, Charles Keppel, Leo Simon and George McDevitt.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at Isabel Cook School auditorium in San Anselmo. Chairmen are Mrs. Harry Stamper and Mrs. Joseph R. Wardell, who announce that the sale is the major fund-raising effort of the Cook School Parent-Teacher Association this year. Baked foods will be sold during the sale.

'SAFARI INTO FASHION'

An African theme was appropriate yesterday in the heat of Indian summer for the Welcome Wagon Club of Marin lunch and show at the Marin Country Club in Novato. From left, modeling are Mesdames Paul Quandt, Jay Barker and Frank Palcanis. The annual charity event will benefit the Trainable Mentally Retarded School in Santa Venetia.

Special Education Topics For Meet

The Marin County Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children will meet tomorrow at Ramona's restaurant in San Rafael at 7:30 p.m.

The speakers will be Mrs. Mary Ann Newcombe and Dirk West. Mrs. Newcombe will describe the special education program in Uruguay and Mr. West will discuss current legislation relevent to special education.

Clean Appliances

New Horizons Chapter Sets Carnival De Elegance Ball

New Horizons Chapter of the City of Hope will have its second annual Carnival de Elegance Ball Saturday at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco. Cocktails and the carnival fun will begin at 7 p.m., with dinner and dancing to follow, beginning at 9 p.m.

Committee members for the evening are Marinites, Mesdames Vince Correnti of San Rafael, decorations; Allen Weinroth of Novato awards; Donald Kamler of San Rafael, finance; Jerry Rodnick of Tiburon, reservations; Richard Friedman of Tiburon, publicity, and Messrs. Correnti and Cecil Pharris, games.

Proceeds will go to the City of Hope hospital in Duarte.

Aube-Lyman Rite At Holy Innocents'

The Rev. Tod W. Ewald, pastor of the Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera, officiated on Saturday for the wedding of Linda Lee Lyman of Piedmont and his nephew, Karl Eugene Aube of Alameda.

For her wedding the bride wore a white classic gown of peau de soie accented with seed pearls.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in Empire moss green gowns were Mrs. Betty Lystra of Santa Rosa, matron of honor, and Ramona Salem of Newport Beach, bridesmaid.

Duane Evans of Alameda was best man and Patrick Lyman of Travis Air Force Base, the bride's brother, and Ronald Ringlien of Tiburon, were ushers.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Mary J. Aube of El Paso, Tex., was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California. He is a lighting consultant with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in Oakland.

The couple will live in Piedmont.

Aube-Lyman Rite At Holy Innocents'

The Rev. Tod W. Ewald, pastor of the Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church in Corte Madera, officiated on Saturday for the wedding of Linda Lee Lyman of Piedmont and his nephew, Karl Eugene Aube of Alameda.

For her wedding the bride wore a white classic gown of peau de soie accented with seed pearls.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in Empire moss green gowns were Mrs. Betty Lystra of Santa Rosa, matron of honor, and Ramona Salem of Newport Beach, bridesmaid.

Duane Evans of Alameda was best man and Patrick Lyman of Travis Air Force Base, the bride's brother, and Ronald Ringlien of Tiburon, were ushers.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Mary J. Aube of El Paso, Tex., was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the University of California. He is a lighting consultant with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in Oakland.

The couple will live in Piedmont.

NANCY JONES

Nancy Jones Will Wed Bob McGraw

Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Hillery D. Jones of Novato are announcing the engagment of their daughter, Nancy, to Bob McGraw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McGraw of El Paso, Tex.

Nancy is the sister of Barbara, Marilyn and Brian Jones of Novato. She was graduated from Mannheim High School in Germany and is a post graduate student at Brigham Young University where she received her B.A. degree.

Bob is the brother of Carl Russell McGraw of Austin, Tex. He attended New Mexico State University and Texas Western in El Paso. He has a A.B. degree in music education and is a band instructor in the El Paso City School system.

The couple both served on two-year mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Nancy served in Germany and Bob served in Eastern Canada.

The couple will be married in the Oakland Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints on Dec. 27.

BALLET AT COLLEGE

Luis Fandino and Jose Mata, dancers of the National Ballet of Mexico, strike a pose from one of the dances they will perform at the College of Marin Friday at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. They are among 30 members of a troupe which performs music and dances covering a range from numbers of Mayan origin to 19th century European waltzes.

Percy Continues Harping On LBJ Credibility Gap

CHICAGO (AP)—The American people don't believe the Johnson administration is telling them what it is doing or doing what it claims, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said today.

The country, he said "is facing a crisis of confidence in its leadership." He charged the administration with "mismanagement of our national affairs."

Percy's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Percy, considered by some observers as a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president next year, continued the sharp attacks he has been making on President Johnson's handling of the office.

"The people don't believe that the administration is saying what it does or doing what it says," Percy asserted.

Recalling that former President Harry S. Truman blamed Republicans for the nation's problems in his 1948 campaign, Percy predicted that Johnson would do the same in the 1968 presidential race.

Earlier, a New Jersey newspaper official said that newspapers have a lot to learn about personnel and they are trying to learn it before it is too late.

Plant Blast Injures Two In Sausalito

Two men were burned, one severely, in an explosion and fire yesterday afternoon at a Sausalito window shade plant.

James Peterson, 23, of 153 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was in serious condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with third degree burns of the face, hands, arms and legs. Otis Ames, 18, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, was treated at the hospital for burns on both hands.

The explosion occurred at 3:35 p.m. in a room at Shades, Inc., 3001 Bridgeway, where Peterson and Ames were dipping window shades into paint.

Foreman Arthur Uland, who was approaching the dip room at the time of the blast, ran in and pulled Peterson from the room, Ames escaping at the same time.

Uland and other workmen wielded extinguishers and the plant sprinkler system helped subdue the fire until the fire department arrived to finish the job, firemen donning gas masks against the toxic paint fumes.

Cause of the explosion and fire is under investigation. Fire damage was moderate, firemen said today.

Medal Of Honor To Be Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 20th Medal of Honor of the Vietnam war has been awarded to Army 1st Lt. James A. Gardner of Dyersburg, Tenn., who was killed while personally destroying five Communist bunkers.

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, acting for President Johnson, will present the medal to Gardner's former wife, Mrs. Joella Gardner Rosler of Clarksville, Tenn., in a Pentagon ceremony tomorrow.

Gardner's mother, Mrs. Lonnie Patterson of Dyersburg, also will be present.

Fairfax Drivers Car Into Swamp

A Fairfax woman escaped with head scrapes and bruises yesterday after her northbound car swerved off Shoreline Highway into a swamp between Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

The California Highway Patrol reported the accident happened at 3:50 p.m.

Passersby pulled Bea McAnallan, 45, of 212 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, from her partly submerged car and she was taken by a Stinson Beach Fire Department ambulance to Marin General Hospital for treatment.

Circus Tightrope Performer Falls

BOSTON (AP)—a 30-year-old tightrope performer with the Moscow Circus suffered bruises when she fell about 10 feet from a pedestal during her act last night.

Nina Logatsheva, who specializes in performing ballet on the tightrope, was treated at a hospital and discharged.

A circus spokesman said a bolt supporting one of two stands used to hold the rope sheered in two causing it to collapse. Some 10,000 persons in the opening night audience at Boston Garden witnessed the accident.

Alioto Opposes A Second Deck

Opposition to a second deck on Golden Gate Bridge was made a campaign issue yesterday in San Francisco's Mayoral race.

Candidate Joseph L. Alioto told some 600 supporters, members of the "Hellenic Committee for Alioto," that double-decking would "pour more traffic into San Francisco and convert our downtown into one vast parking lot."

At the meeting in the Mills Building, he said the proposed deck would do "irreparable harm" and opposed "ramming more freeways through our beautiful city."

Pills Being Tried Against Cholesterol

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Testing of anti-cholesterol pills for control of heart disease was reported yesterday at a meeting preliminary to the convention later this week of the American Heart Association.

Dr. Robert Wilkins of the Boston University Medical Center said nearly 2,000 men who have recoverd from coronary attacg are participating in experiments going on several months.

The purpose of the pills is to reduce the amount of cholesterol, a blood fat believed to contribute to heart trouble, in the patients.

Various pills being tested are CPIB, a British developed chemical; a vitamin nicotinic acid preparation; the female sex hormone estradiol and a thyroid hormone preparation.

Wilkins, a pioneer in the introduction of resperpine for control of high blood pressure, said the results seem to be achieved with the CPIB.

But he said years of research will be needed before the new drugs may be put into widespread use.

Hub Resident Missing On Visalia Bus Trip

San Anselmo police have issued an all points bulletin for a missing person, Onnie T. Minyard, 69, of 1535 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

His daughter, Vicky L. Nakagawa of the same address, told police she put her father on a bus for Visalia at 1:10 p.m. Sunday, but he did not reach his destination. Minyard is five feet, eight inches tall, and weighs 130 pounds.

Solano Approves College Bonds

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Solano County voters have overwhelmingly approved a $12.6 million junior college construction bond issue.

Solano JC officials said the last successful junior college bond issue they could remember was the Peralta District issue in Alameda County in 1965.

Officials estimated that some 30 bond issues have been defeated by junior college district voters since then, including three successive setbacks in Santa Barbara JC and Contra Costa JC districts.

The $12.6 million will be used to provide a new junior college in Suisun Valley midway between Fairfield and Vallejo.

BALLET AT COLLEGE

Luis Fandino and Jose Mata, dancers of the National Ballet of Mexico, strike a pose from one of the dances they will perform at the College of Marin Friday at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. They are among 30 members of a troupe which performs music and dances covering a range from numbers of Mayan origin to 19th century European waltzes.

Percy Continues Harping On LBJ Credibility Gap

CHICAGO (AP)—The American people don't believe the Johnson administration is telling them what it is doing or doing what it claims, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said today.

The country, he said "is facing a crisis of confidence in its leadership." He charged the administration with "mismanagement of our national affairs."

Percy's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Percy, considered by some observers as a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president next year, continued the sharp attacks he has been making on President Johnson's handling of the office.

"The people don't believe that the administration is saying what it does or doing what it says," Percy asserted.

Recalling that former President Harry S. Truman blamed Republicans for the nation's problems in his 1948 campaign, Percy predicted that Johnson would do the same in the 1968 presidential race.

Earlier, a New Jersey newspaper official said that newspapers have a lot to learn about personnel and they are trying to learn it before it is too late.

Circus Tightrope Performer Falls

BOSTON (AP)—a 30-year-old tightrope performer with the Moscow Circus suffered bruises when she fell about 10 feet from a pedestal during her act last night.

Nina Logatsheva, who specializes in performing ballet on the tightrope, was treated at a hospital and discharged.

A circus spokesman said a bolt supporting one of two stands used to hold the rope sheered in two causing it to collapse. Some 10,000 persons in the opening night audience at Boston Garden witnessed the accident.

Plant Blast Injures Two In Sausalito

Two men were burned, one severely, in an explosion and fire yesterday afternoon at a Sausalito window shade plant.

James Peterson, 23, of 153 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was in serious condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with third degree burns of the face, hands, arms and legs. Otis Ames, 18, of 69 Cole Drive, Marin City, was treated at the hospital for burns on both hands.

The explosion occurred at 3:35 p.m. in a room at Shades, Inc., 3001 Bridgeway, where Peterson and Ames were dipping window shades into paint.

Foreman Arthur Uland, who was approaching the dip room at the time of the blast, ran in and pulled Peterson from the room, Ames escaping at the same time.

Uland and other workmen wielded extinguishers and the plant sprinkler system helped subdue the fire until the fire department arrived to finish the job, firemen donning gas masks against the toxic paint fumes.

Cause of the explosion and fire is under investigation. Fire damage was moderate, firemen said today.

Fairfax Drivers Car Into Swamp

A Fairfax woman escaped with head scrapes and bruises yesterday after her northbound car swerved off Shoreline Highway into a swamp between Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

The California Highway Patrol reported the accident happened at 3:50 p.m.

Passersby pulled Bea McAnallan, 45, of 212 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, from her partly submerged car and she was taken by a Stinson Beach Fire Department ambulance to Marin General Hospital for treatment.

Alioto Opposes A Second Deck

Opposition to a second deck on Golden Gate Bridge was made a campaign issue yesterday in San Francisco's Mayoral race.

Candidate Joseph L. Alioto told some 600 supporters, members of the "Hellenic Committee for Alioto," that double-decking would "pour more traffic into San Francisco and convert our downtown into one vast parking lot."

At the meeting in the Mills Building, he said the proposed deck would do "irreparable harm" and opposed "ramming more freeways through our beautiful city."

Medal Of Honor To Be Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 20th Medal of Honor of the Vietnam war has been awarded to Army 1st Lt. James A. Gardner of Dyersburg, Tenn., who was killed while personally destroying five Communist bunkers.

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, acting for President Johnson, will present the medal to Gardner's former wife, Mrs. Joella Gardner Rosler of Clarksville, Tenn., in a Pentagon ceremony tomorrow.

Gardner's mother, Mrs. Lonnie Patterson of Dyersburg, also will be present.

Pills Being Tried Against Cholesterol

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Testing of anti-cholesterol pills for control of heart disease was reported yesterday at a meeting preliminary to the convention later this week of the American Heart Association.

Dr. Robert Wilkins of the Boston University Medical Center said nearly 2,000 men who have recoverd from coronary attacg are participating in experiments going on several months.

The purpose of the pills is to reduce the amount of cholesterol, a blood fat believed to contribute to heart trouble, in the patients.

Various pills being tested are CPIB, a British developed chemical; a vitamin nicotinic acid preparation; the female sex hormone estradiol and a thyroid hormone preparation.

Wilkins, a pioneer in the introduction of resperpine for control of high blood pressure, said the results seem to be achieved with the CPIB.

But he said years of research will be needed before the new drugs may be put into widespread use.

Hub Resident Missing On Visalia Bus Trip

San Anselmo police have issued an all points bulletin for a missing person, Onnie T. Minyard, 69, of 1535 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

His daughter, Vicky L. Nakagawa of the same address, told police she put her father on a bus for Visalia at 1:10 p.m. Sunday, but he did not reach his destination. Minyard is five feet, eight inches tall, and weighs 130 pounds.

Solano Approves College Bonds

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Solano County voters have overwhelmingly approved a $12.6 million junior college construction bond issue.

Solano JC officials said the last successful junior college bond issue they could remember was the Peralta District issue in Alameda County in 1965.

Officials estimated that some 30 bond issues have been defeated by junior college district voters since then, including three successive setbacks in Santa Barbara JC and Contra Costa JC districts.

The $12.6 million will be used to provide a new junior college in Suisun Valley midway between Fairfield and Vallejo.

MAKE US PROVE THAT ALL PRESCRIPTION PRICES ARE NOT THE SAME!

State code prohibits a druggist from advertising prescription prices! The only way you can find out if you are paying too much is to shop and compare prices!

Is Quality The Same?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to fill a prescription exactly as specified by the doctor. No substitution of ingredients or quality of ingredients is tolerated and this is enforced under strict penalty of the law.

Is The Pharmacist Qualified?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to undergo 6 years of rigorous train- and then pass exacting qualifying examinations before he is permitted to fill your prescription. He must be careful, precise and professionally competent.

Then Why Do Prices Vary?

For the same reason they do in almost any business! Store policy, cost of overhead, volume purchasing . . . these are the major reasons. Some charge more because they sell less. (Perhaps that's why they sell less!). Some because of high overhead cost. (Again, probably because they sell less!). Some even build a reputation by charging more. (Strange in view of the fact that there is no difference in quality!). Some build a reputation for charging less but they really don't. (Too many prescription buyers just take price for granted!). Some do sell for less but prescription prices cannot be advertised. (It's up to you to find out!)

How To Buy A Prescription

It's really one of the easiest things to shop because you are absolutely assured of quality and that leaves price the one and only difference between quotes. You have every right to take your prescription to a pharmacy and ask him to quote his price. You don't have to have it filled until you are satisfied. If you have a standing prescription, your doctor will gladly provide you with another one. This is as good as the original. Don't "lock" yourself in . . . shop and compare!

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to undergo 6 years of rigorous train- and then pass exacting qualifying examinations before he is permitted to fill your prescription. He must be careful, precise and professionally competent.

Then Why Do Prices Vary?

For the same reason they do in almost any business! Store policy, cost of overhead, volume purchasing . . . these are the major reasons. Some charge more because they sell less. (Perhaps that's why they sell less!). Some because of high overhead cost. (Again, probably because they sell less!). Some even build a reputation by charging more. # Nuns Finish Helping Out Troubled Marin Families

By DON BRANNING

The Sisters of Social Service, an order of Catholic nuns dealing with families in trouble, have finished their jobs here after 30 years and are being transferred to other posts.

There are four of them here, of an order founded in Hungary in 1908. Sisters Madeleine, Davida, Rosaleen and Monique were packing up this week in a roomy old house at 1327 Lincoln Avenue which they have occupied hince 1941.

Their jobs will be filled by lay social workers at the Catholic Social Service, 179 Los Ranchitos Road.

Sister Madeleine, a calm, hazel-eyed woman with gray hair in a neat bun, says alcohol, infidelity, unrealistic expectations of each other by men and women are among the main reasons some Catholic families here "are suffering tremendous threats to their cohesion."

Working with these sad failures of communication within families over the years, she has discovered that, far from thinking too well of themselves, most people in those situations don't like themselves well enough.

"When people find that they have expected too much of the other person," said Sister Madeleine, "they frequently do not have enough self esteem to cope with the disappointment.

"You can't say that they are not communicating. They are communicating like mad. The husband goes into the kitchen and pours himself a stiff drink. The wife slams into the bedroom."

Disintegrating marriages frequently have the roughest kind of problems. Often spelled s-e-x. Will they level with a Catholic nun?

"I'm not shy if they're not," said Sister Madeleine, who has not a trace of bluff.

Unhappy Catholic families are no different from other unhappy families. The "religious neurosis" is occasionally encountered, she said, someone expecting a little miracle from the good Sister. "I call this manipulating God," she said.

Sister Madeleine, a former secretary from Long Beach, became a member of the Order about 10 years ago after doing some volunteer work at juvenile detention hall in Los Angeles. "It seemed to me, working there, that they had all the kids in cages," she said. "The experience affected me very deeply."

She will go to a new post with a Catholic agency in Vallejo. Sister Davida goes to the Catholic Youth Organization in San Francisco, Sister Rosaleen to a poor parish in Oakland and Sister Monique to youth work in San Diego. Friday will be their last day in the old house on Lincoln Avenue.

Gamecock, Gaff Charges Denied

Innocent pleas to having gamecocks and making gaffs for the fighting birds were entered in Marin Munincipal Court yesterday by Charles A. Frazier of Stinson Beach.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. scheduled setting of trial for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Frazier, who did not appear yesterday but was represented by his attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., is accused of raising the cocks on his small farm north of Stinson Beach. He also allegedly manufactured hundreds of the steel gaffs in a machine shop behind his home.

Sewer Board Hikes Own Pay

In an unannounced move last night, the Novato Sanitary District Board voted a pay increase for itself, reported Charles Joseph, engineer-manager of the district.

The increase in pay was from $25 to $40 per meeting and the increase in the maximum per month was from $75 to $120 per month, Joseph said.

The item was added to the agenda of the meeting after it started and was passed without debate, Joseph said. Commissioner Clayton D. Payne made the motion which was seconded by Carlos Rivamonte. It passed unanimously.

PAY PER MEETING

Their pay per meeting was mentioned two weeks ago at the board meeting when it voted to give all employees a straight 5 per cent across the board increase, Joseph said.

The board approved the recommendation of the joint staff committee on a study of possible mergers of the Novato Sanitary District with either the City of Novato or the North Marin County Water District, said Joseph.

The board rejected the two modifying conditions which were voted last week by the North Marin County Water District board, Joseph said.

These were that the staff of the Local Agency Formation Commission be asked to help with the study and that the study be completed by Feb. 1.

POSSIBLE MERGERS

The boards of the Novato Sanitary District, the North Marin County Water District and the Novato City Council authorized a preliminary study by their staffs on the possible mergers. The staff report was submitted to the water board last week.

This report will come before the Novato City Council next Tuesday.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

STUDY — Asked that the North Marin County Water District board not take any action on furnishing sewer service to the area along San Antonio Creek at Highway 101 until the Marin County master plan of sewers is completed, Joseph said.

MEETING — Set meeting dates for Nov. 13 and 27.

BILLS — Paid $35.969 in bills.

Thieves Try To Take Auto Tachometer

Pickens said they apparently forced open a locked door of the vehicle parked in his carport yesterday.

10 SAID ELIGIBLE FOR POVERTY AID

Total Far Short Of Fund Requirement For San Geronimo-Nicasio, Official Says

San Geronimo-Nicasio valleys poverty survey committee has received replies from only 10 persons potentially eligible for assistance under a War on Poverty program.

Richard Poppe, co-chairman, reported that the area "doesn't have anywhere near the 50 per cent poverty requirement for an community action program" under the Economic Opportunity Council.

Through its survey the San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Action Board is seeking to find the reasons for poverty and "what services are needed," Poppe said.

SURVEY

Board members indicated that any program that might be undertaken couldn't be set until after the survey.

There have been 756 survey questionaires returned and the survey will continue, Poppe said.

Richard Kent Rupp, a former valley board member and now a member of the Economic Opportunity Council board, asked the group to clearly set forth its direction.

Rupp, who said he was speaking for himself, not as a representative of the EOC board said the EOC board doesn't know what the valley group intends to do about poverty "if you find it."

CONFUSE

Peter E. Knoedler of Woodacre said the EOC board is "more confused" than the valley board. "We know where we're going. I don't think they know where they're going."

Rupp urged the board "to come up with an official policy toward the EOC and state it." If the board doesn't want help from the EOC, there's "no problem," and if it does, it could get it," he said.

Poppe said the only way the EOC could help would be as a funding agent, but the area doesn't qualify by Office of Economic Opportunity rules for a community action program because it doesn't have 50 per cent poverty. "We'll have to help ourselves," he said.

COMMENT

There was some comment about a meeting of the EOC board last Wednesday which was attended by some members of the valley board.

Knoedler said he was "disturbed by the amount of money" handled by the EOC board, and "some of the things said" at the EOC meeting "opened my eyes to who we're dealing with."

Rupp said EOC board members are dedicated. "I don't know whether they are ineffectual, but I do know they are dedicated."

Knoedler insisted that the county should have an accounting of where the EOC funds are going.

Neighbors' Ire Gets Police In On Burglary

Two bungling burglary suspects were nabbed by San noise they were making breaknaise they were making breaking open a stolen cigarette machine was keeping the neighbors awake.

As a result of a call to police from an irate resident, officers said they grabbed not only the suspects and the machine but also a closetful of property they said was stolen.

Booked in to Marin County Jail today was Steven Wayne Mitchell, 18, of 127 Ross Street, on suspicion of grand theft and Robert Charles Baldi, 18, of the same address, suspected of possession of stolen property.

Both were scheduled to appear at Marin Municipal Court today.

Police said they responded at 2:19 a.m. to a complaint of loud noises coming from a garage at the Ross Street address.

When they arrived, they found the partly opened vending machine on the floor and the two suspects hiding in and around the building.

After questioning, Mitchell took police to a closet above the garage where officers found 19 auto tires and a car battery the suspect said had been stolen from Disco Service Station on Francisco Boulevard.

Police said the cigarette machine, containing an undetermined amount of money, had been stolen shortly before the arrest from an apartment house at 150 Belvedere Street.

Poverty Aide Firing Asked On Marijuana

A call for the firing of a War on Poverty worker, who admitted smoking marijuana, was issued last night by a Lagunitas resident.

The Independent-Journal carried a story last Friday quoting Mrs. Louise A. Lacey, Economic Opportunity Council community worker, as saying "I have been using it (marijuana) for about four years."

OBJECTION RAISED

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick said that, as a taxpayer she objected to paying someone "who has admitted that she breaks the law. I want Mrs. Lacey fired."

The story also quoted Mrs. Lacey as saying she and her husband, Buck, of Tamal Road, Forest Knolls, purchased marijuana at $10 a lid.

"She's paying $10 a lid, whatever that is, and she gets the money from her salary from the Economic Opportunity Council," Mrs. Frederick said.

DECISION DELAYED

Her comments came at a meeting of San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Action Board at Lagunitas School. She attended as a spectator.

Arthur L. Brown, chairman of the EOC board of directors, said today Mrs. Lacey's activities would be investigated by the board's personnel committee before a decision is reached.

"I haven't seen proof that she's doing it (smoking)," Brown said.

Woman Guilty In Welfare Case

Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled judgment for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 6.

Mrs. Freel, 48, of 16 Frances Street, took welfare assistance for three children from October of 1966 through February, but failed to report about $1,850 she received during that period by working at San Rafael Post Office under her former name, Mrs. Evelyn Lord.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry Herman prosecuted. Trial began Wednesday.

'GRAVY TRAIN'

War On Poverty Held Boondoggle

By ALAN JONES

The war on poverty is "the biggest hydra-headed boondoggling gravy train ever," Bettl Gardner of Woodacre charged yesterday.

"To me it's just paid votes . . . and a pattern for socialism," she told the Marin Federated Republican Women.

Mrs. Gardner cited her experience with the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council since an attempt was made to set up a poverty program in the San Geronimo Valley. Valley residents have been locked in a bitter battle with the EOC over whether a program is needed there.

SPEECH

What began as an account of the valley program ended up a stirring speech as Mrs. Gardner denounced the federal War on Poverty as wasteful, unnecessary and self-perpetuating.

Mrs. Gardner said War on Poverty officials intended to force the program on the valley, needed or not.

The county supervisors, she said, "foolishly extended" the contract with the EOC last June, a month before "this group invaded the San Geronimo Valley" and the battle was joined.

Mrs. Gardner said Arthur Brown, director of the county EOC, announced that "if they didn't find any poverty in the area, they would extend the area until they did."

Another EOC worker, she said, declared "they would give us a program whether we wanted it or not."

NOT NEEDED

The sorts of services proposed for the poverty program, she said, were not needed — taxi service for medical visits, nursery schools and the like. And the area dos not have a "high incidence" of poverty as set out in EOC guidelines, she said.

Mrs. Gardner is a member of the San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Action Board, which is conducting a survey to see whether the EOC program is needed.

Incomplete survey returns show 720 persons not eligible for aid and just eight eligible she said.

She charged the EOC board is self-perpetuating because 18 of the 30 members must be recipients of the poverty program. She said 12 are named by county supervisors while the other 18 are from Marin City "and they sit here and give orders for all of Marin County."

FEDERAL AID

The program started with 90 per cent federal financing, she said, but is scheduled to become 100 per cent locally funded "for programs over which we have no control . . . because of the self-perpetuating board."

She recommended her audience write their congressmen and other officials urging them to vote no on all poverty programs and yes on all investigations of them.

To fight the EOC locally, she recommended "keep your ears open . . . and get on a temporary target area action board." So long as a temporary board is formed, "they can't form a permanent one" and proceed with the poverty program, she said.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer "says he's against" the EOC Mrs. Gardner said, but "when it comes down to brass tacks, he doesn't say anything."

PROMISE

"It's impossible for Storer ever to keep a promise," a woman in the audience volunteered. "I found that out."

Two office workers from the EOC who attended the luncheon at Mill Valley Methodist Church to hear Mrs. Gardner's speech were attacked in the question and answer period. They declined to answer questions, saying, "We didn't come to give a speech."

One woman asked an EOC worker directly, "I'd like to ask . . . what her salary is, and what she is doing to earn that salary."

"I think that's an unfair queston," the worker answered. The rest of her reply was swallowed up in background noise, but another member of the audience said, "She makes $425 a month."

Mrs. Gardner said Victor A. Cary, running the San Rafael EOC office, is paid $12,000 a year. Arthur Brown, she said, "says he is not paid by the EOC. I think he is paid by the NAACP but I have no proof of that."

Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick said that, as a taxpayer she objected to paying someone "who has admitted that she breaks the law. I want Mrs. Lacey fired."

The story also quoted Mrs. Lacey as saying she and her husband, Buck, of Tamal Road, Forest Knolls, purchased marijuana at $10 a lid.

"She's paying $10 a lid, whatever that is, and she gets the money from her salary from the Economic Opportunity Council," Mrs. Frederick said.

DECISION DELAYED

Her comments came at a meeting of San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Action Board at Lagunitas School. She attended as a spectator.

Arthur L. Brown, chairman of the EOC board of directors, said today Mrs. Lacey's activities would be investigated by the board's personnel committee before a decision is reached.

"I haven't seen proof that she's doing it (smoking)," Brown said.

Woman Guilty In Welfare Case

Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled judgment for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 6.

Mrs. Freel, 48, of 16 Frances Street, took welfare assistance for three children from October of 1966 through February, but failed to report about $1,850 she received during that period by working at San Rafael Post Office under her former name, Mrs. Evelyn Lord.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry Herman prosecuted. Trial began Wednesday.

'GRAVY TRAIN'

War On Poverty Held Boondoggle

By ALAN JONES

The war on poverty is "the biggest hydra-headed boondoggling gravy train ever," Bettl Gardner of Woodacre charged yesterday.

"To me it's just paid votes . . . and a pattern for socialism," she told the Marin Federated Republican Women.

Mrs. Gardner cited her experience with the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council since an attempt was made to set up a poverty program in the San Geronimo Valley. Valley residents have been locked in a bitter battle with the EOC over whether a program is needed there.

SPEECH

What began as an account of the valley program ended up a stirring speech as Mrs. Gardner denounced the federal War on Poverty as wasteful, unnecessary and self-perpetuating.

Mrs. Gardner said War on Poverty officials intended to force the program on the valley, needed or not.

The county supervisors, she said, "foolishly extended" the contract with the EOC last June, a month before "this group invaded the San Geronimo Valley" and the battle was joined.

Mrs. Gardner said Arthur Brown, director of the county EOC, announced that "if they didn't find any poverty in the area, they would extend the area until they did."

Another EOC worker, she said, declared "they would give us a program whether we wanted it or not."

NOT NEEDED

The sorts of services proposed for the poverty program, she said, were not needed — taxi service for medical visits, nursery schools and the like. And the area dos not have a "high incidence" of poverty as set out in EOC guidelines, she said.

Mrs. Gardner is a member of the San Geronimo-Nicasio Valleys Target Area Action Board, which is conducting a survey to see whether the EOC program is needed.

Incomplete survey returns show 720 persons not eligible for aid and just eight eligible she said.

She charged the EOC board is self-perpetuating because 18 of the 30 members must be recipients of the poverty program. She said 12 are named by county supervisors while the other 18 are from Marin City "and they sit here and give orders for all of Marin County."

FEDERAL AID

The program started with 90 per cent federal financing, she said, but is scheduled to become 100 per cent locally funded "for programs over which we have no control . . . because of the self-perpetuating board."

She recommended her audience write their congressmen and other officials urging them to vote no on all poverty programs and yes on all investigations of them.

To fight the EOC locally, she recommended "keep your ears open . . . and get on a temporary target area action board." So long as a temporary board is formed, "they can't form a permanent one" and proceed with the poverty program, she said.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer "says he's against" the EOC Mrs. Gardner said, but "when it comes down to brass tacks, he doesn't say anything."

PROMISE

"It's impossible for Storer ever to keep a promise," a woman in the audience volunteered. "I found that out."

Two office workers from the EOC who attended the luncheon at Mill Valley Methodist Church to hear Mrs. Gardner's speech were attacked in the question and answer period. They declined to answer questions, saying, "We didn't come to give a speech."

One woman asked an EOC worker directly, "I'd like to ask . . . what her salary is, and what she is doing to earn that salary."

"I think that's an unfair queston," the worker answered. The rest of her reply was swallowed up in background noise, but another member of the audience said, "She makes $425 a month."

Mrs. Gardner said Victor A. Cary, running the San Rafael EOC office, is paid $12,000 a year. Arthur Brown, she said, "says he is not paid by the EOC. I think he is paid by the NAACP but I have no proof of that."

Fairfax Enrollment Is Well Over Prediction

Enrollment in Fairfax School District has gone way over estimates for this school year, district trustees were told last night.

As of Monday, 1,101 students were in the district's three schools, compared with an anticipated peak of 1,040, reported Mrs. Gwyneth McGee, district secretary. Enrollment last year at this time was 1,032.

Until White Hill School opens at the end of the year to seventh and eighth grades, five classes will continue to meet in multi-purpose rooms at Deer Park and Manor schools, Mrs. McGee reported.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond told trustees there was no known reason for the increase, despite a modest increase in new housing.

Fairfax School district trustees also:

Television — Received two television sets from Deer Park School Parent-Teacher Assn. for educational television programs.

Library — Heard librarian Lawrence W. Rand report he will apply for federal funds to improve library materials for seventh and eighth grades when they move into White Hill School. Amount of the grant to be sought is not yet known, he said.

Furniture — Previewed furniture for White Hill School, but put off action pending recommendations by Dr. Hammond at their Nov. 7 meeting.

Roofing —Ordered necessary roofing repairs for Deer Park School, the cost expected to be "minimal," said Mrs. McGee. Bids will be called in the spring for roof repairs to all three existing schools, trustees agreed.

Boat Lighting For Holidays

Chamber directors yesterday named Rosemary Russell and William Remak co-chairmen of the Christmas display committee. Tentative plan is to have boat owners in marinas all along the waterfront decorate their boats with Christmas lights during the season.

The directors also named Ray Roy chairman of a committee to plan a merchants' day program in February.

Latin America To Get U.S. Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today the United States is ready to authorize sale of supersonic military planes to Latin American nations.

Department officials insisted this did not represent a change of policy, although at numerous news conferences official opposition had been expressed to acquisition of such planes by Latin American nations from European countries, notably France.

"The situation does not represent a switch in policy, since we had taken the position in 1965 that we would be willing to see Latin American nations acquire limited numbers of the F5 plane, to be sold for delivery in 1969 and 1970," one official said.

Committee Named To Aid Bolinas-Stinson Schools

A 14-member building program committee was named last night by the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District Board — after a talk session with an audience of 50 — to learn why two school bond issues in the district have failed this year and how a building program can be financed.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at Bolinas School to organize.

The district needs new buildings to replace those declared unusable under the Field Act requiring school buildings to be earthquake-resistant.

District architect William Gillis discussed previous building plans. The district voters rejected building bond issues in March and June for $275,000.

The educational plan has been to set up a central school at Bolinas, which would allow a program of non-graded and team teaching.

Most of the audience indicated support for the building program.

New board member Edward Z. Lewis was named chairman pro tem of the committee. Other members are Mrs. Jean Ball, Hugh Dougherty, Mrs. Madeline O'Brien, Mrs. Gloria Conradi, Ruth Miller, all of Stinson Beach; James Albergi, John Barrow, Edward G. Letter, Manuel Peters, Erling Edvards, Robert Davidson and Craig Hansen, all of Bolinas, and Keith Oveson, Bolinas School principal.

Astronauts May Have To Be Quarantined

WASHINGTON (SS) — A Biological Isolation Garment (BIG) is being considered for use in the event that the Apollo astronauts returning from the moon do not land near the recovery forces and are forced to leave the spacecraft.

Intended to protect earth from possibly dangerous organisms brought back from the moon, a BIG for each astronaut would be dropped from a helicopter to the crewmen, who would then don them and await the recovery team. The BIG is a one-piece, loose-fitting garment with an attached headpiece. A built-in respirator filters the astronaut's exhaled air.

Sea trials have already been run in the Gulf of Mexico, in which technicians spent many hours evaluating the suit's comfort, mobility and safety.

Following the recovery, the astronauts will enter a special Mobile Quarantine Facility aboard the prime recovery vessel, where they will remain until they are transferred to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston for a quaratine stay that could last a month.

Another Nuclear Sub To Start In Vallejo

VALLEJO (UPI) — The Navy will lay the keel section for a new nuclear-powered submarine at 11:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 27 at the Mare Island Naval Base, the 16th such submarine to be built there.

The new craft will be named The Pintado. Currently there are two other nuclear submarines on the ways. They are the Guitarro and the Hawkbill.

Burglars Busy In West Marin

Cash and a .38 caliber revolver were among the items stolen last night in three burglaries in Western Marin communities which seemed to sheriff's personnel to be linked together.

Taken from Lawson's Store in Dillon Beach were the revolver, $50 in cash and a tape recorder. Entry, as in the other two thefts, was made by forcing open the front door.

The Olema post office, housed in a 100-year-old building, was looted of a strong box co taining $69.75 in cash and a number of money orders, according to Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Bertrand.

Approximately $100 in change from the juke box and pool table at Nick's Cove, north of Marshall, was also stolen.

Committee Named To Aid Bolinas-Stinson Schools

A 14-member building program committee was named last night by the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District Board — after a talk session with an audience of 50 — to learn why two school bond issues in the district have failed this year and how a building program can be financed.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at Bolinas School to organize.

The district needs new buildings to replace those declared unusable under the Field Act requiring school buildings to be earthquake-resistant.

District architect William Gillis discussed previous building plans. The district voters rejected building bond issues in March and June for $275,000.

The educational plan has been to set up a central school at Bolinas, which would allow a program of non-graded and team teaching.

Most of the audience indicated support for the building program.

New board member Edward Z. Lewis was named chairman pro tem of the committee. Other members are Mrs. Jean Ball, Hugh Dougherty, Mrs. Madeline O'Brien, Mrs. Gloria Conradi, Ruth Miller, all of Stinson Beach; James Albergi, John Barrow, Edward G. Letter, Manuel Peters, Erling Edvards, Robert Davidson and Craig Hansen, all of Bolinas, and Keith Oveson, Bolinas School principal.

Astronauts May Have To Be Quarantined

WASHINGTON (SS) — A Biological Isolation Garment (BIG) is being considered for use in the event that the Apollo astronauts returning from the moon do not land near the recovery forces and are forced to leave the spacecraft.

Intended to protect earth from possibly dangerous organisms brought back from the moon, a BIG for each astronaut would be dropped from a helicopter to the crewmen, who would then don them and await the recovery team. The BIG is a one-piece, loose-fitting garment with an attached headpiece. A built-in respirator filters the astronaut's exhaled air.

Sea trials have already been run in the Gulf of Mexico, in which technicians spent many hours evaluating the suit's comfort, mobility and safety.

Following the recovery, the astronauts will enter a special Mobile Quarantine Facility aboard the prime recovery vessel, where they will remain until they are transferred to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston for a quaratine stay that could last a month.

Coast Guard Provides Many Unusual Services

The Corinthian Yacht Club on Saturday will stage its second annual "Coast Guard Appreciation Day." A lot of boaters who don't belong to Corinthian Yacht Club could well join in this; for the Coast Guard performs unique services for boaters.

If you're driving down the highway and your engine conks out, you're in trouble. A highway patrolman may call a tow car for you, or give you a lift to a telephone. But when the tow car comes, it doesn't come free. Unless you're a dues-paying member of the American Automobile Association or National Auto Club, it will cost you a sizable sum to get your car towed to where it can be repaired.

But if your boat's engine conks out in the middle of San Francisco Bay, the Coast Guard will tow you to a yacht harbor. And there's no charge, buddy.

IF YOU RUN OUT of gasoline on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings will put five gallons in your tank — for $2.50. But if you run out of gas in your boat under the bridge, the Coast Guard will give you enough gas to get home. There's no charge, buddy.

These are just a couple of examples of the Coast Guard service which boaters are inclined to take for granted — but which no one else would expect to get from a government agency.

Last week was fairly typical on the bay. During the seven days through last Sunday, the Coast Guard logged these emergency calls: 13 engine failures, one dead battery, one fouled propeller, two capsizings, one boat aground, 11 boats adrift.

This was a light week in some ways, the Coast Guard Information Office reported. Usually there are many more boats aground, and many out of gasoline.

ANOTHER COMMON KIND of service for the Coast Guard is locating boaters who just neglect to call home. A man goes out for a day on the water, telling his wife he'll be home at such-and-such a time. When the hour passes, she gets worried. She calls the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard then begins a harbor check, calling boat harbors around the bay until it locates the missing husband. Usually, he just decided to stop off someplace and neglected to telephone home.

There's not much glamor to most of this Coast Guard work in the bay. But it keeps 15 patrol boats busy. That is the number of small boats — 30-footers and 40-footers — the Coast Guard has at work in San Francisco Bay. Augmenting them for major rescues are larger vessels and helicopters.

BESIDES THIS, the Coast Guard is responsible for issuing papers and licenses for merchant marine personnel, inspecting ships, inspecting and maintaining aids to navigation. And every so often, it is involved in a major rescue operation far at sea — the kind that gets the publicity.

There'll be a band concert by the Coast Guard Band as a feature of Saturday's "Appreciation Day" — thus the Coast Guard even provides entertainment for the program honoring it. The event will start at Corinthian Yacht Club at 1:30 p.m.

The yacht club in Tiburon deserves applause for instituting an annual tribute to the Coast Guard. Others who share in its benefits should join in the public ackowledgement.

Oceans Being Polluted, Too

Not only has man befouled the rivers, the lakes and bays, his garbage and sewerage and industrial wastes are being dumped into the world's oceans at such an ever-increasing rate that they, too, are becoming polluted.

One would think that bacterial action and the very vastness of the oceans would make any man-made pollution like the proverbial drop in the bucket. But no! Even the great Pacific, which comes booming in on Marin's shores, is being almost imperceptibly changed. Perhaps the word for it is mini-pollution.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Water Project Outlook Brighter

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When William R. Gianelli was tabbed last December to become director of water resources, he went into the job with his eyes open — knowing the state was well along with construction of a state water project for which there wasn't enough money.

This was not because of any crystal ball that Gianelli had. He formerly was an employee of the department before entering consultant engineering work. But anyone who was at all familiar with the project knew even before the $1,750,000,000 bond issue was put before the people in 1960 that this would not be enough money to complete the job.

ONE OF THE FIRST things Gianelli did after taking over as director was to have a task force appointed to study the financial implications and report to him just how bleak the picture was. This the task force did and their report generally pointed out what the worst could be. This amounted to money shortage of $300 million and a long-range shortage of $600 million.

Since the task force report, several parts of the water project have brightened. The shortage probably won't be so large as forecast.

But it still left Gianelli with a big question: Should he seek more money from the Legislature or from a bond issue submitted to the people, or should he find other ways to avert the shortage?

AT THIS STAGE, it appears Gianelli is all but committed to the latter. And he will avert the short-term shortage by delaying some features in the project. Some, in fact, may be eliminated, but they will not affect the primary purpose, which is to provide flood control on the Feather River and water for central and southern California.

In all, Gianelli figures there are about 16 units of the project of which construction can be delayed. These range from such things as two recreation-only reservoirs above Oroville to construction of Perris Reservoir in Riverside County.

One unit proposed for delay is the power production complex at Pyramid Reservoir in Los Angeles County. Delay in construction of this facility probably will increase the price of water deliveries in southern California by $1 an acre foot.

But one thing is paramount in the decisions Gianelli will be making about which features of the project to delay: None will prevent the state from fulfilling all its water delivery contract commitments.

WITH THE DELAY of some parts of the project, there's a good chance the construction schedule can continue until 1972, with a cushion of about $50 million. In 1972, it will be the time for a close look at the project to see how much more money will be needed, Gianelli said.

There is one thing certain about the state water project. Big Oroville Dam has been completed, along with many miles of the aqueduct, pumping plants, the south bay aqueduct, and other features. There is no turning back.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Carrier Proves Dedicated To Service

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is not often these days we can express appreciation for the selfless performance of a service. Let's face it, most things take longer to get, cost more and are done grudgingly.

You have a carrier who is a scholar of the old school though he, obviously, is young in years. His name is Bill Lammers and he lives on Via del Plane in Loma Verde. Bill hasn't been on our route long, but it only took one incident for him to prove his worth — the season's first rain.

Bill could have wrapped the polyethylene around the I-J and flung it into our century plant or under the car parked in our driveway. Instead he chose to run a gauntlet of wind and rain, plus the car, onto our porch with the paper. The kid was soaked, but the paper was dry. He did this up and down our street.

Bill is a credit to his present occupation and will make a fine entrepreneur, I'm sure.

Psychiatrist Cites Profession's Role

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your publication of Mr. (Fred C.) Shumaker's letter, in which he takes pot shots at psychiatrists as the cause of increased crime and delinquency, should be compared to the actual events of recent history.

Like many other young M.D.'s who had elected to specialize in psychiatry after World War II, I was exposed to three years of training experiences in an approved medical center before being examined by the American Board of Psychiatry. On the subject of discipline of children (as well as wayward adults) the emphasis for many years had been — and continues to be — on "setting the limits" of acceptable behavior both in the treatment of disturbed children and adolescents as well as in helping parents to do so.

At no time has there been any organized body of psychiatric thinking which has advocated such an emotionally disastrous theory as unrestricted freedom of behavior without responsibility. The occasional professional maverick to whom the headline makers would be attracted by such notions as Mr. Shumaker has mentioned have never been in the mainstram of psychiatric teaching. Psychiatrists have helped people by stressing the consequences of behavior, by assisting confused parents to maintain control of their children, and by demonstrating discipline which is appropriate to the circumstances.

As for George Albee's attack on the "illness" theory of abnormal behavior, this author, like others who have only dabbled in psychiatric literature, fails to distinguish between the truly sick person who suffers from the fright of anxiety or from waves of depression — from the sociopathic, not-to-be-trusted, pernicious varieties of people who cause others to suffer, who exploit society, but who do not suffer themselves.

The broken or rejecting homes from which so many of the delinquent and criminal derive have rarely had anything to do with psychiatrists. Only with the advent of community psychiatric programs has the professional had any access to the socially deviate.

Despite many efforts to educate people as to the nature of psychiatric practice, it continues to be regarded with mystery. Susceptible imaginations make of it what they will, from psychiatrists as miracle men to shrinks conjuring fiendish thought control. As long as the human personality is the object of professionals' efforts, it will invite both abuse and idolatry. At a time when social and technological change has never been greater, psychiatrists have a contribution to make, but at best they are still only a small voice in a strident, fast-moving scene.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1957

Hidden Valley School in Sleepy Hollow, part of the San Anselmo School District, was dedicated with ceremonies under the auspices of Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West.

The state Division of Highways reported that studies were underway on re-routing of Highway 1 from a low level at the Golden Gate Bridge, along the coastline, to Stinson Beach.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 18, 1947

Claus A. Tornell, general manager of Strawberry Properties Inc., reported that a business district would be constructed on a 50-acre flat area with plans for pedestrian walks, patios and garden courts.

The gambling ship Lux, which operated in Southern California waters until it was seized by the federal government, was towed from its mooring in Suisun Bay up the Napa River to be hacked into scrap.

To Sausalito Voters: Why Don't You Vote?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

To the 57 per cent of the Sausalito registered voters who did not vote for the Tamalpais School Bonds, the Sausalito School Bonds, and the new Sausalito Public Library bonds:

Why didn't you vote? Are you indifferent, passive, intimidated, old, sick, uninformed? Are you too busy making business decisions, decorating sandwiches, treating a patient, shaking your cane at the hippies, commuting, making or counting money, going to a meeting, looking at television, cleaning house, playing tennis? . . . or is it that you just don't care?

Hub City Police Prove Helpfulness

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I deeply appreciate the assistance given me by a passer-by and a police officer when I fell near a local store last week, and I wish to offer my very sincere though belated thanks to them both.

The San Anselmo police officers have been very helpful to me on other occasions, and I think they are very courteous and thoughtful of senior citizens.

On this occasion the officer's first aid treatment very probably helped prevent a serious infection.

Justice Motivates Pursuit Of Nazis

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to Mr. (R. H.) Turk's anti-Semetic letter (10/14/67), I would like to point out that trials against Eichman and other Nazi mass murders are not motivated by vengeance but by need for justice. For without justice there can be no civilized and secure society. The survivors of Eichmann's concentration camps are still fighting for their life in Israel against those who want to annihilate the Jews.

The Jewish people survived for 5,000 years in spite of Pharaoh and Titus, in spite of the Spanish Inquisition and the Crusades, in spite of Eichmann and Nasser, in spite of Mr. Rockwell and Mr. Turk.

Johnson Finished? Crossley Poll Shows Him Winner In New York

WASHINGTON — Is LBJ down or up?

A series of Gallup and Harris nationwide surveys shows President Johnson massively unpopular.

But an in-depth New York state poll shows President Johnson massively popular.

The fact that a political opinion survey runs sharply counter to the mainstream of polling is no reason it can be safely dismissed.

He runs ahead of Nixon, Romney, Reagan, and Percy by a range of 22 to 27 per cent.

He leads them all in substantially conservative, traditionally Republican upstate New York by a range of 9 to 13 per cent.

Against Nixon, who does better in this New York poll than the other Republicans, Johnson takes 70 per cent of the Negro vote, 81 per cent of the Jewish vote, and a substantial majority of the Catholic and Protestant vote.

The President takes 25 per cent of the Republican vote while Nixon wins only 12 per cent of the Democratic vote. He leads comfortably among independents.

HERE ARE THE precise figures on how Johnson does against four different GOP opponents in New York state:

| Candidates | Per Cent |
|---|---|
| Nixon | 31 |
| Johnson | 53 |
| Percy | 28 |
| Johnson | 51 |
| Reagan | 29 |
| Johnson | 56 |
| Romney | 30 |
| Johnson | 52 |

(The average undecided vote was 14 per cent. The average vote for other candidates, 3½ per cent. Rockefeller's name was not polled.)

WAS THIS a competent survey? There is no evidence to the contrary. It was supervised by Archibald Crossley, a veteran polltaker and widely respected as both professional and objective. I have consulted with an expert student of polls and his judgment is that the questions were properly framed.

Itis on the unexpected large Johnson lead that the Crossley pool conflicts with the national results of the Crossley poll conflicts with the national results of the Gallup and Harris polls. Romney is the only Rep8blican in the Crossley poll who has run ahead of Johnson in a nationwide Gallup poll. Nixon, Reagan, and Percy have never led the President in any nationwide trial heat.

While the decisiveness of LBJ's lead in New York state runs counter to those who take his defeat next year almost for granted, it supports others who believe that, when the test is at hand next fall, the odds will favor the President.

TO WIN next year the Republican nominee will have to pick up just about 10.5 million votes over 1964 and Johnson will need only to avoid dropping more than 5.6 million votes below 1964. This is on the careful projection that 75 million voters will go to the polls in the 1968 Presidential election.

I am not arguing that next year's campaign is all over before it bagins. It isn't. There will be an unusually high quota of imponderables — the Vietnam war, racial tension, mounting crime. But this New York poll adds credence to the view that the President is not down as far as some think — and certainly not out.

Secret Deal With Russia Protects Vietnam Base

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is a compelling diplomatic reason why U.S. fliers are not being permitted to bomb the strategic North Vietnamese airfield of Phuc Yen.

Located 13 miles from Hanoi in an area free of civilians, the air base is being kept "off limits" to U.S. bombers because of a secret U.S.-Soviet understanding.

This unannounced accord was made by Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko shortly after the U.S. began bombing North Vietnam in February, 1965.

The sanctuary was agreed to after the Russians notified the U.S. that its aircraft were using the field for regular scheduled flights from Moscow to Hanoi via Communist China and India.

Because of this Soviet air traffic, it was decided at the highest level within the Johnson Administration to notify the Russians that the base would not be bombed.

U.S. AERIAL reconnaissance photographs taken recently show clearly that the airfield is being used by large Soviet cargo planes, which regularly bring military supplies and Russian technicians to North Vietnam.

More than two dozen Mig-21s, believed to be for use in attacks on U.S. bombers, are stationed at the air base. Huge Soviet-built helicopters also have been reported operating from the field. Several jets from Eastern European countries and Communist China have been photographed from time to time at the base.

According to some officials, the unannounced U.S.-Soviet understanding was behind the refusal of Defense Secretary McNamara to supply a reason to Adm. U.S.G. Sharp, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific, for turning down his repeated requests to destroy that airfield.

When members of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee quizzed Admiral Sharp on why he was not permitted to bomb Phuc Yen airfield, he replied "I haven't been given a reason."

During his closed door testimony, Admiral Sharp also told the senators that, of 26 North Vietnamese air defense targets which he had requested permission to bomb, approval had been granted for his fliers to hit only 16.

The other 10 targets, including an important SAM, ground to air, missile control center, were put off limits to his bombers, according to Admiral Sharp.

VIETNAM FALLOUT — The Air Force is seeking 5,000 more personnel to beef up its command control units in Vietnam and Thailand. . . . Permission for American news correspondents to fly on air missions over North Vietnam is being held up because of objections from Secretary of State Rusk. He is opposed on the grounds that an international incident could develop if a correspondent is shot down and captured.

Coast Guard Provides Many Unusual Services

The Corinthian Yacht Club on Saturday will stage its second annual "Coast Guard Appreciation Day." A lot of boaters who don't belong to Corinthian Yacht Club could well join in this; for the Coast Guard performs unique services for boaters.

If you're driving down the highway and your engine conks out, you're in trouble. A highway patrolman may call a tow car for you, or give you a lift to a telephone. But when the tow car comes, it doesn't come free. Unless you're a dues-paying member of the American Automobile Association or National Auto Club, it will cost you a sizable sum to get your car towed to where it can be repaired.

But if your boat's engine conks out in the middle of San Francisco Bay, the Coast Guard will tow you to a yacht harbor. And there's no charge, buddy.

IF YOU RUN OUT of gasoline on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the Division of Bay Toll Crossings will put five gallons in your tank — for $2.50. But if you run out of gas in your boat under the bridge, the Coast Guard will give you enough gas to get home. There's no charge, buddy.

These are just a couple of examples of the Coast Guard service which boaters are inclined to take for granted — but which no one else would expect to get from a government agency.

Last week was fairly typical on the bay. During the seven days through last Sunday, the Coast Guard logged these emergency calls: 13 engine failures, one dead battery, one fouled propeller, two capsizings, one boat aground, 11 boats adrift.

This was a light week in some ways, the Coast Guard Information Office reported. Usually there are many more boats aground, and many out of gasoline.

ANOTHER COMMON KIND of service for the Coast Guard is locating boaters who just neglect to call home. A man goes out for a day on the water, telling his wife he'll be home at such-and-such a time. When the hour passes, she gets worried. She calls the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard then begins a harbor check, calling boat harbors around the bay until it locates the missing husband. Usually, he just decided to stop off someplace and neglected to telephone home.

There's not much glamor to most of this Coast Guard work in the bay. But it keeps 15 patrol boats busy. That is the number of small boats — 30-footers and 40-footers — the Coast Guard has at work in San Francisco Bay. Augmenting them for major rescues are larger vessels and helicopters.

BESIDES THIS, the Coast Guard is responsible for issuing papers and licenses for merchant marine personnel, inspecting ships, inspecting and maintaining aids to navigation. And every so often, it is involved in a major rescue operation far at sea — the kind that gets the publicity.

There'll be a band concert by the Coast Guard Band as a feature of Saturday's "Appreciation Day" — thus the Coast Guard even provides entertainment for the program honoring it. The event will start at Corinthian Yacht Club at 1:30 p.m.

The yacht club in Tiburon deserves applause for instituting an annual tribute to the Coast Guard. Others who share in its benefits should join in the public ackowledgement.

Oceans Being Polluted, Too

Not only has man befouled the rivers, the lakes and bays, his garbage and sewerage and industrial wastes are being dumped into the world's oceans at such an ever-increasing rate that they, too, are becoming polluted.

One would think that bacterial action and the very vastness of the oceans would make any man-made pollution like the proverbial drop in the bucket. But no! Even the great Pacific, which comes booming in on Marin's shores, is being almost imperceptibly changed. Perhaps the word for it is mini-pollution.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Water Project Outlook Brighter

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When William R. Gianelli was tabbed last December to become director of water resources, he went into the job with his eyes open — knowing the state was well along with construction of a state water project for which there wasn't enough money.

This was not because of any crystal ball that Gianelli had. He formerly was an employee of the department before entering consultant engineering work. But anyone who was at all familiar with the project knew even before the $1,750,000,000 bond issue was put before the people in 1960 that this would not be enough money to complete the job.

ONE OF THE FIRST things Gianelli did after taking over as director was to have a task force appointed to study the financial implications and report to him just how bleak the picture was. This the task force did and their report generally pointed out what the worst could be. This amounted to money shortage of $300 million and a long-range shortage of $600 million.

Since the task force report, several parts of the water project have brightened. The shortage probably won't be so large as forecast.

But it still left Gianelli with a big question: Should he seek more money from the Legislature or from a bond issue submitted to the people, or should he find other ways to avert the shortage?

AT THIS STAGE, it appears Gianelli is all but committed to the latter. And he will avert the short-term shortage by delaying some features in the project. Some, in fact, may be eliminated, but they will not affect the primary purpose, which is to provide flood control on the Feather River and water for central and southern California.

In all, Gianelli figures there are about 16 units of the project of which construction can be delayed. These range from such things as two recreation-only reservoirs above Oroville to construction of Perris Reservoir in Riverside County.

One unit proposed for delay is the power production complex at Pyramid Reservoir in Los Angeles County. Delay in construction of this facility probably will increase the price of water deliveries in southern California by $1 an acre foot.

But one thing is paramount in the decisions Gianelli will be making about which features of the project to delay: None will prevent the state from fulfilling all its water delivery contract commitments.

WITH THE DELAY of some parts of the project, there's a good chance the construction schedule can continue until 1972, with a cushion of about $50 million. In 1972, it will be the time for a close look at the project to see how much more money will be needed, Gianelli said.

There is one thing certain about the state water project. Big Oroville Dam has been completed, along with many miles of the aqueduct, pumping plants, the South bay aqueduct, and other features. There is no turning back.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Carrier Proves Dedicated To Service

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is not often these days we can express appreciation for the selfless performance of a service. Let's face it, most things take longer to get, cost more and are done grudgingly.

You have a carrier who is a scholar of the old school though he, obviously, is young in years. His name is Bill Lammers and he lives on Via del Plane in Loma Verde. Bill hasn't been on our route long, but it only took one incident for him to prove his worth — the season's first rain.

Bill could have wrapped the polyethylene around the I-J and flung it into our century plant or under the car parked in our driveway. Instead he chose to run a gauntlet of wind and rain, plus the car, onto our porch with the paper. The kid was soaked, but the paper was dry. He did this up and down our street.

Bill is a credit to his present occupation and will make a fine entrepreneur, I'm sure.

Psychiatrist Cites Profession's Role

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your publication of Mr. (Fred C.) Shumaker's letter, in which he takes pot shots at psychiatrists as the cause of increased crime and delinquency, should be compared to the actual events of recent history.

Like many other young M.D.'s who had elected to specialize in psychiatry after World War II, I was exposed to three years of training experiences in an approved medical center before being examined by the American Board of Psychiatry. On the subject of discipline of children (as well as wayward adults) the emphasis for many years had been — and continues to be — on "setting the limits" of acceptable behavior both in the treatment of disturbed children and adolescents as well as in helping parents to do so.

At no time has there been any organized body of psychiatric thinking which has advocated such an emotionally disastrous theory as unrestricted freedom of behavior without responsibility. The occasional professional maverick to whom the headline makers would be attracted by such notions as Mr. Shumaker has mentioned have never been in the mainstram of psychiatric teaching. Psychiatrists have helped people by stressing the consequences of behavior, by assisting confused parents to maintain control of their children, and by demonstrating discipline which is appropriate to the circumstances.

As for George Albee's attack on the "illness" theory of abnormal behavior, this author, like others who have only dabbled in psychiatric literature, fails to distinguish between the truly sick person who suffers from the fright of anxiety or from waves of depression — from the sociopathic, not-to-be-trusted, pernicious varieties of people who cause others to suffer, who exploit society, but who do not suffer themselves.

The broken or rejecting homes from which so many of the delinquent and criminal derive have rarely had anything to do with psychiatrists. Only with the advent of community psychiatric programs has the professional had any access to the socially deviate.

Despite many efforts to educate people as to the nature of psychiatric practice, it continues to be regarded with mystery. Susceptible imaginations make of it what they will, from psychiatrists as miracle men to shrinks conjuring fiendish thought control. As long as the human personality is the object of professionals' efforts, it will invite both abuse and idolatry. At a time when social and technological change has never been greater, psychiatrists have a contribution to make, but at best they are still only a small voice in a strident, fast-moving scene.

Justice Motivates Pursuit Of Nazis

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to Mr. (R. H.) Turk's anti-Semetic letter (10/14/67), I would like to point out that trials against Eichman and other Nazi mass murders are not motivated by vengeance but by need for justice. For without justice there can be no civilized and secure society. The survivors of Eichmann's concentration camps are still fighting for their life in Israel against those who want to annihilate the Jews.

The Jewish people survived for 5,000 years in spite of Pharaoh and Titus, in spite of the Spanish Inquisition and the Crusades, in spite of Eichmann and Nasser, in spite of Mr. Rockwell and Mr. Turk.

Secret Deal With Russia Protects Vietnam Base

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is a compelling diplomatic reason why U.S. fliers are not being permitted to bomb the strategic North Vietnamese airfield of Phuc Yen.

Located 13 miles from Hanoi in an area free of civilians, the air base is being kept "off limits" to U.S. bombers because of a secret U.S.-Soviet understanding.

This unannounced accord was made by Secretary of State Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko shortly after the U.S. began bombing North Vietnam in February, 1965.

The sanctuary was agreed to after the Russians notified the U.S. that its aircraft were using the field for regular scheduled flights from Moscow to Hanoi via Communist China and India.

Several jets from Eastern European countries and Communist China have been photographed from time to time at the base.

According to some officials, the unannounced U.S.-Soviet understanding was behind the refusal of Defense Secretary McNamara to supply a reason to Adm. U.S.G. Sharp, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific, for turning down his repeated requests to destroy that airfield.

When members of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee quizzed Admiral Sharp on why he was not permitted to bomb Phuc Yen airfield, he replied "I haven't been given a reason."

During his closed door testimony, Admiral Sharp also told the senators that, of 26 North Vietnamese air defense targets which he had requested permission to bomb, approval had been granted for his fliers to hit only 16.

The other 10 targets, including an important SAM, ground to air, missile control center, were put off limits to his bombers, according to Admiral Sharp.

VIETNAM FALLOUT — The Air Force is seeking 5,000 more personnel to beef up its command control units in Vietnam and Thailand. . . . ## Bell Buoy's Clanging Doesn't Disturb Tiburon Sea Lion

Not only seagulls but also sea lions have some unusual habits around Tiburon.

When Belvedere and Tiburon firemen held a yachting race recently in the Bay, the I-J Tiburon bureau's Betty Frost went along in the boat being used by the racing committee to view the action.

Also watching the two boats fly across the water, Betty reported later, was a sea lion sunning itself on a bell buoy off Angel Island. The clanging bell underneath didn't seem to disturb its tranquility.

But, when committee chairman Ken Frost shot off blanks from a starting gun, the sea lion awoke, dived and disappeared at once. That was a little too much racket for a sunny afternoon.

A FENCE WHICH sprouted last weekend near the Windjammer Restaurant and near Elephant Rock, may once again delay the solution of development of the waterfront.

When a meeting was set for last Monday, it appeared that, at last, representatives of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the Tiburon Peninsula Co. and the city would sit down and talk over their conflicting plans for developing the waterfront.

Since the T. P. Co. put up the fence (for insurance reasons, they say) and the city started abatement proceedings, some of the councilmen sound a little hard-jawed.

The park areas promised to the city by the two major property owners seem to land on each other's property in their respective plans, according to councilman Branwell D. Fanning.

Fanning also said this week that the council will not approve any "mediocre development for the sake of expediency." The railroad yard has been ugly for years and it was the consensus of council opinion that it could stay unused until an acceptable plan came in, he said.

The city objects to the fence on grounds it is ugly to look at and no permit was granted by the city to the Tiburon Peninsula Co. The company said this week it will stand up for its property rights in the meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Road circulation, with or without Paradise Drive, will be an important point for reconciliation of development plans, on the waterfront and railroad yard sites. It is a real opportunity for the city to improve some traffic situations that have been static for many years, such as better access to Hillhaven than the narrow, curvy Diviso street.

When the Tiburon Peninsula Co. answers the city's legal order to show cause why the fence should not be taken down, at the meeting tomorrow, whatever happens will not only forward an answer to the fence dispute but may also indicate how much or little delay this "interesting fuss" (as councilman Thomas E. Drohan calls it) will cause in development plans for the downtown area.

Lynda Bird's Betrothal Story Discloses Creeping Bearishness

WASHINGTON—Lynda Bird Johnson has just written an article for McCall's magazine on how she announced her engagement to Capt. Chuck Robb of the U.S. Marine Corps. In the article she tells that she crawled on her hand and knees into her mother's bedroom at three in the morning, and, finding her mother gone, crawled into her father's bedroom, woke them both up and got into bed with them and announced she was going to get married. So help me. I didn't make a word of this up. It's all there in McCall's for everybody to read.

And then there were these three bears.

There was Papa Bear, Lady Bear and Lynda Bear.

ONE NIGHT they came home and Papa Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

Lady Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

And Lynda Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

Papa Bear said to Lady Bear, "How do you know someone's been sleeping in your bed?"

"Because I was sleeping in your bed."

"And how do you know someone's been sleeping in your bed?" he asked Lynda Bear.

"Because I looked for Mama in her bed, and then I looked for her in your bed, and then I got into bed with both of you."

"Well, then, who slept in Mama's bed?" Papa Bear asked.

"YOU DID," Lady Bear replied. "You said the Lincoln bed wasn't big enough for three people."

"That's right. I did say that. OK, but who slept in Lynda Bear's bed?"

"I did," said Lady Bear.

"Why?" Papa Bear demanded.

"Because you were sleeping in my bed."

"That's right, Papa. None of us did get too much sleep."

"LET'S GET THIS straight," Papa Bear said. "I slept in Mama's bed, Mama slept in Lynda Bear's bed and Lynda Bear slept in my bed."

"That's correct, Papa. It drove the Secret Service bears crazy," Lady Bear said.

"What I don't understand," Papa Bear said, "is why Lynda Bear couldn't sleep in her own bed."

"Because I'm going to marry Chuck Bear and I wanted to tell you about it. Don't you remember?"

"ALL I REMEMBER is seeing you down on your hands and knees, and the thought occurred to me you should be walking upright. You're a big bear now."

"I was just pretending I was a baby bear," Lynda Bear said. "Like I used to be when I was little."

"That's right, Papa," Lady Bear said. "Don't you remember how she used to crawl to us when she had something to tell us?"

"I suppose so, but let's get tonight squared away. Who's going to sleep in whose bed?"

"You sleep in your own bed, Papa. I'll sleep in my own bed and Lynda Bear will sleep in her bed."

"Won't the other bears think that's kind of grizzly?"

"Who would tell them?" Lady Bear said.

Lynda Bear said, "I have to. I'm writing a piece on the hibernating of bears for McCall's magazine."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

Bell Buoy's Clanging Doesn't Disturb Tiburon Sea Lion

Not only seagulls but also sea lions have some unusual habits around Tiburon.

When Belvedere and Tiburon firemen held a yachting race recently in the Bay, the I-J Tiburon bureau's Betty Frost went along in the boat being used by the racing committee to view the action.

Also watching the two boats fly across the water, Betty reported later, was a sea lion sunning itself on a bell buoy off Angel Island. The clanging bell underneath didn't seem to disturb its tranquility.

But, when committee chairman Ken Frost shot off blanks from a starting gun, the sea lion awoke, dived and disappeared at once. That was a little too much racket for a sunny afternoon.

A FENCE WHICH sprouted last weekend near the Windjammer Restaurant and near Elephant Rock, may once again delay the solution of development of the waterfront.

When a meeting was set for last Monday, it appeared that, at last, representatives of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the Tiburon Peninsula Co. and the city would sit down and talk over their conflicting plans for developing the waterfront.

Since the T. P. Co. put up the fence (for insurance reasons, they say) and the city started abatement proceedings, some of the councilmen sound a little hard-jawed.

The park areas promised to the city by the two major property owners seem to land on each other's property in their respective plans, according to councilman Branwell D. Fanning.

Fanning also said this week that the council will not approve any "mediocre development for the sake of expediency." The railroad yard has been ugly for years and it was the consensus of council opinion that it could stay unused until an acceptable plan came in, he said.

The city objects to the fence on grounds it is ugly to look at and no permit was granted by the city to the Tiburon Peninsula Co. The company said this week it will stand up for its property rights in the meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Road circulation, with or without Paradise Drive, will be an important point for reconciliation of development plans, on the waterfront and railroad yard sites. It is a real opportunity for the city to improve some traffic situations that have been static for many years, such as better access to Hillhaven than the narrow, curvy Diviso street.

When the Tiburon Peninsula Co. answers the city's legal order to show cause why the fence should not be taken down, at the meeting tomorrow, whatever happens will not only forward an answer to the fence dispute but may also indicate how much or little delay this "interesting fuss" (as councilman Thomas E. Drohan calls it) will cause in development plans for the downtown area.

Lynda Bird's Betrothal Story Discloses Creeping Bearishness

WASHINGTON—Lynda Bird Johnson has just written an article for McCall's magazine on how she announced her engagement to Capt. Chuck Robb of the U.S. Marine Corps. In the article she tells that she crawled on her hand and knees into her mother's bedroom at three in the morning, and, finding her mother gone, crawled into her father's bedroom, woke them both up and got into bed with them and announced she was going to get married. So help me. I didn't make a word of this up. It's all there in McCall's for everybody to read.

And then there were these three bears.

There was Papa Bear, Lady Bear and Lynda Bear.

ONE NIGHT they came home and Papa Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

Lady Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

And Lynda Bear said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed."

Papa Bear said to Lady Bear, "How do you know someone's been sleeping in your bed?"

"Because I was sleeping in your bed."

"And how do you know someone's been sleeping in your bed?" he asked Lynda Bear.

"Because I looked for Mama in her bed, and then I looked for her in your bed, and then I got into bed with both of you."

"Well, then, who slept in Mama's bed?" Papa Bear asked.

"YOU DID," Lady Bear replied. "You said the Lincoln bed wasn't big enough for three people."

"That's right. I did say that. OK, but who slept in Lynda Bear's bed?"

"I did," said Lady Bear.

"Why?" Papa Bear demanded.

"Because you were sleeping in my bed."

"That's right, Papa. None of us did get too much sleep."

"LET'S GET THIS straight," Papa Bear said. "I slept in Mama's bed, Mama slept in Lynda Bear's bed and Lynda Bear slept in my bed."

"That's correct, Papa. It drove the Secret Service bears crazy," Lady Bear said.

"What I don't understand," Papa Bear said, "is why Lynda Bear couldn't sleep in her own bed."

"Because I'm going to marry Chuck Bear and I wanted to tell you about it. Don't you remember?"

"ALL I REMEMBER is seeing you down on your hands and knees, and the thought occurred to me you should be walking upright. You're a big bear now."

"I was just pretending I was a baby bear," Lynda Bear said. "Like I used to be when I was little."

"That's right, Papa," Lady Bear said. "Don't you remember how she used to crawl to us when she had something to tell us?"

"I suppose so, but let's get tonight squared away. Who's going to sleep in whose bed?"

"You sleep in your own bed, Papa. I'll sleep in my own bed and Lynda Bear will sleep in her bed."

"Won't the other bears think that's kind of grizzly?"

"Who would tell them?" Lady Bear said.

Lynda Bear said, "I have to. I'm writing a piece on the hibernating of bears for McCall's magazine."

Youngster Gets Blackened Eye

A 5-year-old Novato boy received a blackened right eye when he ran into the side of a car in a nursery school parking lot at Fifth Street and Grant Avenue, at 5:30 p.m. Monday, according to Novato police.

Ronny Slater Bickford, son of Mrs. Alana L. Bickford of 1805 Novato Boulevard, Novato, was treated at Novato General Hospital.

Mrs. Roberta Lovell, teacher at the nursery school in St. Francis Episcopal Church, told police that Ronny ran into the side of a car driven by a Mrs. Clark, as it backed up in the parking lot.

Services District Talk Is Scheduled

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen will describe his concept of a county services district tomorrow at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Sleepy Hollwow Homes Association in the Sleepy Hollow clubhouse.

Progress in the development of the Marin County Transportation Committee will be reported by Ray Ryason, and Merritt Robinson will discuss Highway 17 alternatives.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Be Too Dumb A Bunny; You Might Make Smart Move

Some people think that dummy has no duties after the bidding has ended. "He just puts his hand down on the table," they say. "Then he can take a nap until the next hand is dealt." Today's hand shows how silly this notion is.

No. 3375 ............... Oct. 18, 1967

Opening lead — ♠ 3

WEST OPENS

West opened the three spades, and North put down the ace and five of spades.

Competent mathematicians have estimated that bridge players who do this sort of thing save about 39 seconds per century, not counting leap years.

LOW CLUB

Declarer led a low club from dummy at the second trick. West refused the first club but took the next and returned a diamond to dummy's ace.

When declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, East ruffed. South overruffed and led a spade to the ten.

East returned his last trump, and South had to lose a trump and a spade. Down one.

DUMMY'S FAULT

"What has dummy to do with all of this?" you ask. Very simple.

Dummy should know his partner's habits. He should therefore put the unled suits down very slowly and only then should he put down the suit of the opening lead.

This forces declarer to see the whole dummy before he plays to the first trick.

DECLARER

If declarer has seen the whole dummy he must play dummy's low spade at the first trick. East wins and returns a heart.

South puts up the ace of hearts and knocks out the ace of clubs.

West returns a spade to dummy's ace, and South continues clubs. East ruffs the third club, and South overruffs.

Now South leads a diamond to dummy's ace and leads the fourth club. East cannot ruff, and South discards a spade, thus making the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one diamond, and the next player bids two clubs.

You hold:

♠—K 10 7 4
♥—9 7
♦ K Q 8 2
♣—8 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This is a strong bid, since it forces your partner to a high level if he has no fit for spades.

You can well afford it since you have good diamond support in addition to your 10 points in high cards and two doubletons.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 18, the 291st day of 1967 with 74 to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1767, the boundary between Maryland and Pennsylvania was finally settled, later to be known as the Mason-Dixon line.

In 1867, ceremonies marked the formal transfer of Alaska from the Soviet Union to the United States.

In 1966, an earthquake and tidal wave killed 120 in Peru.

A thought for the day—Thomas Aquinas said: "Three things are necessary for the salvation of man — to know what he ought to believe, to know what he ought to desire and to know what he ought to do."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 18, the 291st day of 1967 with 74 to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1767, the boundary between Maryland and Pennsylvania was finally settled, later to be known as the Mason-Dixon line.

In 1867, ceremonies marked the formal transfer of Alaska from the Soviet Union to the United States.

In 1966, an earthquake and tidal wave killed 120 in Peru.

A thought for the day—Thomas Aquinas said: "Three things are necessary for the salvation of man — to know what he ought to believe, to know what he ought to desire and to know what he ought to do."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Be Too Dumb A Bunny; You Might Make Smart Move

Some people think that dummy has no duties after the bidding has ended. "He just puts his hand down on the table," they say. "Then he can take a nap until the next hand is dealt." Today's hand shows how silly this notion is.

Opening lead — ♠ 3

WEST OPENS

West opened the three spades, and North put down the ace and five of spades.

Competent mathematicians have estimated that bridge players who do this sort of thing save about 39 seconds per century, not counting leap years.

LOW CLUB

Declarer led a low club from dummy at the second trick. West refused the first club but took the next and returned a diamond to dummy's ace.

When declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, East ruffed. South overruffed and led a spade to the ten.

East returned his last trump, and South had to lose a trump and a spade. Down one.

DUMMY'S FAULT

"What has dummy to do with all of this?" you ask. Very simple.

Dummy should know his partner's habits. He should therefore put the unled suits down very slowly and only then should he put down the suit of the opening lead.

This forces declarer to see the whole dummy before he plays to the first trick.

DECLARER

If declarer has seen the whole dummy he must play dummy's low spade at the first trick. East wins and returns a heart.

South puts up the ace of hearts and knocks out the ace of clubs.

West returns a spade to dummy's ace, and South continues clubs. East ruffs the third club, and South overruffs.

Now South leads a diamond to dummy's ace and leads the fourth club. East cannot ruff, and South discards a spade, thus making the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one diamond, and the next player bids two clubs.

You hold:
♠—K 10 7 4
♥—9 7
♦ K Q 8 2
♣—8 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This is a strong bid, since it forces your partner to a high level if he has no fit for spades.

You can well afford it since you have good diamond support in addition to your 10 points in high cards and two doubletons.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL — Approval of a $5.5 million bond issue would finance construction of a third high school in the San Rafael High School District. Architects Marshall and Bowles indicate in the sketch above their conception of a high school, designed to house 2,000 students.

Two Bond Proposals In High School District

The fate of a proposed third high school in the San Rafael High School District hinges on the outcome of two bond proposals to be placed before the voters Oct. 24.

The first proposal for $2 million would finance additions to Terra Linda High School, renovations at San Rafael High School and purchase of a site for a third high school.

The second bond proposal for $5.5 million would finance construction of a third high school at a site yet to be determined.

Voters in both the San Rafael Elementary District and the Dixie Elementary District, covering the Terra Linda-Marinwood area, will cast ballots.

By the 1972-73 school year there will be 5,173 students in the district, and the combined capacity of the two existing high schools is 4,800, according to the Citizens Bond Committee.

The major expenditure which would be financed by passage of the $2 million bond proposal would be purchase of a high school site, estimated to cost $750,000.

There are several possible locations for a third high school, but population trends, available acreage and the rate of growth in various subdivisions would have to be studied before a decision is made, the committee reported.

At San Rafael High School the bond funds would finance:

Rehabilitation of the older gymnasium and locker rooms, which don't meet the state's earthquake-resistance standards, estimated to cost $212,700.

Rehabilitation of the shops and crafts buildings including replacement of window frames and adequate concrete replacement and interior rehabilitation of the music building, estimated to cost $173,500.

Clearing and paving of the area along Third Street and creation of a parking lot, enlargement and improvement of bleachers on the east side of the football field, fencing on the east side of the field to control spectators, and replacing poles and wiring at the field, estimated to cost $155,380.

At Terra Linda High School the bonds would finance:

Construction of a girls gymnasium, estimated to cost $473,000.

An addition to the industrial arts building, estimated to cost $235,000.

Development and completion of the street frontage at the school, estimated to cost $25,000.

The bonds would be retired over a 20-year period and the committee estimated that the cost to the taxpayer in the 1968-69 fiscal year would be 13 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The cost in the tax rate would be 12 cents in 1969-70, 17 cents in 1970-71; 31 cents cents in 1971-72 and 33 cents in 1972-73, the committee reported.

"It is obvious if there is a need for additional classrooms for children now that is not met; the need will become more critical as time passes," the committee said. Committee chairman is Wayne H. White of San Rafael.

There are five high school classrooms needed now and that need will total 52 by 1972-73 school year, the committe said.

The annual inflationary costs were calculated in estimating the costs of the proposed buildings, the committee reported.

Acquisition of land at this time for a future school would provide a saving to the taxpayer, the committee contended.

Construction of a girls gymnasium and shop building at Terra Linda High School were part of a building program approved in 1960 by voters, but funds were insuffieient to complete them, the committee reported.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

EYESORES — Portable buildings in need of repair and open drainage ditches at Davidson Junior High School. The portables would be eliminated by construction of a Middle School at Glenwood, which would reduce enrollment at Davidson, and the ditches would be covered.

GYM REHABILITATION — The older gymnasium and locker rooms at San Rafael High School, which don't meet the state's earthquake resistant standards, would be rehabilitated with bond funds, part of the $2 million proposal.

Elementary Bonds Would Finance Two New Schools

San Rafael Elementary School District will place a $3.1 million bond proposal before the voters Oct. 24 to finance its building needs for the next five to seven years.

There is a need to build new classrooms for 1,000 additional elementary pupils by 1972, according to the Citizens Bond Committee.

There are 240 elementary pupils "now housed in sub-standard portable classrooms," and overcrowded conditions at Davidson Junior High School and neighborhood elementary schools, the committee roported.

The elementary district bonds, if approved, would finance a new middle school, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, at the Glenwood School site needed by 1969 and an elementary school in Peacock Gap at Biscayne and Riviera drives, needed by 1971.

Bond funds also would finance four new classrooms at Short School, where the old building had to be abandoned because it didn't meet the state's earthquake-resistance standards.

The proposed building program also calls for rehabilitation projects at older schools and site improvement and expansion at other schools.

Along with $836,000 in present bonds, the proposed $3.1 million would finance the following projects, with costs estimated.

Glenwood Middle School — construction, $2,083,197; site development, $316,500.

Short School — classrooms and administrative space, $196,170.

Laurel Dell Primary School — renovations to bring the building in compliance with Field Act standards regarding earthquake resistance and new lighting, $45,000.

Laurel Dell Intermediate School — Acquisition of additional land for playground, $50,000.

Santa Venetia Middle School — Bringing up to junior high school standards and extensive grounds development, $30,546.

MacPhail School — Fill, top soil and turf, sprinkler systems and fencing, $39,000.

West End School — Remodeling of the front offices to allow adequate space, purchase of an adjacent house to square off school property, completion of grounds development, remodeling throughout school and new lighting, $29,665.

Coleman School — Grounds development, including turfed area with sprinkler system, $18,000.

Hartzell School — Grounds development, $16,000.

Glenwood School — Installation of turfed area and ball field, with sprinklers, $10,000.

The Citizens Bond Committee estimated that about 150 additional elementary pupils enroll each year, and that by the 1972-73 school year enrollment will reach 5,760. The committee is headed by Wayne H. White of San Rafael.

There are seven additional classrooms now needed and there will be a need for 36 additional classrooms by 1972-73 school year, the committee reported.

If the bond proposal is approved, the cost to the taxpayer would be 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the first year (1968-69), the committee said.

The cost of retiring the bonds would be spread over a 20-year period, and the property tax rate would vary through the years.

The committee estimated that the rate cost would to to 12 cents in 1969-70, 18 cents in 1970-71, 19 cents in 1971-72 and 17 cents in 1972-73.

"Building costs and property values are increasing at least 5 per cent per year in Marin County," the committee reported. "Any delay in underwriting will be expensive to the taxpayer. For example, on a million dollar project, a delay of one year adds $50,000 to the cost."

The committee contends it is more equitable to pay for major improvements and new buildings over the period buildings are in use. "In other words, the cost of construction will be borne by those who use the building" the committee said.

If the bond issue fails, the school board would be faced with choices including enlarging class size, arranging double sessions, reducing bus transportation or reducing educational programs, the committee reported.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

There is a need to build new classrooms for 1,000 additional elementary pupils by 1972, according to the Citizens Bond Committee.

There are 240 elementary pupils "now housed in sub-standard portable classrooms," and overcrowded conditions at Davidson Junior High School and neighborhood elementary schools, the committee reported.

The elementary district bonds, if approved, would finance a new middle school, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, at the Glenwood School site needed by 1969 and an elementary school in Peacock Gap at Biscayne and Riviera drives, needed by 1971.

Bond funds also would finance four new classrooms at Short School, where the old building had to be abandoned because it didn't meet the state's earthquake-resistance standards.

The proposed building program also calls for rehabilitation projects at older schools and site improvement and expansion at other schools.

Along with $836,000 in present bonds, the proposed $3.1 million would finance the following projects, with costs estimated.

Glenwood Middle School — construction, $2,083,197; site development, $316,500.

Short School — classrooms and administrative space, $196,170.

Laurel Dell Primary School — renovations to bring the building in compliance with Field Act standards regarding earthquake resistance and new lighting, $45,000.

Laurel Dell Intermediate School — Acquisition of additional land for playground, $50,000.

Santa Venetia Middle School — Bringing up to junior high school standards and extensive grounds development, $30,546.

MacPhail School — Fill, top soil and turf, sprinkler systems and fencing, $39,000.

West End School — Remodeling of the front offices to allow adequate space, purchase of an adjacent house to square off school property, completion of grounds development, remodeling throughout school and new lighting, $29,665.

Coleman School — Grounds development, including turfed area with sprinkler system, $18,000.

Hartzell School — Grounds development, $16,000.

Glenwood School — Installation of turfed area and ball field, with sprinklers, $10,000.

The Citizens Bond Committee estimated that about 150 additional elementary pupils enroll each year, and that by the 1972-73 school year enrollment will reach 5,760. The committee is headed by Wayne H. White of San Rafael.

There are seven additional classrooms now needed and there will be a need for 36 additional classrooms by 1972-73 school year, the committee reported.

If the bond proposal is approved, the cost to the taxpayer would be 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the first year (1968-69), the committee said.

The cost of retiring the bonds would be spread over a 20-year period, and the property tax rate would vary through the years.

The committee estimated that the rate cost would to to 12 cents in 1969-70, 18 cents in 1970-71, 19 cents in 1971-72 and 17 cents in 1972-73.

"Building costs and property values are increasing at least 5 per cent per year in Marin County," the committee reported. "Any delay in underwriting will be expensive to the taxpayer. For example, on a million dollar project, a delay of one year adds $50,000 to the cost."

The committee contends it is more equitable to pay for major improvements and new buildings over the period buildings are in use. "In other words, the cost of construction will be borne by those who use the building" the committee said.

If the bond issue fails, the school board would be faced with choices including enlarging class size, arranging double sessions, reducing bus transportation or reducing educational programs, the committee reported.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

GYM REHABILITATION — The older gymnasium and locker rooms at San Rafael High School, which don't meet the state's earthquake resistant standards, would be rehabilitated with bond funds, part of the $2 million proposal.

REFLECTIONS

On the good life that can be yours in this custom-designed 3-bedroom home with great character. The architect has provided for some dramatics in the use of a 2-story window set into the well of a cantilevered staircase, which leads to a paneled all-purpose room with patio access. Wall-to-wall carpeting and draperies are top quality, and the landscaping is most attractive.

$39,500

FROM THE TERRACE . . .

Of this contemporary ranch at the very top of Sleepy Hollow, you can see all of Marin stretched out like a map below. Privacy for two or three can be yours in the 2 bedrooms and 1½ baths, or you can expand if you wish. The living room and dining area are unusually large — grand for entertaining, and there's even a stable for your horses.

REFLECTIONS

On the good life that can be yours in this custom-designed 3-bedroom home with great character. The architect has provided for some dramatics in the use of a 2-story window set into the well of a cantilevered staircase, which leads to a paneled all-purpose room with patio access. Wall-to-wall carpeting and draperies are top quality, and the landscaping is most attractive.

FROM THE TERRACE . . .

Of this contemporary ranch at the very top of Sleepy Hollow, you can see all of Marin stretched out like a map below. Privacy for two or three can be yours in the 2 bedrooms and 1½ baths, or you can expand if you wish. The living room and dining area are unusually large — grand for entertaining, and there's even a stable for your horses.

A BOLD STATEMENT . . .
BUT EVERY WORD IS TRUE!

Everyone has had our 16-Point Safety and Performance Inspection. That's why we can guarantee 100 PER CENT the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts for 30 DAYS or 1,000 MILES. Of course, not every used VW gets this inspection. Only VW's sold by authorized dealers like us.

Here's the closest-to-new Mercury Cougar 2-dr. Sport Coupe in the Bay Area . . . just over 3,000 miles.

Local couple just traded on new Riviera.

Purchased new from local Lincoln Mercury dealer just a few months ago. Power steering, tape player, radio, heater, w/w tires, custom bucket seats w/console, black custom Landau top which accentuates the stunning Forest Green exterior color.

This car hasn't a scratch on it and it never has in the past. Nothing wrong with this car except it was too small for the former owner. Sold new for over $4,200.

A BOLD STATEMENT . . .
BUT EVERY WORD IS TRUE!

Everyone has had our 16-Point Safety and Performance Inspection. That's why we can guarantee 100 PER CENT the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts for 30 DAYS or 1,000 MILES. Of course, not every used VW gets this inspection. Only VW's sold by authorized dealers like us.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 38, SERIES 1962-1, OAK WOODLANDS UNIT NO. 2, FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY.

State of California, default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-67 PRIN. $549.00, 1-2-67 INT. $98.82, 7-2-67 INT. $82.35 and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 27th day of OCTOBER, 1967, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

LOT NO. 38, AS SHOWN ON THE MAP OF OAK WOODLANDS UNIT TWO, WHICH SAID MAP WAS FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ON THE 18TH DAY OF APRIL, 1962, IN VOLUME 11 OF MAPS, AT PAGE 11 THEREOF.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $3,294.00; due on account of interest $258.26; due on account of penalties $75.37; total amount due on said bond $3,627.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 4, SERIES 1962-1, OAK WOODLANDS UNIT NO. 2, FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY.

State of California, default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-67 PRIN. $549.00, 1-2-67 INT. $98.82, 7-2-67 INT. $82.35 and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the county Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 27th day of OCTOBER, 1967, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

LOT NO. 4, AS SHOWN ON THE MAP OF OAK WOODLANDS UNIT TWO, WHICH SAID MAP WAS FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ON THE 18TH DAY OF APRIL, 1962, IN VOLUME 11 OF MAPS, AT PAGE 11 THEREOF.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $3,294.00; due on account of interest $258.26; due on account of penalties $75.37; total amount due on said bond $3,627.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

CITY OF SAN ANSELMO
SAN ANSELMO, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that the City of San Anselmo will receive bids for the Demolition and Removal of Debris, Loma Robles Subdivision Townhouses on Red Hill, located in San Anselmo, California, each bid to be in accordance with plans and specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the City Clerk's Office at the City Hall, San Anselmo, California, where they may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per set which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within seven (7) days after the bid opening.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California or local laws thereto applicable, the City Council of San Anselmo has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded the successful bidder. A copy of these rates is on file in the City Engineer's Office, City Hall, San Anselmo.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, San Anselmo, California; shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for ten (10) percent of the amount of the bid made payable to the order of the City of San Anselmo, San Anselmo, California, on or before 5:00 p.m., October 24, 1967. Bids will be opened at 8:00 p.m., October 24, 1967, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The above-mentioned check or bond shall be as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded to him, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the City of San Anselmo, California.

The City of San Anselmo, California, reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or waive any informality in a bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening hereof.

LABOR CLASSIFICATIONS

In accordance with the provisions of the labor code, the Municipality has determined that the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done which shall be the minimum rates paid on the project, are as follows:

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 38, SERIES 1962-1, OAK WOODLANDS UNIT NO. 2, FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY.

State of California, default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-67 PRIN. $549.00, 1-2-67 INT. $98.82, 7-2-67 INT. $82.35 and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 27th day of OCTOBER, 1967, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

LOT NO. 38, AS SHOWN ON THE MAP OF OAK WOODLANDS UNIT TWO, WHICH SAID MAP WAS FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ON THE 18TH DAY OF APRIL, 1962, IN VOLUME 11 OF MAPS, AT PAGE 11 THEREOF.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $3,294.00; due on account of interest $258.26; due on account of penalties $75.37; total amount due on said bond $3,627.63.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PROPERTY DELINQUENT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT BOND NO. 28, SERIES 6090, CITY OF NOVATO, ASSESSMENT DISTRICT NO. 1962-9, SCOTTSDALE, FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN MARIN COUNTY.

State of California, default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons, 1-2-67 PRIN. $1,232.33, 7-2-66 INT. $702.43, 1-2-67 INT. $702.43, 7-2-67 INT. $665.46, and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the County Treasurer of the County of Marin, State of California, proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 27TH day of OCTOBER, 1967, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. of said day, sell at public auction, the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at my office in the Marin County Civic Center at San Rafael, California, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of publication of this notice, are paid, and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond together with the cost of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to-wit:

.63 ACRE PARCEL OF LAND, BEING ASSESSMENT NO. 29, AS SHOWN ON THE ASSESSMENT DIAGRAM FOR SAID ASSESSMENT DISTRICT, WHICH SAID DIAGRAM WAS RECORDED ON THE 9TH DAY OF JULY, 1964, UNDER RECORDER'S SERIAL NO. 27903, IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof $23,414.27; due on account of interest $2,593.28; due on account of penalties $365.49; total amount due on said bond $26,373.04.

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required, together with the cost of publication made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, principal, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due, accruing up to the date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and $1.00 for the issuance of certificate of sale.

The Independent-Journal is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

CITY OF SAN ANSELMO
SAN ANSELMO, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that the City of San Anselmo will receive bids for the Demolition and Removal of Debris, Loma Robles Subdivision Townhouses on Red Hill, located in San Anselmo, California, each bid to be in accordance with plans and specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the City Clerk's Office at the City Hall, San Anselmo, California, where they may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per set which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within seven (7) days after the bid opening.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California or local laws thereto applicable, the City Council of San Anselmo has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holiday and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded the successful bidder. A copy of these rates is on file in the City Engineer's Office, City Hall, San Anselmo.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall, San Anselmo, California; shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for ten (10) percent of the amount of the bid made payable to the order of the City of San Anselmo, San Anselmo, California, on or before 5:00 p.m., October 24, 1967. Bids will be opened at 8:00 p.m., October 24, 1967, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The above-mentioned check or bond shall be as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded to him, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the City of San Anselmo, California.

The City of San Anselmo, California, reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or waive any informality in a bid.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening hereof.

LABOR CLASSIFICATIONS

In accordance with the provisions of the labor code, the Municipality has determined that the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done which shall be the minimum rates paid on the project, are as follows:

| SKILLED LABOR CLASSIFICATION | RATE PER HOUR |
|---|---|
| Engineer, Oiler | $5.535 |
| Engineer, Power Shovel Operator, up to and including 1 yard | 6.00 |

| Engineer, Tractor (Tandem) | 6.00 |
| Engineer, Truck-Type Loader | 5.35 |
| Laborers, Group I | 4.42 |
| Laborers, Group II | 4.27 |
| Laborers, Group III | 4.17 |
| Teamsters, Dump Trucks, under 4 yards (Water level) | 4.505 |
| Teamsters, 4 yards and under 6 yards (water level) | 4.60 |
| Teamsters, 6 yards and under 8 yards (Water level) | 4.80 |
| Teamsters, 8 yards and including 12 yards (water level) | 5.40 |
| Teamsters, Water Truck Drivers — under 2500 gallons | 4.615 |
| Teamsters, Water Truck Drivers — 2500 gallons and under 4000 gallons | 4.715 |

For positions not listed above, or incorrectly shown, the minimum rate paid for skilled, intermediate or unskilled labor shall be not less than the minimum wage per hour conforming to the Union Scale for the particular craft or classifications of workmen employed on the project.

Saturn Still Shines; Summer Stars Dim

By SCIENCE SERVICE

During November the planet Saturn continues to shine in the southern evening sky.

In the west, sky watchers have their last glimpses of stars prominent on summer evenings. To the east the constellations that make ths winter evening skies so brilliant are coming into view.

All of these are shown on the accompanying maps, which depict the sky as it looks about 10 p.m., your own kind of standard time, on Nov. 1. It looks about the same an hour earlier at the middle of the month, and two hours earlier at the end.

To the northwest shines Vega, in Lyra, the lyre. Above it is Cygnus, the swan, with Deneb, another first magnitude star. Deneb stands at the top of a figure called the Northern Cross. To the left of Deneb is Altair (shown on the southern sky map), in Aquila, the eagle.

High in the northeast is Capella, in Auriga, the charioteer. Alongside, to the right, stands Taurus, the bull. Red Aldebaran marks the animal's eye. Below is Orion, the mighty warrior, now seen lying on his back. Three star in a vertical row form his belt.

To the right is Rigel and to the left Betelgeuse. Both stars are first magnitude but the latter is represented by the symbol for one that is fainter. This is because the light of a star so low in the sky is considerably absorbed by the earth's atmosphere.

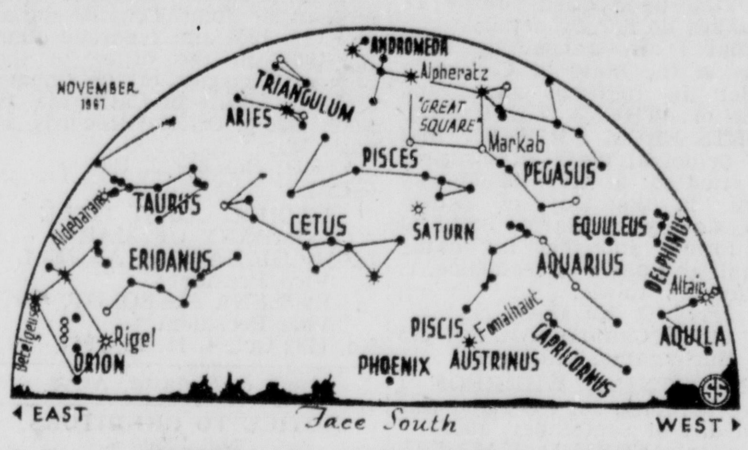
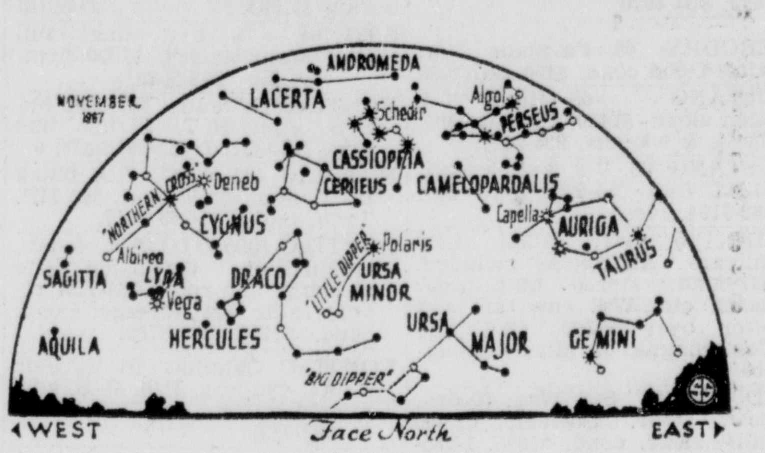
Also dimmed by such absorption is Fomalhaut, low in the southwest in Piscis Austrinus, the southern fish.

Four stars about Saturn from the Great Square. Three are in Pegasus, the winged horse; Alpheratz, in the upper left, is in neighboring Andormeda. According to mythology, she was a princess chained to a rock.

High in the north, under Andromeda, is her mother, Cassiopeia. Its five chief stars from a letter M. Lower is the little bear, Ursa Minor, of which the Little Dipper is part. Here we find Polaris, the pole star.





☼ ✸ ○ • SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

Lower, to the right, is Ursa Major, the great bear. However, the most familiar part of this constellation, the Big Dipper, is close to the horizon, in its poorest evening position of the year.

To the right of Cassiopeia stands Perseus, the hero who rescued Andromeda. Algol in this group is marked — not because it is very bright — but because it is a well known variable star.

Algol consists of two stars, one much fainter than the other. Every 2.9 days the star passes in front of the bright one. This produces a partial eclipse and the system loses about two-thirds of its light.

Mars still is visible in the early evening. It is in Sagittarius, the archer, in the southwest to the west of Capricornus.

On Nov. 17 Mercury will be farthest west of the sun, rising about an hour and a half before sunrise. For a few days around this date you can see Mercury low in the southeast in the morning twilight. Jupiter rises in the east soon after midnight. It is followed by Venus, brighter than any other star or planet, which appears nearly four hours before sunrise.

The moon, in its monthly trip around the earth, will pass Saturn on the evening of Sunday, Nov. 12. From some places on the earth, including the western parts of North America, it will actually pass in front of the planet. For people in the eastern parts the moon will set before this occulation takes place.

On Nov. 7 Venus will pass south of Umranus, which is the next planet out from fhe sun beyond Neptune. Originally Uranus is not considered a naked-eye planet, but it does get a little brighter than the sixth magnitude.

Even a small telescope or a pair of binoculars make it fairly easy to see, provided you know just where to observe. This month Venus makes a convenient guide. If, early some morning about Nov. 7, you pick up Venus with a telescope, you will see Uranus nearby. It has a faintly greenish tint, which may help you to distinguish it from any stars in the the neighborhood. Also, if the telescope magnifies enough, you will see that the planet presents the appearance of a small disk, quite different from a star, which appears as a point of light.

Redwood Empire Lures In Autumn

New Freeways Speed Travel To Its Beauty

Experienced travelers, those who visit France or Japan in the "off-season," are discovering the delights of autumn travel close to home, in the Redwood Empire.

This fall, there'll be extra dividends for motorists who travel the highways north of San Francisco Bay.

The foliage is colorful, the weather crystal-turquoise, and the roads uncluttered. And the Redwood Highway will offer two new high-speed freeway links in southern Humboldt County.

These are the Garberville "bypass," a 4.4-mile, $6,218,000 segment set to open Nov. 1; and the Pepperwood "bypass," just south of Scotia, 7.7 miles due for dedication Nov. 15. It cost $6,058,000, the State Division of Highways reports.

The Garberville leg will carry fast traffic around the friendly resort town, while the Pepperwood section speeds four lanes through giant redwoods, opening another seven miles of the spectacular Avenue Of The Giants "scenic alternate." This is 30 miles of the old highway (US 101) where cruising visitors can enjoy the forest mammoths at leisure.

Just how much California multi-million-dollar highway program has meant to travelers on "101" is illustrated graphically by the district highway engineer in Eureka, Harold Larsen. In 1953, Larsen said, it took at least eight hours to drive between San Francisco and Eureka. Today the same trip can be accomplished in five and one half hours, using legal speed limits and figuring minimum delays. The construction program is continuing.

Meantime, fall is the time to visit the Redwood Empire. Dogwood and poison oak supply vivid color accents to the great evergreens, and the rocky coast is fog-free.

In the southern counties, hospitable wineries offer an exciting spectacle as the annual harvest and crush takes place, while vines turn red and yellow with the first frosts.

Nematode Research Grant Made

Special to the I-J

RIVERSIDE — The University of California at Riverside has received $30,700 from the National Science Foundation to continue research on the roles of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the lives of nematodes.

These tiny, wormlike animals attack roots of most agricultural crops and each year cause significant economic loss.

Dr. S. D. Van Gundy, associate nematologist at UCR, will continue to direct the study, which has received support from the NSF since 1961.

Under the new grant, he plans to investigate the oxygen levels required for normal growth during different life stages of nematodes. He also will study the effects of oxygen on nematode population dyanmics and on their distribution in different types of soils.

Carbon dioxide will be studied for its relationship to nematode growth and population density in the soil and water atmosphere surrounding plant roots.

Congress Roll Votes By Senators, Clausen

SENATE

Poverty cut — Amendment (rejected 36-50) to cut anti-poverty program from $2.25 to $2.06 billion. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Poverty bill — Authorization (passed 60-21) for two-year extension of anti-poverty program at cost of $4.66 billion. For — Kuchel. Against — Murphy.

Supersonic jet — Amendment (rejected 19-54) to cut appropriation for supersonic transport from $143 million to $1 million. Against — Kuchel, Murphy.

NASA cut — Amendment (rejected 30-36) to cut $100.5 from appropriation for National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Against — Kuchel. Not voting — Murphy.

Space project — Amendment (rejected 31-34) to cut $26 million from Voyager program funds in NASA appropriation bill. Against — Kuchel. Not voting — Murphy.

Public works — Motion (rejected 27-54) to send public works appropriation bill back to committee to cut total by $247,808,200. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Viet sanctions — Amendment (adopted 74-15) asking United Nations to call for economic sanctions against North Vietnam. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Subversive Board — Motion (rejected 47-38, two-thirds required) to suspend rules and attach to an appropriation bill a rider designed to reactivate the Subversive Activities Control Board. For — Kuchel, Murphy.

Subversive Board — Amendment (rejected 37-54) to delete $295,000 appropriation for Subversive Activities Control Board. Against — Kuchel, Murphy.

HOUSE

Postal pay — Amendment (rejected 199-211) to eliminate the second and third stages of proposed postal employees pay raise. For — Clausen.

Postal rates — Bill (passed 318-89) to raise pay of federal employees and increase postage rates. For — Clausen.

Space Craft Might Refuel From Jupiter

GAINSVILLE, Fla. (SS) — A nuclear-powered space plane that could use the atmospheres of Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn as filling stations has been conceived by two University of Florida nuclear engineers.

The vehicle, according to Professor Glen J. Schoessow and Dr. S. P. D. Smith, could run its nuclear engine on any of the gases commonly found in planetary atmospheres — nitrogen, oxygen, hydrogen and methane. By replenishing its fuel supply from atmosphere along its way, the craft would eliminate the need for carrying an entire round-trip supply.

Anti-Drug Therapy Said Successful

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — A new program of therapy for drug users is proving successful at Mendocino State Hospital, according to a psychiatrist at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

"In the past, drug users have been treated with other patients in California state hospitals," says Dr. Arthur Carfagni, director of the Psychiatric Aid Center at San Francisco General Hospital.

The State Department of Mental Hygiene decided to try a new approach at Mendocino State Hospital, because its experienced staff has achieved national recognition for new treatment of alcoholics.

With the cooperation of the staff at San Francisco General Hospital, patients who were sufficiently motivated and who showed other personality strengths — such as a previous job or adaptation, or a moderate criminal record — were enrolled, on a voluntary basis, in the program at Mendocino, Dr. Carfagni explained.

"Emphasis is placed on group therapy, vocational counseling and job retraining, as well as close work with individual counselors," he said.

The Norsemen are credited with first discovering America, setting up a small colony in New England round 1,000 A.D.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

October Is The Worst Month For Respiratory Infections

VAN DELLEN

Respiratory infections reach a peak at this time of the year. Many persons talk about catching cold or developing influenza but unless nose or throat cultures are done the real cause of stuffy nose, sore throat, or bronchitis goes undetected. A hundred different agents, including strep staph, pneumococci, mycoplasmas, and a variety of viruses are causative.

Some physicians do a throat culture immediately to determine whether the microbe is the type that can be killed by an antibiotic. Viruses do not respond to this type of medication.

When the causative microbe turns out to be the diphtheria organism, vaccine is needed. Occasionally the culture picks up a friendly germ in the throat that has nothing to do with the inflammation.

Viruses are more difficult to isolate and in many instances, lab reports reach the medico long after his patient has recovered.

DURING EPIDEMICS testing is rarely necessary because there is a good possibility that the victim has the same thing everyone else has.

Coxsackie and Echo viruses are not exactly new, but they are becoming more common causes of a wide variety of respiratory and intestinal infections. These microbes are implicated in summer grippe, infantile diarrhea, certain types of meningitis, devil's grip, and a flu-like condition associated with cold sores of the mouth.

RHINOVIRUS infections probably account for one in five respiratory discorders. This group may be the cause of common cold in adults inasmuch as nasal congestion, sore throat, dry cough, and fatigue ensue. On the other hand, no one knows what microbe deserves credit for the common cold. Other viral culprits have been isolated from the victims but rhinoviruses comprise the largest single cause.

To compound the problem, influenza viruses also produce symptoms of a somewhat similar nature.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

GALL BLADDER

B. M. C. writes: Is gall bladder trouble related to heart disease?

REPLY

Possibly. A diseased gall bladder may aggravate an existing heart disorder, and occasionally the symptoms mimic each other.

DEVIATED SEPTUM

H. C. N. writes: What are the symptoms of a deviated septum?

REPLY

There may be none, but marked deviation usually encroaches upon and leads to narrowing of the nasal passageways on one side.

Today's Health Hint — Tighten caps on medicine bottles because exposure to air alters potency.

NEW CAREER

C. A. C. writes: When I retired four years ago, I took a real estate course at the university, passed my exams, and obtained a salesman's license. After three years of successful selling I've decided to work less and fish more. What schedule would you suggest for me as I have trouble being inactive.

REPLY

Hours 10 to 2, with a 12 to 1 lunch period. After all, the fish bite better in early morning and late afternoon.

WISDOM TOOTH AT 60

Mrs. R. S. writes: You said that the teeth usually are erupted completely by age 25. My 60-year-old brother, who wears dentures, got a new wisdom tooth last month.

REPLY

This is why I teach my medical students never to be dogmatic.

University Revising Buying Policy

BERKELEY — The University of California has revised its purchasing policies and procedures to achieve major economies.

Dr. Fred E. Balderston, vice president — business and finance, said action has begun on all nine campuses and at universitywide headquarters here to put a fourth of UC's annual purchases of $100 million under large scale supply agreements and pool purchase arrangements by next June 30. The new program will cover most commonly used items.

Under the new procedures, responsibility for purchasing certain commodity groups for the entire UC system will be assigned to each campus.

Purpose of the program was developed as a result of studies over the past year by universitywide and campus experts. Useful suggestions were offered by the governor's task force on business practices which made an independent review of UC's purchasing policies and procedures.

The university's studies disclosed that UC has been handling large and growing numbers of purchases economically and efficiently.

A comparison of similar purchases by the State of California and the university revealed that UC has been paying — on the average — about the same prices as the state, but, because of decentralized operations, substantially less time between requisition and purchase.

UC's ratio of administrative costs to total purchase was about 1 per cent in 1966-67, "about" normal for large organizations," according to Balderston.

Saturn Still Shines; Summer Stars Dim

By SCIENCE SERVICE

In the west, sky watchers have their last glimpses of stars prominent on summer evenings. To the east the constellations that make ths winter evening skies so brilliant are coming into view.

All of these are shown on the accompanying maps, which depict the sky as it looks about 10 p.m., your own kind of standard time, on Nov. 1. It looks about the same an hour earlier at the middle of the month, and two hours earlier at the end.

To the northwest shines Vega, in Lyra, the lyre. Above it is Cygnus, the swan, with Deneb, another first magnitude star. Deneb stands at the top of a figure called the Northern Cross. To the left of Deneb is Altair (shown on the southern sky map), in Aquila, the eagle.

High in the northeast is Capella, in Auriga, the charioteer. Alongside, to the right, stands Taurus, the bull. Red Aldebaran marks the animal's eye. Below is Orion, the mighty warrior, now seen lying on his back. Three star in a vertical row form his belt.

To the right is Rigel and to the left Betelgeuse. Both stars are first magnitude but the latter is represented by the symbol for one that is fainter. This is because the light of a star so low in the sky is considerably absorbed by the earth's atmosphere.

Also dimmed by such absorption is Fomalhaut, low in the southwest in Piscis Austrinus, the southern fish.

Four stars about Saturn from the Great Square. Three are in Pegasus, the winged horse; Alpheratz, in the upper left, is in neighboring Andormeda. According to mythology, she was a princess chained to a rock.

High in the north, under Andromeda, is her mother, Cassiopeia. Its five chief stars from a letter M. Lower is the little bear, Ursa Minor, of which the Little Dipper is part. Here we find Polaris, the pole star.

Lower, to the right, is Ursa Major, the great bear. However, the most familiar part of this constellation, the Big Dipper, is close to the horizon, in its poorest evening position of the year.

To the right of Cassiopeia stands Perseus, the hero who rescued Andromeda. Algol in this group is marked — not because it is very bright — but because it is a well known variable star.

Algol consists of two stars, one much fainter than the other. Every 2.9 days the star passes in front of the bright one. This produces a partial eclipse and the system loses about two-thirds of its light.

Mars still is visible in the early evening. It is in Sagittarius, the archer, in the southwest to the west of Capricornus.

On Nov. 17 Mercury will be farthest west of the sun, rising about an hour and a half before sunrise. For a few days around this date you can see Mercury low in the southeast in the morning twilight. Jupiter rises in the east soon after midnight. It is followed by Venus, brighter than any other star or planet, which appears nearly four hours before sunrise.

The moon, in its monthly trip around the earth, will pass Saturn on the evening of Sunday, Nov. 12. From some places on the earth, including the western parts of North America, it will actually pass in front of the planet. For people in the eastern parts the moon will set before this occulation takes place.

On Nov. 7 Venus will pass south of Umranus, which is the next planet out from fhe sun beyond Neptune. Originally Uranus is not considered a naked-eye planet, but it does get a little brighter than the sixth magnitude.

Even a small telescope or a pair of binoculars make it fairly easy to see, provided you know just where to observe. This month Venus makes a convenient guide. If, early some morning about Nov. 7, you pick up Venus with a telescope, you will see Uranus nearby. It has a faintly greenish tint, which may help you to distinguish it from any stars in the the neighborhood. Also, if the telescope magnifies enough, you will see that the planet presents the appearance of a small disk, quite different from a star, which appears as a point of light.

Redwood Empire Lures In Autumn

New Freeways Speed Travel To Its Beauty

Experienced travelers, those who visit France or Japan in the "off-season," are discovering the delights of autumn travel close to home, in the Redwood Empire.

This fall, there'll be extra dividends for motorists who travel the highways north of San Francisco Bay.

The foliage is colorful, the weather crystal-turquoise, and the roads uncluttered. And the Redwood Highway will offer two new high-speed freeway links in southern Humboldt County.

These are the Garberville "bypass," a 4.4-mile, $6,218,000 segment set to open Nov. 1; and the Pepperwood "bypass," just south of Scotia, 7.7 miles due for dedication Nov. 15. It cost $6,058,000, the State Division of Highways reports.

The Garberville leg will carry fast traffic around the friendly resort town, while the Pepperwood section speeds four lanes through giant redwoods, opening another seven miles of the spectacular Avenue Of The Giants "scenic alternate." This is 30 miles of the old highway (US 101) where cruising visitors can enjoy the forest mammoths at leisure.

Just how much California multi-million-dollar highway program has meant to travelers on "101" is illustrated graphically by the district highway engineer in Eureka, Harold Larsen. In 1953, Larsen said, it took at least eight hours to drive between San Francisco and Eureka. Today the same trip can be accomplished in five and one half hours, using legal speed limits and figuring minimum delays. The construction program is continuing.

Meantime, fall is the time to visit the Redwood Empire. Dogwood and poison oak supply vivid color accents to the great evergreens, and the rocky coast is fog-free.

In the southern counties, hospitable wineries offer an exciting spectacle as the annual harvest and crush takes place, while vines turn red and yellow with the first frosts.

AVENUE OF THE GIANTS — The new, 7.7-mile Pepperwood Bypass on Highway 101 will be dedicated Nov. 15, opening another link in the greatly-improved roads through the Redwood Empire. (REA photo)

Nematode Research Grant Made

Special to the I-J

RIVERSIDE — The University of California at Riverside has received $30,700 from the National Science Foundation to continue research on the roles of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the lives of nematodes.

These tiny, wormlike animals attack roots of most agricultural crops and each year cause significant economic loss.

Dr. S. D. Van Gundy, associate nematologist at UCR, will continue to direct the study, which has received support from the NSF since 1961.

Under the new grant, he plans to investigate the oxygen levels required for normal growth during different life stages of nematodes. He also will study the effects of oxygen on nematode population dyanmics and on their distribution in different types of soils.

Carbon dioxide will be studied for its relationship to nematode growth and population density in the soil and water atmosphere surrounding plant roots.

Congress Roll Votes By Senators, Clausen

SENATE

Poverty cut — Amendment (rejected 36-50) to cut anti-poverty program from $2.25 to $2.06 billion. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Poverty bill — Authorization (passed 60-21) for two-year extension of anti-poverty program at cost of $4.66 billion. For — Kuchel. Against — Murphy.

Supersonic jet — Amendment (rejected 19-54) to cut appropriation for supersonic transport from $143 million to $1 million. Against — Kuchel, Murphy.

NASA cut — Amendment (rejected 30-36) to cut $100.5 from appropriation for National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Against — Kuchel. Not voting — Murphy.

Space project — Amendment (rejected 31-34) to cut $26 million from Voyager program funds in NASA appropriation bill. Against — Kuchel. Not voting — Murphy.

Public works — Motion (rejected 27-54) to send public works appropriation bill back to committee to cut total by $247,808,200. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Viet sanctions — Amendment (adopted 74-15) asking United Nations to call for economic sanctions against North Vietnam. For — Murphy. Against — Kuchel.

Subversive Board — Motion (rejected 47-38, two-thirds required) to suspend rules and attach to an appropriation bill a rider designed to reactivate the Subversive Activities Control Board. For — Kuchel, Murphy.

Subversive Board — Amendment (rejected 37-54) to delete $295,000 appropriation for Subversive Activities Control Board. Against — Kuchel, Murphy.

HOUSE

Postal pay — Amendment (rejected 199-211) to eliminate the second and third stages of proposed postal employees pay raise. For — Clausen.

Postal rates — Bill (passed 318-89) to raise pay of federal employees and increase postage rates. For — Clausen.

Space Craft Might Refuel From Jupiter

GAINSVILLE, Fla. (SS) — A nuclear-powered space plane that could use the atmospheres of Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn as filling stations has been conceived by two University of Florida nuclear engineers.

The vehicle, according to Professor Glen J. Schoessow and Dr. S. P. D. Smith, could run its nuclear engine on any of the gases commonly found in planetary atmospheres — nitrogen, oxygen, hydrogen and methane. By replenishing its fuel supply from atmosphere along its way, the craft would eliminate the need for carrying an entire round-trip supply.

Anti-Drug Therapy Said Successful

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — A new program of therapy for drug users is proving successful at Mendocino State Hospital, according to a psychiatrist at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

"In the past, drug users have been treated with other patients in California state hospitals," says Dr. Arthur Carfagni, director of the Psychiatric Aid Center at San Francisco General Hospital.

The State Department of Mental Hygiene decided to try a new approach at Mendocino State Hospital, because its experienced staff has achieved national recognition for new treatment of alcoholics.

With the cooperation of the staff at San Francisco General Hospital, patients who were sufficiently motivated and who showed other personality strengths — such as a previous job or adaptation, or a moderate criminal record — were enrolled, on a voluntary basis, in the program at Mendocino, Dr. Carfagni explained.

"Emphasis is placed on group therapy, vocational counseling and job retraining, as well as close work with individual counselors," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

October Is The Worst Month For Respiratory Infections

VAN DELLEN

Respiratory infections reach a peak at this time of the year. Many persons talk about catching cold or developing influenza but unless nose or throat cultures are done the real cause of stuffy nose, sore throat, or bronchitis goes undetected. A hundred different agents, including strep staph, pneumococci, mycoplasmas, and a variety of viruses are causative.

Some physicians do a throat culture immediately to determine whether the microbe is the type that can be killed by an antibiotic. Viruses do not respond to this type of medication.

When the causative microbe turns out to be the diphtheria organism, vaccine is needed. Occasionally the culture picks up a friendly germ in the throat that has nothing to do with the inflammation.

Viruses are more difficult to isolate and in many instances, lab reports reach the medico long after his patient has recovered.

DURING EPIDEMICS testing is rarely necessary because there is a good possibility that the victim has the same thing everyone else has.

Coxsackie and Echo viruses are not exactly new, but they are becoming more common causes of a wide variety of respiratory and intestinal infections. These microbes are implicated in summer grippe, infantile diarrhea, certain types of meningitis, devil's grip, and a flu-like condition associated with cold sores of the mouth.

RHINOVIRUS infections probably account for one in five respiratory discorders. This group may be the cause of common cold in adults inasmuch as nasal congestion, sore throat, dry cough, and fatigue ensue. On the other hand, no one knows what microbe deserves credit for the common cold. Other viral culprits have been isolated from the victims but rhinoviruses comprise the largest single cause.

To compound the problem, influenza viruses also produce symptoms of a somewhat similar nature.

NEW CAREER

C. A. C. writes: When I retired four years ago, I took a real estate course at the university, passed my exams, and obtained a salesman's license. After three years of successful selling I've decided to work less and fish more. What schedule would you suggest for me as I have trouble being inactive.

REPLY

Hours 10 to 2, with a 12 to 1 lunch period. After all, the fish bite better in early morning and late afternoon.

WISDOM TOOTH AT 60

Mrs. R. S. writes: You said that the teeth usually are erupted completely by age 25. My 60-year-old brother, who wears dentures, got a new wisdom tooth last month.

REPLY

This is why I teach my medical students never to be dogmatic.

GALL BLADDER

B. M. C. writes: Is gall bladder trouble related to heart disease?

REPLY

Possibly. A diseased gall bladder may aggravate an existing heart disorder, and occasionally the symptoms mimic each other.

DEVIATED SEPTUM

H. C. N. writes: What are the symptoms of a deviated septum?

REPLY

There may be none, but marked deviation usually encroaches upon and leads to narrowing of the nasal passageways on one side.

Today's Health Hint — Tighten caps on medicine bottles because exposure to air alters potency.

University Revising Buying Policy

BERKELEY — The University of California has revised its purchasing policies and procedures to achieve major economies.

Dr. Fred E. Balderston, vice president — business and finance, said action has begun on all nine campuses and at universitywide headquarters here to put a fourth of UC's annual purchases of $100 million under large scale supply agreements and pool purchase arrangements by next June 30. The new program will cover most commonly used items.

Under the new procedures, responsibility for purchasing certain commodity groups for the entire UC system will be assigned to each campus.

Purpose of the program was developed as a result of studies over the past year by universitywide and campus experts. Useful suggestions were offered by the governor's task force on business practices which made an independent review of UC's purchasing policies and procedures.

The university's studies disclosed that UC has been handling large and growing numbers of purchases economically and efficiently.

A comparison of similar purchases by the State of California and the university revealed that UC has been paying — on the average — about the same prices as the state, but, because of decentralized operations, with substantially less time between requisition and purchase.

UC's ratio of administrative costs to total purchase was about 1 per cent in 1966-67, "about" normal for large organizations," according to Balderston.

Open Housing To Be Studied By Committee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A compromise committee of aldermen and citizens was created Monday night in the Common Council's first official move to break an open housing deadlock that has persisted through 50 consecutive nights of Negro demonstrations.

The creation of the 11-member committee weighted 6-5 in favor of open housing advocates was called the "first ray of hope" by Alderman Vel Phillips, the only Negro member of the 19-member Milwaukee Common Council.

The action came after a six-hour hearing before the council's judiciary committee.

The committee rejected a measure offered by Mayor Henry Maier that would have Milwaukee adopt an open housing code contingent on enactment of similar codes in at least 14 of the city's suburbs.

Open Housing To Be Studied By Committee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A compromise committee of aldermen and citizens was created Monday night in the Common Council's first official move to break an open housing deadlock that has persisted through 50 consecutive nights of Negro demonstrations.

The creation of the 11-member committee weighted 6-5 in favor of open housing advocates was called the "first ray of hope" by Alderman Vel Phillips, the only Negro member of the 19-member Milwaukee Common Council.

The committee rejected a measure offered by Mayor Henry Maier that would have Milwaukee adopt an open housing code contingent on enactment of similar codes in at least 14 of the city's suburbs.

Jobless Nurse Taken From Gas-Filled Room

Hazel Mae Oliver, 43, unemployed nurse, was admitted for treatment to Napa State Hospital Monday after police found her in a gas-filled room in her apartment at 77 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

She was fully conscious and not seriously affected by the gas, said police. Officers were alerted by a call from the Suicide Prevention Society.

New Cement Ordered For Civic Center

A new type of cement mixture, billed as relatively crack-free, will be tried on the new Hall of Justice roof in an effort to eliminate leaks that have plagued the Civic Center administration building.

Architect Aaron Green reported to the Marin board of supervisors yesterday that this new type of cement was perfected by a researcher at the University of California and is produced by Kaiser Industries.

"We have been watching it for about three years and believe there is a probability that it will reduce shrinkage of concrete," said Green. He said he cannot guarantee that the new mixture will cut down on roof leakage, "but I can't see any disadvantage."

Green said the new mixture will mean an added cost of about $14,000, although this would be offset by a saving of about $7,000 on the cost of the roof itself because it would not have to be as thick.

Donald R. Frost, public works director, believed the $14,000 would be a good investment if it would reduce roof cracking even slightly. "The roof is 100,000 square feet; it's no small job," said Frost.

Both Frost and Green pointed out that the county would gain in lower maintainance cost if the concrete shrinkage and cracking could be cut down and leakage minimized.

"I'm not willing to approve unless what you've said here today is put in writing," said Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen. He said he wants written assurances in case the new concrete "turns out to be a complete flop."

Green said he and Frost would witness test pourings today.

The supervisors voted unanimously for a resolution of intent to authorize the use of the new concrete, subject to a written report from the architect and a satisfactory test on the concrete that will be poured as a trial.

Library Sites Report Asked

Board members Paul D. Stanley and Ransom Cook were named by the Sausalito Library board Monday night to prepare a report on different library sites for the Nov. 20 meeting.

Plans for a new library on the waterfront were beaten by voters this month.

The board also asked George Carney of the Sausalito Citizens Council to prepare a written report for Nov. 20 of the council's suggestions for a new library.

Equipment Stolen

A chrome instrument panel and three guages were stolen Sunday night from a car at Elroy Garage, Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley police reported yesterday. The car, owned by Allan M. Van Moppes, had been left for repairs. The instruments were valued at $30.

Jobless Nurse Taken From Gas-Filled Room

Hazel Mae Oliver, 43, unemployed nurse, was admitted for treatment to Napa State Hospital Monday after police found her in a gas-filled room in her apartment at 77 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

She was fully conscious and not seriously affected by the gas, said police. Officers were alerted by a call from the Suicide Prevention Society.

New Cement Ordered For Civic Center

A new type of cement mixture, billed as relatively crack-free, will be tried on the new Hall of Justice roof in an effort to eliminate leaks that have plagued the Civic Center administration building.

Architect Aaron Green reported to the Marin board of supervisors yesterday that this new type of cement was perfected by a researcher at the University of California and is produced by Kaiser Industries.

"We have been watching it for about three years and believe there is a probability that it will reduce shrinkage of concrete," said Green. He said he cannot guarantee that the new mixture will cut down on roof leakage, "but I can't see any disadvantage."

Green said the new mixture will mean an added cost of about $14,000, although this would be offset by a saving of about $7,000 on the cost of the roof itself because it would not have to be as thick.

Donald R. Frost, public works director, believed the $14,000 would be a good investment if it would reduce roof cracking even slightly. "The roof is 100,000 square feet; it's no small job," said Frost.

Both Frost and Green pointed out that the county would gain in lower maintainance cost if the concrete shrinkage and cracking could be cut down and leakage minimized.

McCormick Wins 'Comeback' Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike McCormick, a left-handed pitcher who led the National League in earned run average in 1960 and then was demoted to the minors four years later, was named the circuit's Comeback Player of the Year for 1967 today on the strength of his stellar performance for the San Francisco Giants.

McCormick, the N.L.'s leader in victories with 22, was named on 219 ballots in the voting by 356 baseball writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press poll.

Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, a first baseman, was second with 32 votes followed by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, another first baseman, 29 votes. Outfielder Roger Maris of the Cards was fourth with 21 votes.

2.85 ERA

McCormick's 22 victories in the past season also tied him for the major league lead with Jim Lonborg of Boston and Earl Wilson of Detroit. In 262 innings, McCormick struck out 150, walked 81 and posted a 2.85 ERA.

McCormick was signed by the Giants in 1956 for a reported $50,000 bonus. He paced the N.L. in ERA with a 2.70 average in 1960 while winning 15 games. The southpaw pitched in major league All-Star games in 1960 and 1961.

In 1962, he was traded to Baltimore. Plagued by arm trouble, McCormick was sent to Rochester of the International League in 1964 and traded to Washington the following year. He posted an 11-14 record for the Senators in 1966 and was re-acquired by the Giants on Dec. 3, 1966. Pitcher Bob Priddy and outfielder Cap Peterson moved to Washington in the transaction.

CEPEDA

Cepeda, a leading candidate for the league's Most Valuable Player award, led the NL in runs batted in with 111. He also had 25 homers and batted .325. The past season was his best since 1961 when he topped the circuit in homers with 46 and RBI, 142, while with San Francisco.

Banks, in his 14th season with the Cubs, hit 23 homers and drove in 94 runs. The two-time NL home run champion had only 15 homers in 1966.

Maris, acquired by St. Louis from the New York Yankees, hit .261 and drove in 55 runs. In 1966, the veteran batted only .233 with 43 RBI for the Yanks, for whom he hit a record 61 homers in 1961.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE COMES FROM AUSSIES

NEW YORK (AP) — The Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron, whose Gretel tried to take the America's Cup five years ago, has challenged the New York Yacht Club again, it was announced today.

It was the fourth challenge received by the New York Yacht Club this fall for the 1970 defense of the international sailing trophy which never has been lost by the U.S. in the 116 years of the competition.

A challenge was received from The Royal Yacht Club of Greece yesterday. Previously, the Royal Dorset Club of England and the Club D'Hyeres of France had challenged.

Approval Expected On A's Move To Oakland

Seven Votes Needed

CHICAGO (AP)—American League owners were expected to approve today Charles O. Finley's proposal to shift the Kansas City A's franchise to Oakland and then possibly to turn their attention to expansion.

Although the owners were noncommittal, maintaining they wanted to hear the arguments before making decisions, it appeared Finley would get the necessary seven votes for the shift.

"All I know is I have one vote wired," said Finley. "My own."

The A's franchise was switched from Philadelphia to Kansas City in 1955.

DELEGATION

Kansas City will have a delegation which will appear before the owners, as will Oakland. And from Washington, a couple of U.S. senators have asked baseball to award a franchise to Seattle.

Finley, having made up his mind to leave Kansas City, was torn between Oakland and Seattle. Last week he settled on Oakland where a stadium is available, while Seattle still has to vote in February on a bond issue for a multi-purpose stadium.

The Kansas City delegation will be headed by Mayor Illus David and Sen. Stuart Symington. They are not expected to battle to keep the A's in Kansas City, but are more interested in settling for an expansion club.

FROM WASHINGTON

From Washington, Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both Democrats, sent a telegram to American League owners saying "expansion to Seattle will provide true national flavor, bringing in five states of the great northwest plus Western Canada with its growing sports-minded population."

Before taking a vote on Finley's proposal to move, the league will hear arguments from the Kansas City and Oakland groups and this is expected to bring about expansion discussion.

The American League, it has been reported, does not want to get beat by the rival National League to the virgin territory of the Northwest, and some owners reportedly wanted to see Finley move there.

JIM GILMARTIN

Elmer's Many Friends Must Have Been Proud

ROUTE 66 — His many Marin County friends must have been pretty proud of rookie Elmer Collett last Sunday when the 49ers called on his services in an emergency.

When big John Thomas was crippled in the fourth quarter, Coach Jack Christiansen picked Collett to fill in at left guard, and what a job he did under extreme pressure.

You may remember that the 49ers scored over the left side of the line on Elmer's first play. Also, late in the final period when the 49ers were struggling to preserve their lead with a ball-control, time-consuming ground attack, quarterback John Brodie repeatedly called for plays over the left side. And Elmer helped open gaping holes in the Eagle defense.

Justified Coach's Confidence

It was terrific to see the rookie from Mill Valley justify Christiansen's confidence in him. And now with Thomas out for the season with severed tendons in both knees, you can expect to see a good deal of Mr. Collett's number 66 jersey in action.

Christiansen has said Thomas' position will be filled by either Collett or Don Parker, another rookie, but off his performance Sunday it looks like Elmer has the job.

Incidentally, TV announcer Bob Fouts said Collett attended Marin City Junior College. I think he meant College of Marin, because there is no junior college in Marin City.

NAME GAME — Did you know that a Packard won a Ford contest? Yep, 10-year-old Jack Packard of 643 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, won last weekend's Punt, Pass and Kick contest at Corte Madera, sponsored by J and B Ford Co.

Congrats To Muster And Staff

BOUQUET — Congratulations to Coach Bob Muster and his staff at San Rafael for their tremendous upset over the Drake Pirates last Saturday afternoon.

True, injuries to key players hampered the heavily-favored Pirates, but San Rafael usually comes up with at least one major upset per year under Muster's excellent coaching. He has a knack for getting the most out of his players.

MIGHT MEL — Former Marin City resident Mel Gray, who starred at Santa Rosa's Montgomery High, is still scoring touchdowns in bunches.

Playing for Fort Scott (Kansas) Junior College, Gray recently romped for TD runs of 31, 8 and 24 yards in a 34-7 victory over Independence. Gray will enroll at University of Missouri after a year of J. C. seasoning.

Collett Wins Starting Spot In 49ers' Offensive Line

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Rookie Elmer Collett will replace the injured John Thomas in the offensive line for the San Francisco 49ers Sunday when New Orleans comes to Kezar Stadium.

Collett, Mill Valley lad who starred at Tamalpais High, was tapped for a starter yesterday ending the speculation whether he or Don Parker would get the call. The 240-pound Collett, rookie from San Francisco State, beat out Parker since the 253-pound newcomer from Virginia has a slight muscle pull.

The tendons of both of Thomas's knees were severed from the kneecaps last Sunday in a bizarre injury. The tendons were rejoined in a successful operation Tuesday, but Thomas is out for the year.

Parker had been working out at guard and Collett at tackle, but Collett will start and stay in there as long as he gets the job done, said coach Jack Christiansen.

$1,530 Payoff In Daily Double

Baseball Meeting In Marinwood

The annual general meeting of the Marinwood-Lucas Valley Little League will be held tomorrow at the Marinwood Community Center starting at 7:30 p.m.

Following election of officers, awards will be presented to members of all the championship teams, Major, Minor and Farm.

In addition special pins will be given to members of the All-Star teams and certificates to all 12 year old boys who have played their last year in the league.

Teams pictures will also be available at the meeting.

Warriors Limp Into Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (UPI)—It's a dejected set of San Francisco Warriors who troop in to play the Cincinnati Royals tonight.

Not only are they a lackluster 1-2 for the season after losing to New York yesterday, but their stars are all hurting.

Nate Thurmond, Jeff Mullins and Clyde Lee were all injured as the Warriors dropped a 124-122 squeaker before more than 15,000 at Madison Square Garden.

Ex-Michigan great Cazzie Russell was the difference as he pumped in a long shot at the buzzer after Rudy Larusso had tied the count with four seconds to go.

Russell led scorers with 23 while five Warriors had between 19 and 22.

Thurmond felt something pull in his back; Lee was cracked hard on the jaw and can't close his mouth; and Mullins may have suffered a broken nose. Thurmond and Mullins finished the game while Lee sat things out after he was hurt.

Kings Change Lineup For Seals

OAKLAND (AP) — Despite winning both of their National Hockey League games this season, the Los Angeles Kings may have a different lineup tonight at 8 o'clock when they face the California Seals in Oakland Arena.

Kings' Coach Red Kelly, unhappy with the offensive team thus far, has decided to move around the lineup of center Ed Joyal, and a line of Real Leimeux and Bill Flett. It is likely that one of the following will start: Bryan Campbell, Gordon Labossiere, Howie Hughes or Brian Smith.

But defense might be the key to tonight's game since the Seals, 2-0 this season, have scored 11 goals.

Frazier Has Easy Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"We're in college now waiting for our degree," said trainer-advisor Yank Durham after his fighter, Joe Frazier, scored a technical knockout over Tony Doyle last night.

The unbeaten Frazier stopped Doyle, of Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1:04 of the second round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout at the new $12-million Spectrum. The best way to describe the fight is that it was no contest.

HAND PICKED

Durham, who handpicked Doyle as Frazier's 18th victim, said, "Joe has improved 125 per cent. He's out of high school. Now he can go out there and do what I tell him.

"I told him to stay right on top of Doyle, make him move the way we wanted him to move, then take him out with one good shot."

Frazier, who is ranked No. 1 by Ring Magazine and No. 9 by the World Boxing Association, confirmed his trainer's views. "I did just like I was told, stayed on him, threw left hooks to the body. I was told not to box him because his arms are too long."

The 6-foot-4 Doyle, who came here with an 18-4-1 record, had promised the upset of the year against the tough 22-year-old many experts believe will be the next champion.

WORRIED

"This wasn't the real Tony Doyle," said the beaten fighter as he sat on a table while a cut on his forehead was treated. "I couldn't concentrate on the fight. I was worried about my two premature born babies."

Doyle's wife gave birth to the twins last week in Salt Lake City.

Durham reversed his field for the second time in two weeks on Frazier's future. He had said a week ago that he was considering accepting an invitation to join the heavyweight elimination tournament as a substitute, last night he sang another tune.

"I'm not going to fight in the tournament. We'll wait to fight the winner," Durham said. "I may fight again in November."

U.S. Golfers Like That Small Ball

HOUSTON (AP) — Top U.S. golfers indicated today they prefer the smaller British ball which this country's players may use in the Ryder Cup matches.

Ben Hogan, the nonplaying captain of the U.S. team, said he will leave it up to each player to determine whether he will use the larger U.S. ball or the smaller British ball.

Both balls weigh the same 1.68 ounces but the British ball has a circumference of 1.62 compared to 1.68 for the American ball.

The 10-man British team spent its first full day on the 7,-118-yard par 71 Cypress Creek layout at the swank Champions Golf Club course yesterday where the three days of international competition gets under way Friday.

ARRIVING

Some members of the U.S. the Britishers practiced in the bright sunshine.

Among yesterday's arrivals was Arnold Palmer, golf's all-time money winner, who buzzed the course in his private jet. He was on the course 30 minutes later.

"All I want to do is get the feel of hitting the ball," said Palmer, fresh from his World Match Play Tournament victory at Piccadilly last Saturday.

"What are the other fellows hitting — the small ball?" he asked. "That's what I'm hitting. Billy Casper, the 1966 U.S. Open champion brought a gross of the British balls from Scotland.

"I've played over there five times," said Casper, who along with Palmer and Julius Boros head the U.S. team. "I've always used the small ball. I'd rather play with the small ball."

Dai Rees, the nonplaying captain of the British team, also said the Britishers could use both the small and large ball.

However, he added since they have a choice most probably will use the smaller ball.

"We'll name our opening day line-ups Thursday afternoon, Hogan said.

Peter Alliss, who is regarded as Europe's outstanding player, carded a two-under-par 69 during a practice round yesterday.

Rees, who captained five Ryder Cup teams and defeated the great Byron Nelson in the 1937 matches, called the Champions course "a big hitter's course."

GOOD CONDITION

"It is extremely well manicured and in good order," he added. "Of course, the big greens will take some getting used to."

"The greens are bigger than the greens back home, and they were slow," he said. "Our players were all lagging their putts. You have to drive to the right place on the fairways, because the trees stick out in places."

Rees says he is confident his team can win the 17th biennial competition if three newcomers can play up to their potential.

"If our newcomers, Tony Jacklin, Malcolm Gregson and Hugh Boyle, produce as we hope, and we have every reason to believe they will, I look for our lads to give the Yanks a real go of it," he said.

McCormick Wins 'Comeback' Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike McCormick, a left-handed pitcher who led the National League in earned run average in 1960 and then was demoted to the minors four years later, was named the circuit's Comeback Player of the Year for 1967 today on the strength of his stellar performance for the San Francisco Giants.

McCormick, the N.L.'s leader in victories with 22, was named on 219 ballots in the voting by 356 baseball writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press poll.

Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, a first baseman, was second with 32 votes followed by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, another first baseman, 29 votes. Outfielder Roger Maris of the Cards was fourth with 21 votes.

2.85 ERA

McCormick's 22 victories in the past season also tied him for the major league lead with Jim Lonborg of Boston and Earl Wilson of Detroit. In 262 innings, McCormick struck out 150, walked 81 and posted a 2.85 ERA.

McCormick was signed by the Giants in 1956 for a reported $50,000 bonus. He paced the N.L. in ERA with a 2.70 average in 1960 while winning 15 games.

The southpaw pitched in major league All-Star games in 1960 and 1961.

In 1962, he was traded to Baltimore. Plagued by arm trouble, McCormick was sent to Rochester of the International League in 1964 and traded to Washington the following year. He posted an 11-14 record for the Senators in 1966 and was re-acquired by the Giants on Dec. 3, 1966. Pitcher Bob Priddy and outfielder Cap Peterson moved to Washington in the transaction.

CEPEDA

Cepeda, a leading candidate for the league's Most Valuable Player award, led the NL in runs batted in with 111. He also had 25 homers and batted .325. The past season was his best since 1961 when he topped the circuit in homers with 46 and RBI, 142, while with San Francisco.

Banks, in his 14th season with the Cubs, hit 23 homers and drove in 94 runs. The two-time NL home run champion had only 15 homers in 1966.

Maris, acquired by St. Louis from the New York Yankees, hit .261 and drove in 55 runs. In 1966, the veteran batted only .233 with 43 RBI for the Yanks, for whom he hit a record 61 homers in 1961.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE COMES FROM AUSSIES

NEW YORK (AP) — The Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron, whose Gretel tried to take the America's Cup five years ago, has challenged the New York Yacht Club again, it was announced today.

It was the fourth challenge received by the New York Yacht Club this fall for the 1970 defense of the international sailing trophy which never has been lost by the U.S. in the 116 years of the competition.

A challenge was received from The Royal Yacht Club of Greece yesterday. Previously, the Royal Dorset Club of England and the Club D'Hyeres of France had challenged.

Approval Expected On A's Move To Oakland

Seven Votes Needed

CHICAGO (AP)—American League owners were expected to approve today Charles O. Finley's proposal to shift the Kansas City A's franchise to Oakland and then possibly to turn their attention to expansion.

Although the owners were noncommittal, maintaining they wanted to hear the arguments before making decisions, it appeared Finley would get the necessary seven votes for the shift.

"All I know is I have one vote wired," said Finley. "My own."

The A's franchise was switched from Philadelphia to Kansas City in 1955.

DELEGATION

Kansas City will have a delegation which will appear before the owners, as will Oakland. And from Washington, a couple of U.S. senators have asked baseball to award a franchise to Seattle.

Finley, having made up his mind to leave Kansas City, was torn between Oakland and Seattle. Last week he settled on Oakland where a stadium is available, while Seattle still has to vote in February on a bond issue for a multi-purpose stadium.

The Kansas City delegation will be headed by Mayor Illus David and Sen. Stuart Symington. They are not expected to battle to keep the A's in Kansas City, but are more interested in settling for an expansion club.

FROM WASHINGTON

From Washington, Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both Democrats, sent a telegram to American League owners saying "expansion to Seattle will provide true national flavor, bringing in five states of the great northwest plus Western Canada with its growing sports-minded population."

Before taking a vote on Finley's proposal to move, the league will hear arguments from the Kansas City and Oakland groups and this is expected to bring about expansion discussion.

The American League, it has been reported, does not want to get beat by the rival National League to the virgin territory of the Northwest, and some owners reportedly wanted to see Finley move there.

JIM GILMARTIN

Elmer's Many Friends Must Have Been Proud

ROUTE 66 — His many Marin County friends must have been pretty proud of rookie Elmer Collett last Sunday when the 49ers called on his services in an emergency.

When big John Thomas was crippled in the fourth quarter, Coach Jack Christiansen picked Collett to fill in at left guard, and what a job he did under extreme pressure.

You may remember that the 49ers scored over the left side of the line on Elmer's first play. Also, late in the final period when the 49ers were struggling to preserve their lead with a ball-control, time-consuming ground attack, quarterback John Brodie repeatedly called for plays over the left side. And Elmer helped open gaping holes in the Eagle defense.

Justified Coach's Confidence

It was terrific to see the rookie from Mill Valley justify Christiansen's confidence in him. And now with Thomas out for the season with severed tendons in both knees, you can expect to see a good deal of Mr. Collett's number 66 jersey in action.

Christiansen has said Thomas' position will be filled by either Collett or Don Parker, another rookie, but off his performance Sunday it looks like Elmer has the job.

Incidentally, TV announcer Bob Fouts said Collett attended Marin City Junior College. I think he meant College of Marin, because there is no junior college in Marin City.

NAME GAME — Did you know that a Packard won a Ford contest? Yep, 10-year-old Jack Packard of 643 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, won last weekend's Punt, Pass and Kick contest at Corte Madera, sponsored by J and B Ford Co.

Congrats To Muster And Staff

BOUQUET — Congratulations to Coach Bob Muster and his staff at San Rafael for their tremendous upset over the Drake Pirates last Saturday afternoon.

True, injuries to key players hampered the heavily-favored Pirates, but San Rafael usually comes up with at least one major upset per year under Muster's excellent coaching. He has a knack for getting the most out of his players.

MIGHT MEL — Former Marin City resident Mel Gray, who starred at Santa Rosa's Montgomery High, is still scoring touchdowns in bunches.

Playing for Fort Scott (Kansas) Junior College, Gray recently romped for TD runs of 31, 8 and 24 yards in a 34-7 victory over Independence. Gray will enroll at University of Missouri after a year of J. C. seasoning.

Collett Wins Starting Spot In 49ers' Offensive Line

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Rookie Elmer Collett will replace the injured John Thomas in the offensive line for the San Francisco 49ers Sunday when New Orleans comes to Kezar Stadium.

Collett, Mill Valley lad who starred at Tamalpais High, was tapped for a starter yesterday ending the speculation whether he or Don Parker would get the call. The 240-pound Collett, rookie from San Francisco State, beat out Parker since the 253-pound newcomer from Virginia has a slight muscle pull.

The tendons of both of Thomas's knees were severed from the kneecaps last Sunday in a bizarre injury. The tendons were rejoined in a successful operation Tuesday, but Thomas is out for the year.

Parker had been working out at guard and Collett at tackle, but Collett will start and stay in there as long as he gets the job done, said coach Jack Christiansen.

$1,530 Payoff In Daily Double

Baseball Meeting In Marinwood

The annual general meeting of the Marinwood-Lucas Valley Little League will be held tomorrow at the Marinwood Community Center starting at 7:30 p.m.

Following election of officers, awards will be presented to members of all the championship teams, Major, Minor and Farm.

In addition special pins will be given to members of the All-Star teams and certificates to all 12 year old boys who have played their last year in the league.

Teams pictures will also be available at the meeting.

Warriors Limp Into Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (UPI)—It's a dejected set of San Francisco Warriors who troop in to play the Cincinnati Royals tonight.

Not only are they a lackluster 1-2 for the season after losing to New York yesterday, but their stars are all hurting.

Nate Thurmond, Jeff Mullins and Clyde Lee were all injured as the Warriors dropped a 124-122 squeaker before more than 15,000 at Madison Square Garden.

Ex-Michigan great Cazzie Russell was the difference as he pumped in a long shot at the buzzer after Rudy Larusso had tied the count with four seconds to go.

Russell led scorers with 23 while five Warriors had between 19 and 22.

Thurmond felt something pull in his back; Lee was cracked hard on the jaw and can't close his mouth; and Mullins may have suffered a broken nose. Thurmond and Mullins finished the game while Lee sat things out after he was hurt.

Kings Change Lineup For Seals

OAKLAND (AP) — Despite winning both of their National Hockey League games this season, the Los Angeles Kings may have a different lineup tonight at 8 o'clock when they face the California Seals in Oakland Arena.

Kings' Coach Red Kelly, unhappy with the offensive team thus far, has decided to move around the lineup of center Ed Joyal, and a line of Real Leimeux and Bill Flett. It is likely that one of the following will start: Bryan Campbell, Gordon Labossiere, Howie Hughes or Brian Smith.

But defense might be the key to tonight's game since the Seals, 2-0 this season, have scored 11 goals.

49er Thomas Suffered 'One-In-Million' Injury

John Thomas knew that he had suffered a terribly disabling injury to both knees. Dr. Lloyd Milburn, 49er team physician, knw that the all-pro guard would be out for the rest of the season and on crutches for three or four months.

Yet, Thomas, a University of Pacific football player who had to prove himself in the violent world of pro football 10 years ago as a free agent, smiled and said: "I'll be back next season."

Thomas isn't quite sure how the tendons of both of his knees were severed in Franklin Field Sunday but he has a vague recollection of an Eagle football cleat first hitting one knee, then the other.

"IT WAS a one in a million injury," said Dr. Milburn who performed an operation Monday morning at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco on the damaged tendons, tying them together. "I've never known of an injury where an athlete suffered this kind of tendon damage to both knees."

Specifically what kind of injury did Thomas suffer?

"Suppose both of you Achilles tendons were cut," said Dr. Milburn. "This is a comparable injury involving both knees. I don't believe in the annals of sports there has been a similar injury. I've never previously heard of the tendons of both knees being injured on the same play."

THOMAS RODE an ambulance to the Philadelphia airport after Sunday's squeaking 28-27 49er win over the Eagles. His teammates were waiting for him at the plane. There was his roommate, Roland Lakes; John David Crow, Kermit Alexander and a host of others who tenderly lifted him to a wheel chair that was placed aboard a lift crane which raised the fallen hero to the boarding platform of the plane.

CROW & CO. carried Thomas to the lounge section of the plane and made him comfortable in two seats after removing the center arm rest.

Then, one by one, Thomas' teammates came to the lounge as the plane was jetting westward to the Golden Gate. Art Johnson, the thoughtful assistant to the president of the 49ers, was one of the first visitors and told Thomas that he had telephoned his wife, Anne, with the information "John is resting comfortably."

There also was a consoling visit from Jack White, general manager of the 49ers, who acknowledged that Thomas couldn't be replaced but "we'll do the best with Elmer Collett and Don Parker," a couple of offense line rookies.

WHAT ABOUT a trade for a veteran offense guard? Both White and Jack Christiansen, the 49er coach who also was more than unduly concerned about Thomas' welfare, pointed out that the trading deadline in the National Football League expired at midnight Sunday.

Maybe Thomas has suffered a double injury to both knees that will cut short his pro career. But he discovered in pain a heart warming thing.

HE IS A pro's pro. Bruce Bosley, captain of the 49er offense and one of the many who came forward to speak intimately with Thomas, said it best.

"He's the best guard the NFL has seen in many years," said Boseley. "It's going to be tougher on all of us in the line from here on in. I just hope we'll be able to take up the slack."

Mrs. Bo Johnson Scores Ace At Las Gallinas Links

It was a good golfing day for Mrs. Bo Johnson.

Not only did she advance into the finals of the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's handicap championship tournament, but she plunked in a genuine hole-in one on the 65-yard third hole using a nine-iron.

Watching were Mrs. John Brodie, a 2 and 1 loser to Mrs. Johnson in the championship flight and Mrs. C. E. Christesen and Mrs. Sam Calla. Mrs. Christesen defeated Mrs. Calla, 2-1, in the other championship flight match.

Other results:

First Flight — Mrs. Bernard Campbell d. Mrs. Robert Ritter, 1-up; Mrs. Jack Smoot d. Mrs. Ray Mariani one-up. Second Flight — Mrs. James Giese d. Mary Weaver, 2-1; Mrs. George Patterson d. Mrs. Charles Wagner, 2-1.

THE INDIAN VALLEY Women's Golf Club held the first day of it's match play twosome Rosehill Tournament yesterday.

The results:

Iowa Cyclones Since 1895

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Athletic teams of Iowa State University have been called the Cyclones since 1895. That year Iowa was visited by a great many tornadoes, then commonly called cyclones. In the fall, an underdog Iowa State football team whipped Northwestern, 36-0.

The headline on a Chicago newspaper was, "Iowa Cyclone Devastates Evanston." From then on it has been Cyclones.

USC Fullback Out For Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Starting fullback Mike Hull, 6-4, 230-pound starting senior on the Southern California football team, suffered a knee injury and probably is through for the season.

"We won a game and lost a fullback," said coach John McKay after Hull was injured in Southern Cal's 30-0 victory over Stanford Saturday night.

Dan Scott, 205, a junior, replaced Hull and will start against Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday. Steve Dale, a sophomore, will be the No. 2 fullback, McKay said.

A Record Year

Bulldogs' Junior Linebacker Wins Prep Of Week Honor

TOM O'DONNELL
Defensive giant

In the labrynth office of the San Rafael High School football coaches hangs a cardboard roster of names and stars.

The roster is a list of the San Rafael football team members. The stars are tacked after the names of those players who have recovered opposition fumbles, intercepted passes or blocked punts.

On a hot Saturday afternoon last week, Tom O'Donnell, a tousle-haired 165-pound junior linebacker, made his name-line look like the Star-Spangled Banner.

O'Donnell recovered three fumbles, and intercepted a pass, as he turned into a defensive Johnny on the spot to help the Bulldogs pull the biggest upset of the Marin County Athletic League season in an 18-0 win over co-defending champion Drake.

That day of theft earned O'Donnell the Independent-Journal's Prep of the Week honors.

FROM NOWHERE

Much like the Bulldogs, O'Donnell has blossomed out of nowhere.

He was a center and linebacker on the Bulldog jayvee squad last year before moving up to the varsity this year.

"We're really quite pleased with him," Coach Bob Muster said. "He was a good jayvee. He's an amazingly consistent boy. He does a good job every time out."

O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Donnell of 30 Novato Street, San Rafael, doesn't play his position like a junior in his first year of varsity competition, all rabbity and quick on the draw.

"He secures his position," Muster said. "He doesn't get faked out easily. He stays home and checks out first and then pursues. You won't find him out of position often."

WITH BITE

On a team with an offense that is only hopeful, O'Donnell and his compatriots like Charlie Collins, Dave Bettini, Chris Klyce and others have made the Bulldogs a defensive team with bite.

Muster figures O'Donnell has the potential to go on to bigger and better things.

"He's still only a junior," Muster said. "I think he has the potential to play college ball, if that's what he wants to do. He's a pretty good little center too but we've already got boys at that position so we keep him primarily on defense."

Whatever his potential may be, O'Donnell can already be a little starry-eyed.

Last Saturday's windfall of fumbles and interceptions brought his star total to seven for the year, making his name-line look like the other end of a telescope on a clear night.

Merchants Golf Slated In Novato

In order to raise scholarship funds for the Junior Miss Pageant to be held early in December, the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a Novato Merchants Golf Tournament for Oct. 25 at Indian Valley Golf Club.

The first entries will tee off at 10:30 a.m., and the tournament is expected to last all day, according to Jaycee Raymond Owens of 1412 Hill Street, Novato.

The Novato merchants have donated approximately 60 trophies for the tournament, Owens said.

After the tournament there will be a banquet at the Indian Valley clubhouse. Donald Leaf will be master of ceremonies for this, Owens said.

Therae will be two flights, one for those who have established handicaps and a Calloway Flight for those who do not.

Entry blanks are available at Indian Valley Golf Club or from Owens during the evening. Entries close next Monday.

Toronto Baseball Team For Sale

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Baseball has lost some of its international flavor, with the Tornoto Maple Leafs on the auction block.

Maple Leaf President Bob Hunter put the team up for sale last night, bringing to an end Toronto's 83 years of professional baseball.

The team was a member of the once-sprawling International League, which at one time extended from Havana to Montreal.

The Maple Leafs, suffering from small crowds, lost $500,000 over the past four seasons.

BASEBALL

ST. LOUIS — Carl Yastrzemski and Orlando Cepeda have been named the top players in the American and National leagues respectively in a poll conducted by the Sporting News.

49er Thomas Suffered 'One-In-Million' Injury

John Thomas knew that he had suffered a terribly disabling injury to both knees. Dr. Lloyd Milburn, 49er team physician, knw that the all-pro guard would be out for the rest of the season and on crutches for three or four months.

Yet, Thomas, a University of Pacific football player who had to prove himself in the violent world of pro football 10 years ago as a free agent, smiled and said: "I'll be back next season."

Thomas isn't quite sure how the tendons of both of his knees were severed in Franklin Field Sunday but he has a vague recollection of an Eagle football cleat first hitting one knee, then the other.

"IT WAS a one in a million injury," said Dr. Milburn who performed an operation Monday morning at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco on the damaged tendons, tying them together. "I've never known of an injury where an athlete suffered this kind of tendon damage to both knees."

Specifically what kind of injury did Thomas suffer?

"Suppose both of you Achilles tendons were cut," said Dr. Milburn. "This is a comparable injury involving both knees. I don't believe in the annals of sports there has been a similar injury. I've never previously heard of the tendons of both knees being injured on the same play."

BOATING

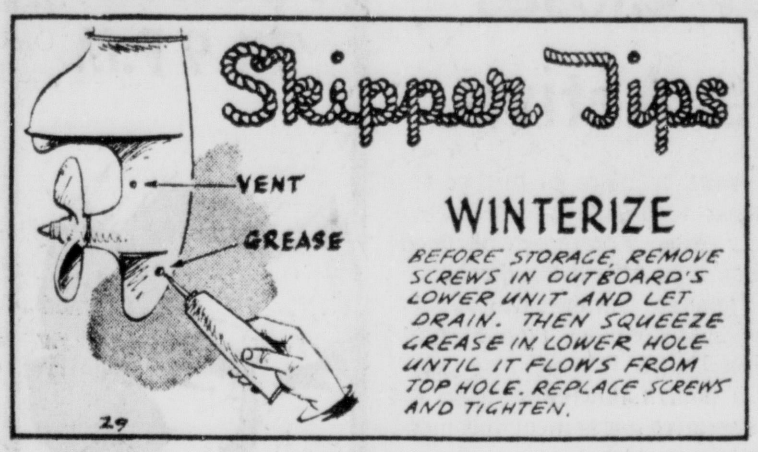
A Propelling Discussion On Diameter, Pitch, Etc.

By STAN DAVIES



Skipper Tips
VENT
GREASE
WINTERIZE
BEFORE STORAGE, REMOVE SCREWS IN OUTBOARD'S LOWER UNIT AND LET DRAIN. THEN SQUEEZE GREASE IN LOWER HOLE UNTIL IT FLOWS FROM TOP HOLE. REPLACE SCREWS AND TIGHTEN.
29

The most important single piece of equipment on a power boat is the propeller. Simply speaking, it is the device which applies the mechanical energy of the engine to the water to make the boat go.

It is also probably the most vulnerable device on a boat. Since it turns at high speed, if it hits almost anything it is damaged. So it is natural that propeller injury is the most common ailment of a power boat. Only vigilance and care can prevent this.

There are two measurements that are important to any discussion of propellers — they are diameter and pitch. The latter is a term which baffles many boaters. Pitch is not an angle, but a distance . . . a measurement of length.

A PROPELLER moves through the water much the same as a screw moves through wood. In fact, a propeller is often referred to as "the screw." Pitch is the distance it moves through the water in one complete turn, if there were no slip.

It is a theoretical measurement only, because, unlike a wood screw, which works in a solid medium, a propeller works in a liquid which slips back a little as the prop moves forward.

Pitch and diameter are important because the greater each is, the more power is required to turn the propeller. Selection of a propeller of the right pitch and diameter is important in controlling the speed of the engine or outboard motor . . . to make sure it is delivering its maximum horsepower with exceeding its permissible r.p.m.

Q. My outboard vibrates excessively, but there doesn't seem to be any damage or even wear on the prop. What is it?

A. A lot of us have been fooled by appearances. The bend or distortion in a prop may not be visible to the naked eye. Have it tested by a dealer.

Q. My propeller cavitates and the motor speeds up so, I'd swear it's going to burst. What do you think is the trouble?

A. Cavitation is the condition in which the propeller spins around at high speed without moving through the water. It is often caused by operating too close to the surface . . . the prop sucks air down from the cavity in which it spins. In this particular case, it is probably caused by the wrong propeller for the boat and motor, or by nicks in the blade, or by malformed blades.

Q. There are two numbers on my propeller hub. What do they mean?

A. The first one is the diameter, the second, pitch. For instance, a "10-12" means 10-inch diameter with 12-inch pitch. It's always in inches. A third figure is shaft size.

Q. My outboard vibrates badly. Could it be the big nick I filed out of the propeller?

A. Well, if it isn't, it should be the cause. Filing any amount off one blade will put a prop very seriously out of balance, causing vibration.

Q. My outboard runs well until I pull a water skier, then it seems to "labor." Why?

A. By "labor," I imagine you mean the engine doesn't run as fast as without a skier. Try a propeller with lower (shorter) pitch. This allows the motor to run faster and develop its full horsepower. To be right, you should have a tachometer, then select the prop which lets the motor run at its full r.p.m. with the water skier load.

Q. I've read about "cupped edge" propellers. What's the advantage?

A. This is a new development. Cupping the blade reduces slip and cavitation.

Q. I often pick up weeds which mades for vibration. Will this hurt the motor?

A. It will probably hurt the boat more. Bearings on outboards will stand a lot of vibration, but many kinds of boats, particularly wooden boats, won't.

Q. I've had an aluminum propeller. I'm told a bronze prop will damage my outboard motor. Is this so?

A. Nonsense. How does the engine know what the prop is made of? An old wives' tale used to suggest that a bronbe prop would harm the shifting mechanism. If you shift gears in an outboard with good, solid snap, you'll never have to worry about the material in the prop.

U.S. Vaulter Triumphs In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Chris Papanikolaou of Greece, who won the gold medal in the pole vault yesterday in Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games, predicts he will break the world record in the actual Olympics next October.

Papanikolaou, a student at San Jose State, beat Dick Railsback of UCLA with a vault of 17-4¾, then failed three times in an attempt to break Bob Seagren's listed world record of 17-7¾.

The attempt of the 25-year-old Greek to break the record drew the most attention of the 12,000 in the Olympic Stadium after John Carlos, a New Yorker who attends East Texas State, had won the 200 meters in 20.8 seconds.

"I was sure I could do it," Papanikoulaou said. "I think I could have, but I need a special pole. This one is too soft. I'll practice indoors this winter and I'm sure I can break the world record here next year."

Carlos led all the way in the 200 meters to give the United States its third gold medal.

Waldemar Baszanowski of Poland set three world weightlifting records in the lightweight class. He snatched 299 pounds, jerked 375 pounds and had a total of 768 pounds on three styles.

The Soviet Union led in gold medals with five after the first three days with the United States second with three.

Today's schedule was a busy one with eight finals in track and field and the start of the decathlon. Rowers had finals in seven events, male gymnasts one.

Coast Guard Appreciation Day On Tap

Corinthian Yacht Club will sponsor a "Coast Guard Appreciation Day" Saturday starting at 1:30 p.m. at the club house in Tiburon.

The event, inaugurated last year to show appreciation to the Coast Guard for making sailing "the safe sport it is," will be open to the public, according to Commodore Martin Matisich.

Festivities will include a concert by the Coast Guard band, an air-sea rescue demonstration and exhibits covering activities of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Chairman of the day is Robert N. Lowry, a member of the club's board of directors. Commodore Matosich and flag officers of the club will serve as hosts, assisted by President Joyce Sullivan and members of the women's auxiliary.

Basketball Clinic Scheduled Oct. 25

The second annual Marin County School Coaches Basketball Clinic will be held in the Tamalpais High School gymnasium Oct. 25 with registration at 7:15 p.m.

Guest speakers will include Bernie Schneider, head basketball coach at Tamalpais High School, Ed Chavez of Tamalpais High, and Stan Buchanan of Redwood High School.

Lots Of Yachts To Sail In San Rafael Saturday

More than 200 yachts are expected to participate in San Rafael's annual decorated boat parade to be held Saturday afternoon. Last year, the first year that such a parade took place, 106 yachts showed up.

Saturday's parade is a part of the five-day celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of Mission San Rafael. Saturday has been designated as Maritime Day. From 9 a.m. to noon there will be free boat rides for the public. The points of embarcation will be Seaway Marine and Channel Boat Sales, both on Third Street, and Pier 15 Restaurant on Harbor Street.

The boat parade will begin at 1 p.m. from the San Rafael channel and proceed up the Canal and back. It is estimated that it will continue until at least 3 p.m. Nine trophies for boat decorations and a trophy for the yacht club with the greatest amount of participation will be awarded.

Antarctic Peak Aim Of Hillary

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest and leader of a transantarctic expedition, returned to the antarctic today with a seven-man party.

Hillary said the area contained some magnificent mountains which had not yet been attempted by climbers. His party hoped to climb some unnamed peaks as well as carrying out a geological and survey program.

GRID STATISTICS

Bresnan Leads Marin Rushers

What a difference a league makes!

After three weeks of Marin County Athletic League football action and five weeks of regular grid play, the leaders in season statistics and in loop action simply don't match up too well.

Maybe the temperature at league games varies, but seasonal leaders don't seem to do so well on a loop basis.

For a quick rundown, Terra Linda's Keith Stirling is top rusher for the season, but is only fourth in loop play. Novato's Larry Bresnan is the top loop rusher but is eighth on the season.

DILLON SLIPS

Novato's Russ Dillon is the top seasonal passer but slipped to fourth in loop play after a disastrous game against Redwood. Tamalpais junior Don Mackin leads the loop in passing but is second on the season.

Mackin's top target, Leroy Barrow, is the best pass receiver on season play but is not even listed in loop play, where Drake's Don Alvarado is tops. Alvarado is second in the season rankings.

Stirling is the only one that heads the only category where things are more or less consistent. He is the top scorer on the season with seven touchdowns for 42 points and is tied for the league scoring lead with teammates Mark Buckley and Bresnan. All three have a pair of touchdowns for 12 points.

BOWLING TIPS

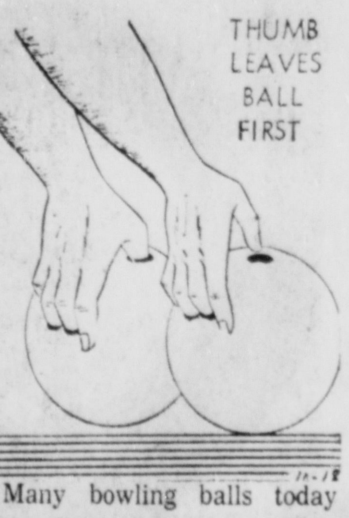
By DON CARTER



Many bowling balls today have designs on them. They can be useful. If your ball starts down the alley so that the designs don't move, the ball is sliding. It ought to start rolling quickly. A sliding ball can be caused by the fingers coming out of the ball at the same time as the thumb. The thumb comes out first, as illustrated.

Russ Braun Wins Mill Valley Golf

Russ Braun downed Frank Evansco on the 19th hole of Mill Valley Municipal Golf Course Sunday to win the Mill Valley Golf Club's Director's Cup Tournament.

Cardinals' Back Really Workhorse

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Roland, the Rookie of the Year in 1966 for the St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League, appears well on his way to the workhorse of the year crown in 1967.

Roland, trailing Leroy Kelly of Cleveland by only 17 yards in the battle for leading rusher honors, has carried the ball 96 times for the Cardinals in the first five games of the season, NFL statistics showed today. In his rookie season, Roland toted only 192 times in 14 games.

Kelly held his lead over Roland last Sunday by boosting his rushing yardage to 405 as compared to 388 for the St. Louis ace.

Although Charley Taylor of Washington is the top receiver with 32 catches for 441 yards, the big average man is Homer Jones of the New York Giants who has averaged 31.6 yards per catch, making 18 good for 568 yards and six touchdowns.

Norm Snead of Philadelphia still tops the passers despite the Eagles defeat by the San Francisco 49ers. The standings are based on Snead's 58.4 completion percentage, 11 TDs, 2.9 interception percentage and 9.24 average gain.

Jim Bakken, the St. Louis place kicker, is the top scorer. Bakken has 58 points on 15 field goals and 13 coversions. Jones of the Giants is next with 42 points on seven touchdowns.

A Propelling Discussion On Diameter, Pitch, Etc.

The most important single piece of equipment on a power boat is the propeller. Simply speaking, it is the device which applies the mechanical energy of the engine to the water to make the boat go.

It is also probably the most vulnerable device on a boat. Since it turns at high speed, if it hits almost anything it is damaged. So it is natural that propeller injury is the most common ailment of a power boat. Only vigilance and care can prevent this.

There are two measurements that are important to any discussion of propellers — they are diameter and pitch. The latter is a term which baffles many boaters. Pitch is not an angle, but a distance . . . a measurement of length.

A PROPELLER moves through the water much the same as a screw moves through wood. In fact, a propeller is often referred to as "the screw." Pitch is the distance it moves through the water in one complete turn, if there were no slip.

It is a theoretical measurement only, because, unlike a wood screw, which works in a solid medium, a propeller works in a liquid which slips back a little as the prop moves forward.

Pitch and diameter are important because the greater each is, the more power is required to turn the propeller. Selection of a propeller of the right pitch and diameter is important in controlling the speed of the engine or outboard motor . . . to make sure it is delivering its maximum horsepower with exceeding its permissible r.p.m.

Q. My outboard vibrates excessively, but there doesn't seem to be any damage or even wear on the prop. What is it?

A. A lot of us have been fooled by appearances. The bend or distortion in a prop may not be visible to the naked eye. Have it tested by a dealer.

Q. My propeller cavitates and the motor speeds up so, I'd swear it's going to burst. What do you think is the trouble?

A. Cavitation is the condition in which the propeller spins around at high speed without moving through the water. It is often caused by operating too close to the surface . . . the prop sucks air down from the cavity in which it spins. In this particular case, it is probably caused by the wrong propeller for the boat and motor, or by nicks in the blade, or by malformed blades.

Q. There are two numbers on my propeller hub. What do they mean?

A. The first one is the diameter, the second, pitch. For instance, a "10-12" means 10-inch diameter with 12-inch pitch. It's always in inches. A third figure is shaft size.

Q. My outboard vibrates badly. Could it be the big nick I filed out of the propeller?

A. Well, if it isn't, it should be the cause. Filing any amount off one blade will put a prop very seriously out of balance, causing vibration.

Q. My outboard runs well until I pull a water skier, then it seems to "labor." Why?

A. By "labor," I imagine you mean the engine doesn't run as fast as without a skier. Try a propeller with lower (shorter) pitch. This allows the motor to run faster and develop its full horsepower. To be right, you should have a tachometer, then select the prop which lets the motor run at its full r.p.m. with the water skier load.

Q. I've read about "cupped edge" propellers. What's the advantage?

A. This is a new development. Cupping the blade reduces slip and cavitation.

Q. I often pick up weeds which mades for vibration. Will this hurt the motor?

A. It will probably hurt the boat more. Bearings on outboards will stand a lot of vibration, but many kinds of boats, particularly wooden boats, won't.

Q. I've had an aluminum propeller. I'm told a bronze prop will damage my outboard motor. Is this so?

A. Nonsense. How does the engine know what the prop is made of? An old wives' tale used to suggest that a bronbe prop would harm the shifting mechanism. If you shift gears in an outboard with good, solid snap, you'll never have to worry about the material in the prop.

Lots Of Yachts To Sail In San Rafael Saturday

More than 200 yachts are expected to participate in San Rafael's annual decorated boat parade to be held Saturday afternoon. Last year, the first year that such a parade took place, 106 yachts showed up.

Saturday's parade is a part of the five-day celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of Mission San Rafael. Saturday has been designated as Maritime Day. From 9 a.m. to noon there will be free boat rides for the public. The points of embarcation will be Seaway Marine and Channel Boat Sales, both on Third Street, and Pier 15 Restaurant on Harbor Street.

The boat parade will begin at 1 p.m.from the San Rafael channel and proceed up the Canal and back. It is estimated that it will continue until at least 3 p.m. Nine trophies for boat decorations and a trophy for the yacht club with the greatest amount of participation will be awarded.

Antarctic Peak Aim Of Hillary

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest and leader of a transantarctic expedition, returned to the antarctic today with a seven-man party.

Hillary said the area contained some magnificent mountains which had not yet been attempted by climbers. His party hoped to climb some unnamed peaks as well as carrying out a geological and survey program.

U.S. Vaulter Triumphs In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Chris Papanikolaou of Greece, who won the gold medal in the pole vault yesterday in Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games, predicts he will break the world record in the actual Olympics next October.

Papanikolaou, a student at San Jose State, beat Dick Railsback of UCLA with a vault of 17-4¾, then failed three times in an attempt to break Bob Seagren's listed world record of 17-7¾.

The attempt of the 25-year-old Greek to break the record drew the most attention of the 12,000 in the Olympic Stadium after John Carlos, a New Yorker who attends East Texas State, had won the 200 meters in 20.8 seconds.

"I was sure I could do it," Papanikoulaou said. "I think I could have, but I need a special pole. This one is too soft. I'll practice indoors this winter and I'm sure I can break the world record here next year."

Carlos led all the way in the 200 meters to give the United States its third gold medal.

Waldemar Baszanowski of Poland set three world weightlifting records in the lightweight class. He snatched 299 pounds, jerked 375 pounds and had a total of 768 pounds on three styles.

The Soviet Union led in gold medals with five after the first three days with the United States second with three.

Today's schedule was a busy one with eight finals in track and field and the start of the decathlon. Rowers had finals in seven events, male gymnasts one.

Coast Guard Appreciation Day On Tap

Corinthian Yacht Club will sponsor a "Coast Guard Appreciation Day" Saturday starting at 1:30 p.m. at the club house in Tiburon.

The event, inaugurated last year to show appreciation to the Coast Guard for making sailing "the safe sport it is," will be open to the public, according to Commodore Martin Matisich.

Festivities will include a concert by the Coast Guard band, an air-sea rescue demonstration and exhibits covering activities of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Chairman of the day is Robert N. Lowry, a member of the club's board of directors. Commodore Matosich and flag officers of the club will serve as hosts, assisted by President Joyce Sullivan and members of the women's auxiliary.

Basketball Clinic Scheduled Oct. 25

The second annual Marin County School Coaches Basketball Clinic will be held in the Tamalpais High School gymnasium Oct. 25 with registration at 7:15 p.m.

Guest speakers will include Bernie Schneider, head basketball coach at Tamalpais High School, Ed Chavez of Tamalpais High, and Stan Buchanan of Redwood High School.

GRID STATISTICS

Bresnan Leads Marin Rushers

What a difference a league makes!

After three weeks of Marin County Athletic League football action and five weeks of regular grid play, the leaders in season statistics and in loop action simply don't match up too well.

Maybe the temperature at league games varies, but seasonal leaders don't seem to do so well on a loop basis.

For a quick rundown, Terra Linda's Keith Stirling is top rusher for the season, but is only fourth in loop play. Novato's Larry Bresnan is the top loop rusher but is eighth on the season.

DILLON SLIPS

Novato's Russ Dillon is the top seasonal passer but slipped to fourth in loop play after a disastrous game against Redwood. Tamalpais junior Don Mackin leads the loop in passing but is second on the season.

Mackin's top target, Leroy Barrow, is the best pass receiver on season play but is not even listed in loop play, where Drake's Don Alvarado is tops. Alvarado is second in the season rankings.

Stirling is the only one that heads the only category where things are more or less consistent. He is the top scorer on the season with seven touchdowns for 42 points and is tied for the league scoring lead with teammates Mark Buckley and Bresnan. All three have a pair of touchdowns for 12 points.

BOWLING TIPS

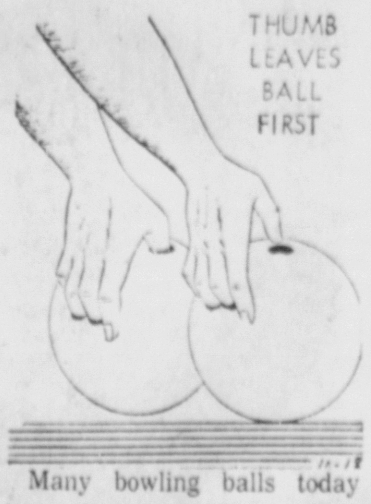
By DON CARTER



Many bowling balls today have designs on them. They can be useful. If your ball starts down the alley so that the designs don't move, the ball is sliding. It ought to start rolling quickly. A sliding ball can be caused by the fingers coming out of the ball at the same time as the thumb. The thumb comes out first, as illustrated.

Russ Braun Wins Mill Valley Golf

Russ Braun downed Frank Evansco on the 19th hole of Mill Valley Municipal Golf Course Sunday to win the Mill Valley Golf Club's Director's Cup Tournament.

Bill Duerson shot a 77-19-58 to take the Secretary's Day Sweepstakes, while Syl Auteri and Mario Polacchi tied for runnerup honors with scores of 75-16-59.

Other Director's Cup Results:

Cardinals' Back Really Workhorse

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Roland, the Rookie of the Year in 1966 for the St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League, appears well on his way to the workhorse of the year crown in 1967.

Roland, trailing Leroy Kelly of Cleveland by only 17 yards in the battle for leading rusher honors, has carried the ball 96 times for the Cardinals in the first five games of the season, NFL statistics showed today. In his rookie season, Roland toted only 192 times in 14 games.

Kelly held his lead over Roland last Sunday by boosting his rushing yardage to 405 as compared to 388 for the St. Louis ace.

Although Charley Taylor of Washington is the top receiver with 32 catches for 441 yards, the big average man is Homer Jones of the New York Giants who has averaged 31.6 yards per catch, making 18 good for 568 yards and six touchdowns.

Norm Snead of Philadelphia still tops the passers despite the Eagles defeat by the San Francisco 49ers. The standings are based on Snead's 58.4 completion percentage, 11 TDs, 2.9 interception percentage and 9.24 average gain.

Jim Bakken, the St. Louis place kicker, is the top scorer. Bakken has 58 points on 15 field goals and 13 coversions. Jones of the Giants is next with 42 points on seven touchdowns.

Montgomery Ward Readies New Ignacio Catalogue, Sales Office

A new sales agency and catalog office for Montgomery Ward will open at William Jonas' Ignacio Center on Entrada Drive, Ignacio, toward the end of the month. Target date is Oct. 26, according to Oakland catalog headquarters, but the opening could be delayed a bit.

This operation is slightly different from the usual Montgomery Ward catalog offices. Sales agencies are franchised and I understand they generally carry more merchandise than the catalog offices. Montgomery Ward has about 50 of them scattered throughout California and Nevada.

The Ignacio store, now under construction, will occupy about 1,000 square feet. Franchisee is Charles Ledogar.

THE WACHSMAN-NIXON CO. in San Rafael, representing State Mutual of America, has been dissolved.

Edward K. Wachsman has resigned from the State Mutual affiliation and is now manager for Home Life of New York in Marin. He still retains his offices at 914 Mission Avenue. There is a new telephone number and future listings will be under his name and that of Home Life.

Jack G. Nixon, along with Frank A. Tallarida, George J. Romero, Donald S. Abinante and Ronald E. Marland — all previously with the old office — are carrying on the State Mutual connection at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, where they leased space in the Executive Building through William Hoey of Dohemann and Co. Future listings will also be in the name of each individual as well State Mutual, which retains the same number.

ANDREWS LINOLEUM CO., San Rafael has added a new line of Flecto do-it-yourself, paint-on, seamless, waxless, permanent floor covering. The store is now open on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

ANDERSON AND CO. in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, has added to its music business an extensive coverage of instrument instruction as well as sales and rentals.

Teaching staff includes William Bowen and Al Miller on drums; Harry Alto and Walt Ullner on guitar; Gail Cheetham and Barbara Curtis, piano; Tom Burke and Bette Whittom, organ; William Sache and Chet Patnoe — trumpet and trombone; Jacquie Bowers, recorder and oboe.

SAN FRANCISCO CHAPTER of the American Right of Way Association has elected Robert K. McCue of San Rafael and Ted W. Steiger president and vice president respectively.

McCue

Steiger

McCue is supervising right of way agent, appraisals, at the San Francisco office of the state division of highways. He has been with the division since 1950 and transferred from the San Diego office four years ago.

Steiger is vice president in charge of real estate loans at United California Bank's Northern California Headquarters.

FOUR MEMBERS of the San Rafael office of York Securities Corp. will take in the mutual fund convention in Miami next Sunday through Wednesday; Jess France, George Croke, Robert Stribling and Ray Haas.

REDWOOD NATIONAL BANK, San Rafael, will display oil paintings of Opel Teter through Oct. 31. She has participated in shows in Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties and is a member of the Marin Society of Artists and other associations.

The bank is the subject of a feature article, "The Zingy, Iconoclastic Redwood National Bank," published in the October issue of Burroughs Clearing House magazine.

THIRD ANNUAL art festival for Strawberry Town and Country Village will be held Nov. 10, 11 and 12 from 1 to 9 p.m., and is open to all artists (except for commercial or manufactured art). There will be $430 in awards. Entry deadline is Nov. 1 Applications are available at the village office.

Seniors Gain Semifinals As Scholars

Drake High School seniors Jeff Lambert, Lisa Stone, Valerie Van Cleave, and Tod Wiedenmayer have been named semifinalists in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship competition.

Receiving letters of commendation were Jeffrey Braun, Gail Gulick, Lora Hein, Frances Kuisenga, Michael Mackey, and Kim Mitchell.

The students became semifinalists and others were commended as a result of scores they received on examinations administered in February at Drake.

In seeking the National Merit Scholar Awards, they will be judged on the basis of high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship. They also must take a second examination.

Finalists, to be announced in May, will be eligible for four-year awards covering their undergraduate years at the college of their choice. In addition, about 500 one-time National Merit $1,000 scholarships will be awarded for the first time.

The average growing season in Massachusetts is 193 days, from the last spring frost to the first killing frost in autumn.

Stock Market Closes Mixed; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today in active trading.

The market was irregular from the start.

Gains outnumbered losses on the New York Stock Exchange but the averages were down due to weakness in their blue chip components.

Alcoa sank about 1½ on lower earnings. Ford held about unchanged as the strike settlement held in abeyance. General Motors eased.

Occidental Petroleum spurted 4 points or more in further response to its Libyan oil discovery. Allis Chalmers advanced more than 2 in brisk dealings.

Universal American was active and up more than a point while Gulf & Western rose nearly a point following a report of a tentative agreement for merger.

IBM spurted 4 points and Polaroid 1. Schering added 1½.

Losses of a ponit or so were taken by Zenith, Alcoa, International Nickel and American Can.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Youth Should Concentrate On Growth, Not Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 21 and beginning my first year in graduate school. I have life insurance and and a savings account and own 21 Delta Air Lines, 25 Aztec Oil and Gas, 20 Brush Beryllium and 250 Sears, Roebuck. I realize I am too heavily invested in Sears and therefore am considering selling three-fourths of this stock and reinvesting as follows: half in Corn Products, a quarter in G. D. Searle and a quarter in Baxter Laboratories. Is this decision sound? — B.R.

A. You appear to be shrewd and thoughtful, and I commend you for your intelligent planning. Sears, Roebuck is an excellent stock, but your holdings are disproportionate, and I believe you are prudent to consider diversifying them.

My opinion, though, is that at your age and without apparent need for income you should aim for stronger growth than is offered by Corn Products and Searle. Both are high-quality stocks, but in each instance earnings growth has slowed down due to particular conditions affecting each company.

In their place, I would substitute Consolidated Foods and Norwich Pharmacal. Baxter Laboratories is establishing a very strong growth rate, and I would difinitely include it in spite of its present relatively high earnings multiple.

Q. What is the minimum amount of money required to invest in stocks to make a quick profit?—B.C.

A. The minimum to invest, from a practical standpoint, is a few hundred dollars. However, if you want to try for quick profits, you should have enough money so that you can afford to lose a great deal of it, since that is what will probably happen if you invest solely with this objective in mind. I strongly advise you not to regard stocks as a glorified parimutuel. Buy good values and wait patiently for them to develop.

Montgomery Ward Readies New Ignacio Catalogue, Sales Office

A new sales agency and catalog office for Montgomery Ward will open at William Jonas' Ignacio Center on Entrada Drive, Ignacio, toward the end of the month. Target date is Oct. 26, according to Oakland catalog headquarters, but the opening could be delayed a bit.

This operation is slightly different from the usual Montgomery Ward catalog offices. Sales agencies are franchised and I understand they generally carry more merchandise than the catalog offices. Montgomery Ward has about 50 of them scattered throughout California and Nevada.

The Ignacio store, now under construction, will occupy about 1,000 square feet. Franchisee is Charles Ledogar.

THE WACHSMAN-NIXON CO. in San Rafael, representing State Mutual of America, has been dissolved.

Edward K. Wachsman has resigned from the State Mutual affiliation and is now manager for Home Life of New York in Marin. He still retains his offices at 914 Mission Avenue. There is a new telephone number and future listings will be under his name and that of Home Life.

Jack G. Nixon, along with Frank A. Tallarida, George J. Romero, Donald S. Abinante and Ronald E. Marland — all previously with the old office — are carrying on the State Mutual connection at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, where they leased space in the Executive Building through William Hoey of Dohemann and Co. Future listings will also be in the name of each individual as well State Mutual, which retains the same number.

ANDREWS LINOLEUM CO., San Rafael has added a new line of Flecto do-it-yourself, paint-on, seamless, waxless, permanent floor covering. The store is now open on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

ANDERSON AND CO. in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, has added to its music business an extensive coverage of instrument instruction as well as sales and rentals.

Teaching staff includes William Bowen and Al Miller on drums; Harry Alto and Walt Ullner on guitar; Gail Cheetham and Barbara Curtis, piano; Tom Burke and Bette Whittom, organ; William Sache and Chet Patnoe — trumpet and trombone; Jacquie Bowers, recorder and oboe.

SAN FRANCISCO CHAPTER of the American Right of Way Association has elected Robert K. McCue of San Rafael and Ted W. Steiger president and vice president respectively.

McCue

Steiger

McCue is supervising right of way agent, appraisals, at the San Francisco office of the state division of highways. He has been with the division since 1950 and transferred from the San Diego office four years ago.

Steiger is vice president in charge of real estate loans at United California Bank's Northern California Headquarters.

FOUR MEMBERS of the San Rafael office of York Securities Corp. will take in the mutual fund convention in Miami next Sunday through Wednesday; Jess France, George Croke, Robert Stribling and Ray Haas.

REDWOOD NATIONAL BANK, San Rafael, will display oil paintings of Opel Teter through Oct. 31. She has participated in shows in Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties and is a member of the Marin Society of Artists and other associations.

The bank is the subject of a feature article, "The Zingy, Iconoclastic Redwood National Bank," published in the October issue of Burroughs Clearing House magazine.

THIRD ANNUAL art festival for Strawberry Town and Country Village will be held Nov. 10, 11 and 12 from 1 to 9 p.m., and is open to all artists (except for commercial or manufactured art). There will be $430 in awards. Entry deadline is Nov. 1 Applications are available at the village office.

Seniors Gain Semifinals As Scholars

Drake High School seniors Jeff Lambert, Lisa Stone, Valerie Van Cleave, and Tod Wiedenmayer have been named semifinalists in the 1967-68 National Merit Scholarship competition.

The students became semifinalists and others were commended as a result of scores they received on examinations administered in February at Drake.

In seeking the National Merit Scholar Awards, they will be judged on the basis of high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship. They also must take a second examination.

Finalists, to be announced in May, will be eligible for four-year awards covering their undergraduate years at the college of their choice. In addition, about 500 one-time National Merit $1,000 scholarships will be awarded for the first time.

The average growing season in Massachusetts is 193 days, from the last spring frost to the first killing frost in autumn.

Stock Market Closes Mixed; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today in active trading.

The market was irregular from the start.

Gains outnumbered losses on the New York Stock Exchange but the averages were down due to weakness in their blue chip components.

Alcoa sank about 1½ on lower earnings. Ford held about unchanged as the strike settlement held in abeyance. General Motors eased.

Occidental Petroleum spurted 4 points or more in further response to its Libyan oil discovery. Allis Chalmers advancd more than 2 in brisk dealings.

Universal American was active and up more than a point while Gulf & Western rose nearly a point following a report of a tentative agreement for merger.

IBM spurted 4 points and Polaroid 1. Schering added 1½.

Losses of a ponit or so were taken by Zenith, Alcoa, International Nickel and American Can.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Youth Should Concentrate On Growth, Not Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 21 and beginning my first year in graduate school. I have life insurance and and a savings account and own 21 Delta Air Lines, 25 Aztec Oil and Gas, 20 Brush Beryllium and 250 Sears, Roebuck. I realize I am too heavily invested in Sears and therefore am considering selling three-fourths of this stock and reinvesting as follows: half in Corn Products, a quarter in G. D. Searle and a quarter in Baxter Laboratories. Is this decision sound? — B.R.

A. You appear to be shrewd and thoughtful, and I commend you for your intelligent planning. Sears, Roebuck is an excellent stock, but your holdings are disproportionate, and I believe you are prudent to consider diversifying them.

My opinion, though, is that at your age and without apparent need for income you should aim for stronger growth than is offered by Corn Products and Searle. Both are high-quality stocks, but in each instance earnings growth has slowed down due to particular conditions affecting each company.

In their place, I would substitute Consolidated Foods and Norwich Pharmacal. Baxter Laboratories is establishing a very strong growth rate, and I would difinitely include it in spite of its present relatively high earnings multiple.

Q. What is the minimum amount of money required to invest in stocks to make a quick profit?—B.C.

A. The minimum to invest, from a practical standpoint, is a few hundred dollars. However, if you want to try for quick profits, you should have enough money so that you can afford to lose a great deal of it, since that is what will probably happen if you invest solely with this objective in mind. I strongly advise you not to regard stocks as a glorified parimutuel. Buy good values and wait patiently for them to develop.

The Congo River is the only major African waterway that twice crosses the equator, says the National Geographic.

Rusk Warns Against Raising Import Walls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned Congress today that raising U.S. import barriers would set off retaliation against American goods by foreign nations.

Foreign countries "would undoubtedly strike back" and the over-all consequences "would be critically detrimental to our basic national interests," Rusk said.

Figuring a mounting array of import curb bills in Congress as affecting $5.7 billion in imports, the secretary of state said "the prospects would be nothing short of appalling" if they became law.

Rusk headed a battery of five Johnson Cabinet members launching a major administration defense before the Senate Finance Committee against the import curb bills.

On hand along with the Cabinet members to present the administration case was William M. Roth, Johnson's top trade negotiator.

Victim's Parents Seeking Damage

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The parents of four Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo football players killed in a plane crash that took the lives of 22 persons in Ohio seven years ago seek recovery of $115,227 in damages from the federal government.

The parents are among 37 plaintiffs who are seeking a total of $1.75 million in damages from the government stemming from the crash. The government has been held liable because federal aviation agency employees permitted the chartered aircraft carrying the football team to depart from Toledo express airport in bad weather.

Merla Zellerbach Granted Divorce

SAN FARNCISCO (UPI) — An interlocutory divorce decree was granted yesterday to Mrs. Merla Zellerbach, 37, T.V. personality and writer, from Stephen Zellerbach, 40, president of the Triple A Leasing Corp.

The couple was married in 1950 and separated Sept. 3, 1965. Mrs. Zellerbach, in her suit, asked custody of their son, Gary, 15, support for him and herself and all community property. She asked the divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

The court approved settlement terms when the divorce suit was filed at the time of the separation, but details were not disclosed.

Mrs. Zellerbach is the daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. Elliott Burstein. She was named Mardi Gras queen here in 1965 and is the author of "Love in a Dark House," a novel.

Marin Tax Bills Mailing Finished

Marin County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez announced today that all tax bills have been mailed out, and any Marin taxpayer who has not yet received a bill should contact the tax collector's office.

Several errors in mailing have already been disclosed, said Fontez.

"Sometimes the stuffing machine stuffs two bills into one envelope," Fontez explained. "A couple of these have been returned to us, but there may be others."

Merla Zellerbach Granted Divorce

SAN FARNCISCO (UPI) — An interlocutory divorce decree was granted yesterday to Mrs. Merla Zellerbach, 37, T.V. personality and writer, from Stephen Zellerbach, 40, president of the Triple A Leasing Corp.

The couple was married in 1950 and separated Sept. 3, 1965. Mrs. Zellerbach, in her suit, asked custody of their son, Gary, 15, support for him and herself and all community property. She asked the divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

The court approved settlement terms when the divorce suit was filed at the time of the separation, but details were not disclosed.

Mrs. Zellerbach is the daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. Elliott Burstein. She was named Mardi Gras queen here in 1965 and is the author of "Love in a Dark House," a novel.

Marin Tax Bills Mailing Finished

Marin County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez announced today that all tax bills have been mailed out, and any Marin taxpayer who has not yet received a bill should contact the tax collector's office.

Several errors in mailing have already been disclosed, said Fontez.

"Sometimes the stuffing machine stuffs two bills into one envelope," Fontez explained. "A couple of these have been returned to us, but there may be others."

Rusk Warns Against Raising Import Walls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned Congress today that raising U.S. import barriers would set off retaliation against American goods by foreign nations.

Foreign countries "would undoubtedly strike back" and the over-all consequences "would be critically detrimental to our basic national interests," Rusk said.

Figuring a mounting array of import curb bills in Congress as affecting $5.7 billion in imports, the secretary of state said "the prospects would be nothing short of appalling" if they became law.

Rusk headed a battery of five Johnson Cabinet members launching a major administration defense before the Senate Finance Committee against the import curb bills.

On hand along with the Cabinet members to present the administration case was William M. Roth, Johnson's top trade negotiator.

Victim's Parents Seeking Damage

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The parents of four Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo football players killed in a plane crash that took the lives of 22 persons in Ohio seven years ago seek recovery of $115,227 in damages from the federal government.

The parents are among 37 plaintiffs who are seeking a total of $1.75 million in damages from the government stemming from the crash. The government has been held liable because federal aviation agency employees permitted the chartered aircraft carrying the football team to depart from Toledo express airport in bad weather.

Board Makes Sure Of West Marin Density

Marin County Supervisors, particularly Ernest N. Kettenhofen, made sure yesterday that a revised interim ordinance for West Marin will specifically provide for an overall average density of 1.15 units per acre instead of the .88 units under the existing interim ordinance.

"I want the county planning commission to be tied in with the 1.15 density and not .88 density," declared Kettenhofen. He noted that the Marin County Planning Commissioners, who met Monday, were still talking in terms of using .88 density as a starting point.

'FORCE THEM'

"The majority of the Board (of Supervisors) has agreed on 1.15 density," Kettenhofen snapped. "The planning commission has not yet acquiesced . . . They haven't done it voluntarily and so I want to force them into acquiescence."

Kettenhofen spoke during a hearing on a new interim ordinance that will apply to the West Marin Master Plan area.

The supervisors finally agreed that the 1.15 density would be specified, that the new ordinance will not be used to "thwart" that intent of the supervisors, and that no "burdensome mechanics" will be imposed to hold up small buildings and land divisions.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney announced he would redraft the interim ordinance along those lines immediately and present them for approval at another hearing set for 4 p.m. next Tuesday, Oct. 24, before the supervisors.

LANDOWNERS' VIEW

Melvin J. Rupp, executive director of the Marin Property Owners Association, suggested several changes in wording, including the deletion of the words "or any anticipated zoning."

Supervisors agreed that "anticipated zoning" is vague and could mean almost anything.

Rupp and several citizens from West Marin also received assurances that single family homes and agricultural structures will continue to be among those that may be approved without a use permit and without too much red tape.

Kettenhofen also wanted to toss out the use permit requirement for developments that meet the 1.15 overall average density.

But other supervisors agreed with Planning Director Paul C. Zucker that the use permit on large subdivisions would serve a useful purpose.

Kettenhofen said he has no objection for design review in subdivisions, provided this is not misused to thwart the 1.15 density.

"I would not have been so adamant had the planning commission agreed on 1.15 density," said Kettenhofen in conclusion. "I don't think the planning commission gave the supervisors a vote of confidence yesterday (Monday)."

Blood Drive Set By Young GOP For GIs In Asia

A drive for blood for U.S. troops wounded in Vietnam is being conducted by the Marin County Young Republicans.

William Henderscheid, county chairman, urged the public to participate in the drive which will continue through Oct. 28.

Donations can be made at the Marin Blood Center, 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, Mondays from noon to 6 p.m., or on Wednesdays and Fridays between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Donations also can be made at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, 270 Masonic Avenue, San Francisco, Mondays through Fridays, 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturdays, 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. or Sunday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

KETTENHOFEN ANGERED BY STORER'S ABSENCE

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen flared in anger yesterday when Chairman Thomas T. Storer slipped out of the supervisors' meeting while general welfare cases were being discussed.

"Almost without exception, Mr. Storer misses these discussions on general relief cases," stormed Kettenhofen. "I ask that these discussions be recorded in the minutes and absenteeism of members be noted!"

Storer said he had stepped out of the supervisors chambers to make some phone calls to his office, just prior to the afternoon recess which followed the welfare discussions.

Deadline Near

Birth Control Plea Voted By Catholic Lay Congress

ROME (AP) — The world Congress of Roman Catholic laymen, after hours of unruly debate, called on Pope Paul today to liberalize their Church's birth control policy and leave Catholic couples to choose the contraceptive methods they prefer.

The laymen pressed the pontiff for a firm new statement on birth control that would leave the choice of methods "to the conscience of parents in conformity with their Christian faith and in consultation with trained medical and scentific advisers."

The Pope has withheld decision on a papal commission's report last year recommending that the Church ease its ban on the use of any birth control method other than abstinence from sexual relations during a woman's fertile cycle. But there have been indications that the Pope would make no change in the policy.

Five hours of noisy exchanges, walkouts and catcalls preceded overwhelming passage by the heads of 103 national laymen's groups of a resolution advocating "responsible parenthood" by all Christians.

The resolution said: "Facing the anguishing problem of demographic expansion, the assembly recalls the need of a clear statement of the teaching authorities of the Church concentrated on the fundamental moral and spiritual values, without proposing, themselves, scientific or technical solutions to achieve responsible parenthood, leaving the choice of the means to the conscience of parents in conformity with their Christian faith and in consultation with trained medical and scientific advisers."

The controversial subject of mixed marriages did not come to a vote as about 20 resolution drafts were left for a final session today of the eight-day congress.

Sewage Finances

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the Bolinas Mesa clubhouse to interview a possible financial consultant for the district's plan to build a $236,000 sewage treatment plant. The meeting is a continuation of last week's.

Strike Reduces Rise In Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income, partly reflecting the pinch of the Ford Motor Co. strike, increased by $2 billion during September, its smallest advance in four months, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

Despite the slowdown, however, income rose to a record annual rate of $633.5 billion, seasonally adjusted.

The September gain was less than half the $4.5 billion increase during August and the $4.4 billion jumps the two previous months.

Check Expected On Car Insurers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charging that the nation's automobile insurance companies "in many respects do a poor job," a House subcommittee staff report calls for a major investigation of the industry.

The report from the staff of the antitrust subcommittee released yesterday recommended that the probe be handled by the Federal Trade Commission, a select congressional committee or a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee.

The insurers seem likely to undergo some sort of governmental checkup. Two Senate committees also have staff studies of automobile insurance in progress and some members of Congress are pressing the new Department of Transportation to undertake an investigation.

JUDGE ASSISTS CUPID —BUT ONLY SO FAR

CHICO (AP) — A judge recessed a hearing for a young man charged with armed robbery, officiated at the man's wedding, then resumed the hearing and ordered him to spend his honeymoon in jail alone.

James Blake Miller, 21, was in court yesterday for a preliminary hearing on charges of robbing a liquor store. Moments later, a girl entered, presented judicial District Court Judge Eldred E. Wolford with a marriage license and asked if he would do the honors.

Wolford ordered a 10-minute recess, joined Miller and Clara Rebecca Brown, 19, in marriage resumed the hearing and ordered the groom back to jail to await further legal proceedings.

Sunken Sub Discovered Off Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A World War II Japanese submarine, believed one of the mother subs that launched an abortive midget submarine raid on Sydney harbor in 1942, has been found by a skin diver at the bottom of Disaster Bay, about 400 miles south of Sydney.

The diver, Jim Lester, said the sub's bow appeared to be blown off and several torpedoes exposed. The 300-foot long vessel bore the name Hitoi, but a government spokesman said: "We do not know if this is the full name of the submarine."

In the midget submarine raid May 31, 1942, one of three 70-foot subs trying to infiltrate Sydney harbor defenses blew itself up after becoming entangled in nets, a second was destroyed by depth charges and a third escaped to sea. It was learned after the war that the midgets were launchd off mother subs 20 miles off Sydney.

Three Scholarships To Be Awarded

Three $250 scholarships will be awarded by the Drake Scholarship Foundation of Sir Francis Drake High School this year, school spokesmen said.

Money for the scholarships comes from funds in memory of Dan Vacha, a student killed in an auto accident three years ago; Mrs. Muriel McCrum, former girls' dean; and Miles McColm, who was a Spanish teacher. The foundation also raises money by sponsoring such activities as a faculty basketball game and a car and boat show and through gifts.

Board Reverses County Planners On Olive Avenue Rezoning Issue

Marin County supervisors reversed the County Planning Commission by split vote yesterday to allow Fernando Clementino to retain his light industrial zoning at 496 Olive Avenue east of Novato.

Lone dissenter was Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who declared: "I don't think industry belongs there." He urged rezoning the industrial area to agricultural to conform with the surrounding area and let Clementino continue his storage area for heavy equipment as a non-conforming use.

The supervisors then went further, approving by 3 to 2 vote Supervisor's Ernest N. Kettenhofen's motion, referring the matter back to the county planners for consideration of a "land sqap" within the four and one-half acre Clementino property.

Kettenhofen favors rezoning the rear hilly portion, now zoned industrial, to agricultural, and the front portion, now zoned agricultural, to industrial. He said this would assure a green belt to the rear and planting along the face of the excavations to the front of the property.

The discussion sparked a brief flareup between Behr and McInnis. McInnis noted that Clementino had been put to considerable expense in engineering and legal fees because of the attempt to rezone his property back to agricultural. The property has been zoned industrial about 20 years ago, and county officials now acknowledge it was a mistake.

The efforts and expense forced on Clementino by the county's "mistake" 20 years ago was taken into consideration in his vote, McInnis commented.

"This point of view is almost incredible," Behr bristled. "Under that theory, any property owner who is able to spend huge sums of money would in effect get special consideration."

"I was not establishing any guideline for Mr.Behr to follow," McInnis shot back. "I was merely saying that I was using this as one factor in arriving at my decision."

Kettenhofen immediately waded in to defend McInnis. "I think Mr. Behr is off base!" Kettenhofen said he sees nothing "incredible" in taking into account inconvenience and expense that are imposed on a citizen through a mistake made by the county 20 years ago.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

REAPPOINTMENT — Reappointed five members of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council for two years. They are George Scott, Florence Scott, Edward Younger Don Stutsman, and Perry Howell.

FAIR/MARIN — Added the Marin Square Dance Association and the Marin Redevelopment Agency to the list of more than 90 charter organizations of FAIR/MARIN, a non-profit corporation which will operate the Civic Center fairgrounds.

SLIDE REPAIR — Awarded a $15,343 contract to Pacific Excavators of Albany for repair of a slide on Goodhill Road above Crown Road in Kentfield. Pacific Excavators submitted the lowest offer of four bidders.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS — Approved a $25,505 outlay to increase county participation in the employees health insurance and group life insurance plans.

Plane Flies 52 Miles High

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — Maj. William J. Knight is qualified for an Air Force astronaut rating today after flying the X-15 rocket plane to an altitude of 277,000 feet, more than 52 miles.

Knight became the seventh X15 pilot to fly higher than 50 miles with his flight yesterday. His top speed was 3,818 miles an hour, well below the 4,534 m.p.h. he flew the X15 Oct. 3 while establishing a record for manned, winged aircraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the flight was without incident. The X15 was launched from its mother plane over Smith Ranch, Nev., and landed here.

$10,000 Fire Damage To Home In Fairhills

A fire last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Gorb, 335 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, awakened the sleeping family and did about $10,000 worth of damage to the two-story dwelling.

The fire started in a chair in which a cigarette had apparently been dropped, Fire Marshal Kenneth Mazza, San Rafael Fire Department said.

Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, the Gorbs' daughter who lives with them, said she awakened about 1:15 a.m. when she heard the crackling of flames.

The fire had apparently been smoldering since the family retired about 11:30 p.m., she said. By the time she awakened, the burning chair had set the living room floor on fire, burning about a four-feet square hole and dropping through to the bottom floor of the house.

San Rafael firemen quickly extinguished flames, but there was extensive smoke and heat damage to the living room, dining room and kitchen.

Firemen also administered oxygen to the family dog, Louie, who had been overcome by smoke, Mrs. Johnson said, adding that she doesn't know if the poodle will recover.

The Gorbs had recently sold the house, and the transaction is in escrow now, Mrs. Johnson said. Gorb is owner of a San Rafael jewelry store.

The family was able to stay in the house last night as the bedrooms were undamaged. Also living there are Mrs. Johnson's two children, Sharon, 8, and Michael, 6, and Mrs. Gorb's mother, Mrs. Etta Navtanovich.

Bus-Locomotive Crash Kills Two

PORT CHICAGO (UPI)—Two persons were killed and three injured late yesterday when a Greyhound bus collided with a Southern Pacific switch engine at a rail crossing here.

Those killed in the crash were Robert W. Curlanis, 46, Stockton, the driver, and Armand Flores, 39, Pittsburg.

The injured were Mrs. Maxine Marquez, 60, Pittsburg, Flores' mother; Beatrice Wooden, 63, Sacramento, and Ora Roper, 20, Vallejo.

The bus was enroute from Stockton to San Francisco. The accident occurred at the crossing on Waterfront Road.

County Club Homeowners Name Purchase Committee

The Marin Country Club Homeowners Association last night voted to form a committee to work with the Men's Golf Association in the purchase of the Marin Country Club, according to James Sullivan, club president.

At its quarterly meeting, the homeowners named Dr. Alvin Haag, chairman; Gordon Walker, Dickson Buxton, Laurence Kett and Dr. Daniel Aughney to the committee, Sullivan said.

The Trousale Corporation, owners of the golf club, had offered the clubhouse and gounds to the Men's Golf Association for $1,675,000, Sullivan said.

The homeowners also received a similar offer this week, so named the committee to work with the Men's Golf Association, he said.

Sullivan reported to the association that petitions had been filed with Marin County Clerk yesterday to provide that the homeowners control future construction and remodeling in Marin Golf and Country Club Estates Units 1 and 2.

Under their deed restrictions, the homeowners can assume architectural control of new construction and remodeling Sullivan said.

Firemen Training

Eight Larkspur firemen plan to join about 50 Marin volunteer and paid firemen at a training conference in fire fighting and rescue in Monterey Friday and Saturday.
